RUSS RESCUE SHIP ADRIFT; CREW QUITS

Refugees Strike After Agreeing to Work Way to S. F. On Army Transport: Craft Later Able to Make Port

U. S. S. Henderson Rushed From Manila to Assist Vessel: Suspected Soviets Are Found Among Passengers

The American army transport Merritt, which left Manila last week with 885 Russian refugees for San Francisco, spent several hours drifting at sea 600 miles off Olongapo, following a strike of her volunteer crew, according to advices received here. Late this afternoon she was able to put into Iba, Zambales, to await the arrival of U. S. S. Henderson, which was rushed to the Merritt's assistance from Manila. The Henderson is carrying thirteen expert stokers and an American engineer, who will enable the transport to complete her trip to San Francisco.

SUSPECTED RED AGENT FOUND AMONG REFUGEES.

Despatches telling of the arrival of the Merritt at Iba stated that a suspected Soviet agent was found among the refugees, in addition to several other Russians were confined in Bilibid prison for mutiny.

The Merritt's passengers, who are seeking asylum and peace in the United States, are the remnants of Admiral Stark's "white fleet," which left Vladivostok last winter with 5000 refugees. They are scheduled to arrive in San Francisco about July 1.

On the ship in addition to the Russian refugees, who are proceeding to the United States in expectation of finding a permanent home, are only a few officers and soldiers, the Russians having been expected to man the ship and do all work in connection with the voyage.

PAID CENT MONTHLY IN ADDITION TO PASSAGE.

The refugees were enjoined in special orders issued by Admiral Stark before leaving that their conduct on the voyage would in a large degree determine their welcome to the United States.

They were to be paid one cent a month for their work in view of the fact that they were having free passage to the United States.

It is believed possible here that the strike may have been confined to the stokers and engine crew. Unaccustomed to terrific heat, the stokers who took the transport Merritt from Manila to Olongapo collapsed en route and a volunteer crew had to be picked up.

SOME AVERSE TO LEAVING TROPICAL PARADISE.

It is considered possible also that some of the passengers may have been seized with pangs of regret at having left the tropical paradise in which they were quartered at Olongapo. Some of the refugees lost heart at the last minute before the transport sailed and elected to remain at Olongapo, where Admiral Stark remained with the "white fleet."

"You should always be thankful to Americans for their kindness to you," said Admiral Stark in bidding his charges farewell. "The only way you can pay them back is by irreproachable conduct and the carrying out of the ship's routine as directed by the authorities. Remember that an offense committed by one of you will be a dark spot on the conduct of the whole group and bring harm to all Russians."

Joseph W. Folk Of Missouri Dies

No Truth Can Hurt Bible: Bryan

Scientists Rapped For Guesses

Unproven Hypothesis Opposed

WASHINGTON, May 28.—(By Associated Press.)—The joint declaration issued here Saturday by forty prominent Americans holding that there is no antagonism between science and relizion, was assailed by William J. Bryan, in a statement published today by the Evening Star. It was given the Star yesterday by Bryan.

W. J. BRYAN.

Those who signed the declaration including Secretaries Hoover and Davis, three bishops and other leaders in the political, religious, business and scientific world were said by Bryan to have "put up a straw man and then assaulted it with big words."

"There is no antagonism between religion and real science," continued Bryan's statement. "Science is classified knowledge, therefore nothing is scientific unless true. No truth can hurt the Bible. No truth can harm Christianity. Our objection is to unsupported guesses put forth by scientists in the name of science. The guess to which we most object is that man is a descendant of the brutes.

"The document published this morning obscures the issue. If the man who wrote the statement had explained that the theology denounced as medieval teaches that the Bible is true, that Christ was born of a virgin, suffered for man's sin and rose from the dead, it is probable that some of the men named would have refused to sign.

"If these men believe that man came up from the animals, why don't they dispense with their long and high sounding words and use every day language? Let them point out the parts of the Bible that they reject, and the public can understand their issue.

"The Presbyterian General Assembly spoke for nine-tenths of the Christians when it reaffirmed the church's belief in the infallibility of the Scriptures, the virgin birth of Christ, the entombment and bodily resurrection of Christ.

"Why substitute an unproven hypothesis for the word of God?"

CHICAGO, May 28.—Several leading Presbyterian pastors here rebelled today against action of the Presbyterian general assembly last week for adopting William J. Bryan's resolution that clergymen sign a pledge of abstinence from liquors.

"I shall refuse to sign such a card," Rev. C. W. Hillset, pastor of the South Chicago Presbyterian church, said. "It is an insult."

MANY FLEE FIRE IN EAST OAKLAND

Six Establishments Damaged by Early Morning Blaze in Garage.

A business block in East Oakland, bordered by East Eleventh and East Twelfth streets and Sixth and Seventh avenues, was gutted and six business establishments were damaged by a fire which broke out early today and for a time threatened to get beyond control of fire fighters and sweep the vicinity. Damage was estimated at $5000.

Scores of lodgers in a nearby rooming house, fearing that the flames would spread to their homes, rushed to the streets clad only in their night clothing. The establishments damaged follow:

A. J. Lewis, wood and coal yard, 619 East Twelfth street.

Adams Roofing Company, 629 East Twelfth street.

S. M. Webb, poolroom and cigar store, 633 East Twelfth street.

W. H. Hayes, barber shop, 635 East Twelfth street.

T. Bolton, garage, 641 East Twelfth street.

The fire started in the garage and swept down the block, burning its way through one building into another. It broke out shortly after midnight and three alarms were turned in to the fire department, bringing every available piece of apparatus from the central and East Oakland districts.

The poolroom and cigar store were totally destroyed.

After fighting the blaze for more than an hour firemen began to get it under control as it reached the wood and coal yard, and before great damage could be done to this establishment the fire was extinguished.

Towns Threatened By Forest Fires

DULUTH, Minn., May 28.—Northeastern Minnesota threatened serious damage today.

The village of Gordon, Wis., thirty-five miles south of Superior, with a population of 500, is threatened by flames, advancing from the south on a wide front. All able-bodied men are out fighting the advancing flames, which have blocked the highways.

A fire near Tower, Minn., in the Iron range, was reported out of control, with a strong south wind blowing. No valuable property is endangered, although the fire is three miles wide.

U.S. IS 'DRIED UP,' DECLARES HAYNES

Liquor Imports Slightly Over One Per Cent of Former Withdrawals.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—How the United States has "dried up" under prohibition, despite rum running and bootlegging, was the subject of a statistical statement today by Federal Prohibition Commissioner Haynes. He announced figures showing that major imports of distilled spirits to the nearby liquor smuggling sources altogether amounted to slightly over 1 per cent of pre-prohibition American liquor withdrawals.

"Allowing none for home use," said Commissioner Haynes, "if the entire amount of exports of distilled spirits from the United Kingdom to the Bahamas, West Indies and Canada in 1922, as indicated by the present rate, be added to the imports of Mexico in 1921 (the latest figures available) and smuggled into the United States, the total would be about 1¼ per cent of the tax-paid liquor withdrawals for consumption for the fiscal year 1913."

Commissioner Haynes' figures showed 1,624,136 gallons of spirits exported from the United Kingdom to Canada in 1913, before prohibition, against 813,165 gallons last year. The Canadian imports so far this year show a reduction of about 50 per cent from the 1913 rate, he added. United Kingdom imports to the West Indies and Bahamas showed an increase from 94,149 gallons in 1913 to 259,211 gallons for the first four months of this year, or at an annual rate of 1,650,933 gallons.

Search Begun For Slayers of Infant

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Search for persons who are believed to have thrown a 3-months-old baby girl from a train near San Carlos was begun today by police officials. The infant, wrapped in a plain piece of white cloth, was found beside the track last Friday by a track-walker. Indications were that it had been thrown from the dark while the train was traveling at high speed, it was announced after an investigation. The child was alive when hurled from the train and was killed by the fall, in the opinion of Deputy Coroner Layng.

Bolshevism Menaces Germany, Says Allen

DUESSELDORF, May 28.—Henry S. Allen, former governor of Kansas, visited the Ruhr yesterday. Discussing the situation, he said: "The French are getting out all the existing coal and coke but the real test will come when the supplies of coal and coke are exhausted and they endeavor to force the Germans to mine coal and produce coke.

"The Germans themselves admit they are helpless and fear a revolt should the French policy bring starvation. Many of the industrial leaders in the Ruhr believe that eventually economic disaster will bring about a reign of bolshevism."

Allen returned to Paris tonight.

WARFARE IN ERIN ENDED BY VALERA

Head of Remaining Irish Rebels Orders His Forces to Cease Fighting: Further Sacrifices Styled Futile

"Laying Aside Your Arms Now Is Act of Patriotism," Declared by Leader: Foes of Free State Will Quit

BY INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE
LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE.

LONDON, May 28.—Eamonn de Valera and the chief of staff of the Republican irregular army issued an order to all irregular forces in Ireland to cease fighting the Free State troops at once, said a despatch from Dublin this afternoon.

An order of the day signed by de Valera and captured by Free State soldiers said:

"Further sacrifices are vain. It is unwise to continue the struggle with arms. Military victories for the moment must rest with those who destroyed the republic. Laying aside of arms is now an act of patriotism."

REPUBLICANS TOLD CEASE FIGHTING.

DUBLIN, May 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—A document addressed by Eamonn de Valera to all ranks in the Republican army, calling for discontinuance of the armed struggle, has been taken by the Free State authorities from a captured Republican leader, it was announced today. Issued under date of May 24, the document reads:

"Leaders of liberty, Legion of the rear guard:

"The republic can no longer be defended successfully by your arms. Further sacrifices on your part would now be in vain, and continuance of the struggle would be unwise in the national interests.

DECLARES SACRIFICES WILL BEAR FRUIT.

"The military victory must be allowed to rest for the moment with those who have destroyed the republic. Do not let sorrow overwhelm you. Your efforts and sacrifices and your dead comrades in this forlorn hope will surely bear fruit. You have saved the national honor and kept open the road to independence.

"Laying aside your arms now is an act of patriotism as exalted and pure as your valor in taking them up."

The Free State government also gave out a document of similar purpose definitely calling off all armed revolt signed by Frank Aiken, chief of staff. The latter document says: "The arms with which we have fought the enemies of our country are to be dumped. The foreign and domestic enemies of the republic have for the moment prevailed."

DUBLIN, May 28.—Eamonn de Valera, leader of the Irish republicans, proclaimed today in a letter to the republican irregular commandant of the Dublin area that "it is no longer possible to defend the Irish republic by fighting."

This was de Valera's first formal admission of defeat. His discouragement was shown some weeks ago when he issued an order to the irregulars to cease firing and make a peace offer to the Free State government.

REBEL ARMY DWINDLES TO MERE HANDFUL.

De Valera is the last of the prominent republican leaders at large. The others have either been killed or imprisoned. De Valera is still in hiding, but it is understood that the Free State could the past few months.

The republican irregular army has dwindled to a mere handful and most of the country is tranquil.

It was reported here that the Free State government will launch a 25,000,000 pound loan ($121,500,000) next month. The bonds will be in denominations of from $5 to $500 and will pay 4 per cent. It is expected all the issue will be quickly subscribed in Ireland.

BLOOD-RITE SUSPECT IS FOUND HERE

Dishwasher in Oakland Cafe Believed to Be Ex-Rabbi, Judah Elfenbein, Whose Unfrocking Startled Jews

Rabbi Coffee Firm in Belief That Laborer Is Former Eastern Churchman: Man Now Under Surveillance

Former Rabbi Judah Elfenbein, alias Judah Tillinger, the "blood rite" rabbi, whose unfrocking in New York a short time ago aroused more attention among followers of their Jewish faith throughout the world than any other single happening of the past four centuries, is believed to be earning a bare living as a dishwasher in Oakland. Rabbi Rudolph Coffee and other prominent rabbis of the bay district have expressed their positive conviction that a man who was discovered today and whose name is withheld is the one whose exposure and trial recently occurred in the East. [illegible] under surveillance.

Reduced from a position of high importance and responsibility to one of penury and disgrace, the man believed to be Rabbi Elfenbein has just been found working in a local restaurant.

STARTLING LIKENESS TO EX-RABBI'S PHOTOGRAPH.

His startling likeness to a photograph of Elfenbein, which appeared in an Eastern Jewish newspaper, aroused the suspicions of the restaurant proprietor, who reported the matter to Rabbi Coffee.

"After a careful investigation," Rabbi Coffee declared today, "I am convinced that the man in question is former Rabbi Judah Elfenbein, alias Judah Tillinger, whom I consider the most outrageous apostate of modern times."

The case dates back 24 years to the murder of a young girl in Polnia, Bohemia. Leopold Hilsner, a Jew, was arrested and was charged with using the child's blood in a religious observance.

LIE DECLARED CAUSE OF JEWISH MASSACRES.

At Hilsner's trial Rabbi Elfenbein is said to have testified that Christian blood was used by the Jews in the observance of certain religious rites.

"It is this lie against the Jewish religion, fostered through centuries of persecution that has been the cause of any of the pogroms and massacres from which the Jews have suffered," Rabbi Coffee said today. "There have been cases where the bodies of murdered children have been hidden in the homes of Jewish leaders, in order that the Jews might be accused of this crime."

Hilsner was sentenced to life imprisonment and the rabbi who gave the alleged testimony against the Jewish religion was next heard of in New York. This was some five months ago, when he was tried by the Union of Orthodox Rabbis.

TILLINGER ARRIVED IN U. S. IN 1920.

Among the [illegible] of this curious case is the story of how Judah Tillinger was converted to Christianity, how he is alleged to have tried, by a perversion of the teachings of the Talmud, to prove, in the Hilsner trial, that the Jews used the blood of Christians in their Passover, and how he came to America and was later exposed to the world.

Tillinger came to this country in 1920. After allowing his whiskers to grow, going into the expression then about 50 years of age, procured a position as a teacher in a Hebrew School at Easton, Pennsylvania.

Finally he had an opportunity to secure a rabbi's position at a large salary in an important synagogue in Youngstown, Ohio. Requiring "smikah" ordination to qualify for this position, he went to New York and revealed his identity to an old friend. He begged for forgiveness and asked his friend to aid him in securing the necessary ordination. But his friend, though profoundly moved by his story, refused to aid him in his scheme.

DISCOVERED IN SECRET TOUCH WITH CHRISTIANS.

He succeeded in procuring the necessary document through other channels and went to Youngstown as a rabbi. He is said to have been discovered in secret communication with Christian missionaries. Charges were preferred against him, but he disappeared before the date set for his hearing.

He went to New York under the name of Elfenbein. Some time after his arrival in New York, his exposure took place in a well known East Side cafe where Yid- [illegible] to congregate. His exposure was brought about through rumors which reached the ears of Choneh, a famous East Side character.

Tillinger's trial followed. In a signed statement he declared that he was unworthy to be a rabbi or

INDEMNITY BILL PERILS BALDWIN

By DAVID M. CHURCH.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

LONDON, May 28. — A grave constitutional crisis faced the new Tory government of Premier Stanley Baldwin when the House of Commons convened today. It was out of the bill of indemnity introduced in Parliament to relieve Home Secretary William Clive Bridgeman and his associates from damage penalties incurred through the illegal deportation to Ireland of Irish republican sympathizers.

Premier Baldwin's position was made more difficult through the publication of an open letter from Austen Chamberlain, one of the main leaders of the moderate faction of the Tory party, claiming he was not consulted when the new government was formed. This action indicated that the Tory moderates will join with the liberals and the Laborites in opposing the government's measure.

RESTORES POWERS THAT CHARLES EXECUTED FOR.

The indemnity bill goes further than indemnification of the home secretary and attorney general. It proposes to invest future home secretaries with powers of war-time scope-authority to cause arrest and imprisonment without trial.

It was the attempted use of such power that brought about civil war in England and the eventual execution of King Charles I.

Ramsay MacDonald, Laborite and official leader of the opposition in Commons, said every known means of Parliamentary obstruction would be used "to fight the measure to its death."

CHAMBERLAIN REFUSES TO ATTEND MEETING.

Austen Chamberlain and Lord Birkenhead, leaders of the "moderate" faction and members of the former coalition government of David Lloyd George, refused to attend the party meeting.

Sir Laming Worthington-Evans, secretary of war in the Lloyd George cabinet; Sir Robert Horne and Sir Ernest Pollock were among those present.

Mexican Rail Workers Stampede When Rich Quartz Is Uncovered.

International News Service Staff Correspondent.

REDDING, May 28 (International News Service).—A stampede of Mexican laborers, engaged in building a temporary track around a burning tunnel on the Shasta Route from California to Oregon, was caused today when a big blast revealed quartz carrying good values of gold. After they had filled their pockets with specimens, the laborers were persuaded to return to work.

It was in a railroad cut a mile further north, known as Red Cut, that two Kennet miners a few years ago cleaned up $2700 in placer gold in two weeks.

It was learned today that one of the automobile trucks transferring express from Pollock to Redding on account of a tunnel fire at Coram, conveyed $5,000,000 in gold recently—a shipment to the United States mint at San Francisco. Eight armed guards rode on the truck. The transfer was made without incident.

ESSEN, May 28.—Disorders in the Ruhr because of the strikes and communist activities appear to be centered in Dortmund, where the inhabitants passed a night of terror and the communistic elements today were still striving for the upper hand.

Workers' guards there took up positions in the streets and searched all passersby, ostensibly for fire-arms, but many complained that their money and valuables had been taken. Numerous fights grew out of the searching and a large number of persons were hurt.

BITTER BATTLE IN DORTMUND.

The terroristic methods at Dortmund were preceded by bitter fighting between the communists and blue police at a nearby mine, where communist emissaries tried to induce the pumpmen to leave, so that the mine would be flooded. Police attacked the communist forces and drove them away, after two of the police were killed and eleven wounded, one fatally. Communists left two dead on the field and carried many wounded away with them. They were armed with hand grenades, which they used effectively, the police reported. The strike is spreading into the Rhineland. At Duisesberg the metal workers went out today.

The situation at Hamborn is so serious that the authorities have prohibited the sale of alcoholic drinks. Other industrial centers are considering similar action.

At Duesseldorf the security police had a clash today with striking street car and gas work employees, in which one workman was killed and several were wounded.

All Germany Will Be Mortgaged

Basis Outlined For New Russian Epoch

MOSCOW, May 28.—(By International News Service). — To create a new epoch in Russia we must achieve two aims:

"Readjustment of the government machinery and creation of culture among the peasantry," said an article in the official newspaper Pravda today signed by Lenine. It was written January 6, the paper stated.

MORTGAGE PLAN ON REPARATIONS NEAR COMPLETION

encompass every square inch of German soil, which will be made to pay tribute to Germany's former foes for thirty years.

The assessment will be on a basis of 50 per cent of the present gold values. Five hundred million gold marks annually will flow into the Reich's reparations melting pot from this source during the first few years. The ultimate yearly total will approximate one billion gold marks, the increase depending upon the promptness with which metropolitan real estate can be subjected to the mortgaging process.

A beginning will be made with the agricultural lands and the physical properties of the industrialists.

INDUSTRIALISTS WILL ASSUME BURDEN.

The plan for the great mortgage is the most important point in the program of the German League of Industrialists as submitted to Chancellor Cuno for the perusal of the government. This organization indicates its readiness to assume payment of 40 per cent of the hypothecal sum of 500,000,000 gold marks which it believes the government can raise by assessment on the industrialists' properties. The remaining 60 per cent would be guaranteed by the banking, commercial, shipping and agrarian interests.

The government has been advised that a group of half a dozen leading industrialists is prepared to guarantee to the federal government 600,000,000 gold marks annually for the operating privilege of the federal railways, waterways, posts and telegraphs.

In the memorandum handed to Herr Cuno, the industrialists estimate that 1,100,000,000 gold marks annually for the next few years could be derived from the initial mortgage on the land and from the administration of utilities by the business interests.

2,000,000 MINERS ARE ON STRIKE.

BERLIN, May 28 (By the Associated Press).—Two million miners and tens of thousands of metal workers are on strike in the Ruhr, according to a special despatch to the Vossische Zeitung. Although these figures are probably grossly overestimated, it is believed that undoubtedly every mine center in the Ruhr is idle as a result of the tactics of the Communists who are visiting the pits and forcibly ejecting the workers.

A vote taken in the Bochum district showed that a majority of the miners favored resumption of work, but Communist pickets are stationed at some of the pits with fixed bayonets to prevent the miners from descending.

No further disorders since yesterday are reported and the casualties for the week-end stand at 7 persons killed and 93 wounded. The food shortage is beginning to be felt in the disturbed area, especially at Gelsenkirchen.

French Aviatrix Breaks Women's Altitude Mark

LOS ANGELES, May 28. — A height of 15,000 feet—a new world's altitude record for women—was reached here yesterday by Mlle. Andree Peyre, French aviatrix.

The Aero club of Southern California, through its observer, Ivar L. Shogren, was prepared, according to officials, to certify Mlle. Peyre's record as official.

The aviatrix, who is 23 years old, has been flying only about two years and a half, mostly in the United States. She recently announced her engagement to marry Captain Cyril Turner, formerly of the British Flying Corps, now here.

In yesterday's flight, Mlle. Peyre was in the air an hour and ten minutes. The recording thermometer she carried with her showed a temperature of 38 degrees at 15,000 feet.

SALE OF TUBE BONDS ORDERED BY SUPERVISORS

Marks First Active Step for Construction; School District Issue.

The sale of $50,000 in tube bonds and of a total of $260,000 in school district bonds was ordered today by the Board of Supervisors. The sale of a tube bond marks the first actual step toward construction of a tube under the estuary at Harrison street. The bonds will mature in one year and draw five per cent interest. According to the terms of the bond issue there remains $175,000 in bonds to be sold for maturity within a year.

The tube bonds offered for sale will cover the cost of bringing condemnation suit to acquire property on both sides of Harrison street from Sixth to Second street, the alignment of the Oakland approach. Other preliminary tasks in the drawing of plans and specification also require an immediate outlay of money.

A letter from Captain Harley Latson of the United States Engineer's office in San Francisco stated that the board's letter requesting an extension of time for removal of the Webster street bridge had been held up by him. Captain Latson said that in the absence of his chief, Colonel Herbert Deakyne, he has withheld sending the letter to the War Department due to communications received from the War Department by the Railroad Commission and the mayor of Alameda. These communications pointed out that no extension of time would be granted until the county was legally permitted the construction of the tube.

TUBE LEGALLY PERMITTED.

It was the view of the board that the county is now legally permitted the construction of the tube, and a communication will be sent to Captain Latson, asking him to forward to Washington the original request.

Bids were received on the $110,000 bond issue for the Amador Valley joint high school district. The bonds mature in forty years, and draw 5 per cent. The bids were William Cavalier Company and the American bank, jointly, a premium of $2210; Bank of Italy, premium $618.40; R. H. Moulton & Co., premium $368.60. Bids were ordered advertised for the Washington township high school district bonds. This issue will be for $150,000 to mature in forty years and drawing 5 per cent.

FOR CONCRETE ANNEX.

The board ordered the advertising of bids for the construction of a two-story concrete annex to the Alameda County Detention Home, as per specifications drawn by Henry H. Myers, county architect, and approved by the Alameda county probation committee. The plan for this building includes the construction of cells to be used for the imprisonment of offenders of the law who are under age. It is a plan to segregate youthful offenders in this building instead of having them with hardened criminals in the county jail.

Bids on the furnishing of supplies and general furnishings for the new dormitory building and isolation hospital at the county infirmary were opened by the board. These bids were so involved that they require extended perusal before the lowest bidders can be determined. The new dormitory building for incurables will accommodate 104 inmates and cost $75,000. The isolation hospital costs $50,000 and will accommodate 53 patients.

It was announced that the auction of the old men's building at the county infirmary would be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock with Supervisor John F. Mullins acting as auctioneer. This building is an old landmark, and a provision of the sale will be that the structure is torn down and the material removed.

Conference Is Held Concerning Tube

The first preliminary conference of the city council and the board of supervisors concerning the estuary tube was held today on Harrison street between First and Sixth streets, where the official organizations, with their engineers, viewed the sections of street where the approaches to the tube must come.

It is agreed that Harrison street will be the entrance to the tube on the Oakland side, but it is not decided just where the entrance will start downward, although the county engineer has definite plans. Another question discussed was the widening of Harrison to make way for the tube as well as the street. Property on both sides of the street was examined.

Today's conference was unofficial and consisted mainly of a trip [illegible] Those participating in the tour included Mayor Davie, Commissioners Colburn, Carter and Lacoss, City Engineer W. W. Harmon, Harbor Engineer Ralph Peebe, Landscape Architect Howard Gilkey, County Engineer George Posey, Chairman W. J. Hamilton of the board of supervisors and Supervisors Mullins, Knox and Shorts.

MAID SOUGHT IN JEWEL ROBBERY

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Local police are today looking for a maid formerly employed in the home of J. A. Zellerbach, millionaire paper manufacturer of [illegible] Clay street, following the theft of more than $17,000 worth of jewels from the Zellerbach home yesterday. Mrs. Zellerbach reported to the police that the maid in question had been in her service a month and had left her employ about a month ago.

While this maid was working in the Zellerbach home, according to Mrs. Zellerbach, she made [illegible] of the other maids as to how many jewels Mrs. Zellerbach owned and where they [illegible] the former maid may have been sent into the Zellerbach home by a gang of jewel thieves to gain information for them.

The missing jewelry, as reported to the police, includes a diamond necklace valued at $10,000; diamond bracelet, $1500; emerald and diamond ring, $1500; solitaire diamond, $1000; platinum watch set with diamonds, $500; black enamum pearl watch chain, $100; diamond pin, $500, and other small pieces of jewelry valued at $500.

The robbery was discovered by Mrs. Zellerbach after her return from an auto trip last evening, when she found that the jewelry was missing from her apartment. Her husband investigated and found that other gems had been stolen from his room.

Miss Josephine Finte, employed at the present time as a maid in the Zellerbach household, left the house while the family went to San Mateo to visit friends. She did not return until 7:30 o'clock last evening after Zellerbach and his family had returned from their trip down the peninsula. No one connected with the Zellerbach household was in the house between 2:30 and 7:30 p. m. yesterday, Zellerbach told the police.

Chamberlain Note Widens Tory Split

LONDON, May 28. — Austen Chamberlain's letter to his constituents in which he says that Premier Baldwin did not ask his help in forming the ministry has caused a sensation. It is generally believed that the letter has deepened the cleavage within the Conservative party, which it was hoped the change of premiership would remove.

GLACIAL PERIOD CAN'T BE AVERTED SAYS PROFESSOR

U. S. Grant of Northwestern University Declares Peril Still Far Off.

By JACK CEINAR.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

CHICAGO, May 28.—Another glacial period is not coming, at least not just yet, but if it ever comes, mankind is helpless to avert it, Prof. U. S. Grant, head of the geology department, Northwestern university, declared today when informed by International News Service that Captain Donald MacMillan, Arctic explorer, was leaving for the North Pole June 16 to discover whether or not another glacial period was on the way.

"It has been suggested that we might possibly be in an interglacial period," Professor Grant said, "but no one is bold enough to predict that another glacial period is coming.

"It is a known fact," Professor Grant said, "that there were ages during the glacial periods, perhaps lasting thousands of years, when ice fields retreated to the north and warmer climates reigned. This has been proven by finding evidences of plant and animal life similar to that of today near Toronto, alongside of evidences of glacial ages."

SCIENCE CAN'T PREVENT IT.

"Science could foretell the approach of the glacial period if it were due," Professor Grant declared, "but all the science in the world could not prevent it."

Construction of a gigantic wall on the Grand Banks of Labrador, if it were humanly possible to deflect the cold Arctic current and enable the warm gulf stream to approach the east Atlantic coast, might, in the opinion of Professor Grant, mitigate the rigors of a returning glacial period.

Professor Grant scoffed at the idea that the present cool spring could have any connection with a returning glacial period.

RADIO FOR NORTH POLE.

WISCASSET, Maine, May 28.—(By International News Service.)—Radio fans throughout the world will have a new target to shoot at—the North Pole, no less. Captain Donald B. MacMillan, who plans to leave here June 16 for the pole, has fitted up his sturdy little schooner Bowdoin with high powered wireless equipment and he plans to keep the world informed of his progress into the Arctic. There is a possibility, experts contend that the Aurora Borealis will cause a serious interference to wireless operation. One of the purposes of MacMillan's trip is to discover whether or not another glacial period is approaching.

Will Ascertain If Ice Age Is Coming Back

WISCASSET, Maine, May 28.—Captain Donald B. MacMillan, who will sail from here June 16 on the schooner Bowdoin to resume his Arctic explorations, announced yesterday that one purpose of the expedition is to determine whether another ice age is beginning as the advance of glaciers in the last seventy years would indicate.

Long copper strips are being attached to the hull of the vessel to be used for a ground connection for the radio receiving and transmitting station which is being installed.

Whether communication by the northern lights will be possible will be determined, as the MacMillan party is going far beyond the lights to winter either at Cape Sabine, if ice conditions permit, or at Jones' Sound.

The tablet which the National Geographical Society trustees have authorized Captain MacMillan to erect in memory of the Greeley expedition of 1884 will be placed on the rock cliff facing Camp Clay, Cape Sabine, where eighteen men of the expedition died of starvation and exposure.

POLISH PREMIER QUITS HIS POST

WARSAW, May 28 (By the Associated Press).—President Wojciechowski yesterday accepted the [illegible] of Premier Sikorski, who received a vote of lack of confidence in the diet when the members refused to approve the secret service funds proposed in the government's provisional budget. The president has requested General Sikorski and his ministers to continue in office until the cabinet which he has requested M. Witos to form is ready to assume office.

NEW YORK, May 28 — Prime Minister Sikorski of Poland and his cabinet resigned Saturday night after an adverse vote in the diet on the premier's move for a vote of confidence, according to a Jewish telegraph agency report to the Polish bureau of information.

The Christian socialists, peasant party members and representatives of all the minority nations joined in the vote against the government, the report said, adding that Deputy Reich, on behalf of the Jewish members, declared the premier's defeat was due to his treatment of the homeless refugees of the Ukraine, whose expulsion from Poland he directed in an order issued [illegible]

Inventor and Friend Fight; Former Shot

LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

CHICAGO, May 28.—Emerson Dunlap, said to be the inventor of an electrically operated railroad switching device, was shot and probably fatally wounded early today by George Fisher, his financial supporter and partner in the invention. Fisher said Dunlap attacked him with a knife when he refused to advance further funds and that he shot in self-defense.

BOYS CONFESS MURDER NOTE PENNED AS HOAX

Examination by police detectives today of three University of California students, who admitted their part in the affair, proved the finding of a note regarding the "murder of a woman" near the F. M. Smith reservoir in the hills, near the Boy Scout camp, was a hoax.

The three boys, Charles Kloss, son of Rev. C. L. Kloss, former pastor of the Plymouth Congregational Church; L. R. Keeler, son of Charles Keeler, Berkeley poet and secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of that city, and A. U. Brandt, admitted, the police say, that they had printed the note, after they had driven away from the grounds in their automobile and heard a shot fired.

The shot was fired by the ...ter-in-law of John Leveria, ...watchman for the property, who last Sunday thought she heard a woman scream in the woods. A search was made and nothing was found, and the shot was ...red as a signal. The boys, who heard the shot, returned several days later and left the note pinned to the tree. The note stated that the body of a woman, the victim of the shot, would be found nearby.

U. C. Theater Site Involved By Suit

A suit involving the site of the U. C. theater on University avenue, Berkeley, was heard today by Superior Judge T. W. Harris, in which John M. Doyle claims that R. H. Bradshaw and L. M. Williamson, owners of the theater, have trespassed on his property.

The complaint recites that the defendants tore down a fence 152 feet long on the Doyle property and erected a concrete wall which projects thirteen inches over on the Doyle property. Damages of $6075 are asked for the alleged trespass.

Plans for the affair are being arranged by a committee composed of Misses Mary Grogan, Violet McMahon, Bernice and Catherine Corrigan, Florence Matthews, Norma and Myrtle Thomann and Frank McPartland, James Lynn, Clarence Bochmer, Elridge McCarthy, Frank Connelly and Frank McCarthy.

$10,553 DAMAGES ASKED FOR BOY'S CRUSHED FOOT

The city of Piedmont, E. E. Prather, city engineer and superintendent of streets, and Antoney Gessher, operator of a steam roller which is alleged to have crushed the left foot of James Davis, aged 11, on January 19, 1923, are sued for $10,553.50 damages in a complaint filed in the superior court today by Mrs. Margaret Davis, the child's mother.

Negligence is charged because the city failed to close the street while the steam roller was in operation and because no warning signs were posted. The child's foot was crushed by a rear wheel on the roller and amputation was necessary, it is stated.

Alameda Wins in Shakespeare Test

ALAMEDA, May 28.—Miss Barbara Eubanks, a senior in the Alameda high school, who represented the local institution in the state school Shakespearean contest held at the University of California last Saturday afternoon, was given honorable mention in the final contest as announced by Arthur Agard, head of the English department in the Alameda school.

In five state Shakespearean contests, pupils from the Alameda high school have been awarded one state gold medal, one silver and three honorable mentions.

BATTLESHIPS ON WAY TO NEW BASE IN S. F. BAY

U. S. S. California Leads the Number of Warships From San Pedro North.

Headed by the U. S. S. California, flagship of the Pacific fleet, a number of battleships are on their way north today from San Pedro to the new home base of the fleet in San Francisco bay.

In accordance with Navy Department orders the battleship fleet hereafter will make its base here, proceeding to Puget Sound at intervals.

The New Mexico, Idaho and Tennessee will pass Memorial Day at Santa Barbara; the Pennsylvania at Monterey, the Mississippi at Santa Cruz, the Nevada at Venice and the Texas at Santa Monica.

The New York will be the only unit of the battleship forces in San Pedro on May 30.

With the exception of the New York and the Nevada the dreadnaughts will proceed June 1 to join the California here.

The Arizona sailed Saturday for its annual overhauling at the Bremerton, Wash., navy yards.

The Oklahoma, having just completed overhauling there, will remain on the sound over Memorial Day and then will sail for San Francisco bay to join the flagship.

The New York and the Nevada, behind in gunnery exercises, will complete them before joining the California.

TONG VICTIM BURIED AFTER CASH IS PAID

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—The body of Jung Duc Ching former president of the Suey Sing tong, killed on June 30 last year, which had been embalmed and kept in a vault until settlement was made by the Chew Yee society, said to have been responsible for his death, was buried with fitting honors yesterday.

The funeral ceremonies were attended by 500 persons and there were three bands in the procession. The remains will be shipped to China.

Jung went to the Shrimp camp at Hunter's Point last June to collect tolls for fishing in the bay from the Chew Yee society, which maintained the camp. He was murdered and Jue Chee, who accompanied him, was severely injured. Five Chinese were tried for the crime and acquitted.

The Suey Sing tong held the Chew Yees responsible for the death. At that time they paid the widow $6500, but rejected a demand for $24,000. Negotiations have been going on ever since, and two weeks ago the Suey Sings accepted $4000 in addition to the $6500 as full settlement.

SPEED PRACTICE AT INDIANAPOLIS HALTED BY RAIN

Deusenbergs Completed, Get First Tryout Today; Bugatti Pilots Warm Up.

By Al. C. Waddell.

INDIANAPOLIS SPEEDWAY, May 27—Rain ruled the speed kings off the course today Between showers the Bugatti pilots warmed up for a few laps and Ralph DePalma turned off some fast miles early in the day, but that was all

Cliff Durant and Walter M Brown of Los Angeles ran around the track, making the two and one-half miles in something like half an hour. Benny Hill rode Durant's bicycle around the course in the rain and Harry Hartz made a lap in a Ford coupe

The big surprise of the d was the appearance of one of the new Deusenbergs at the track The car was ready to run, but after it arrived the rain continued until it was too late to try it out This car is to be driven by Wade Morton

The second Deusenberg, the car to be driven by Jerry Wonderlich, is being assembled tonight and will be on the track tomorrow according to Eddie Cleveland of Los Angeles, who has been assisting in the completion of the three racers at the Duesenberg plant Cleveland also announced that Red Shafer is to drive the third Deusenberg, replacing "Howdy" Wilcox, who is now with the H C S squad

"DEUSIES" ARE READY.

The completion of the third Deusenberg is scheduled for Monday night at midnight and the three cars are the miracle of the racing sport, as three days ago it was given up as a hopeless task to get the new jobs out in time for the race

It was reported tonight that John Reiger, Mercedes mechanic, who was injured in the wreck of Max Sailers' car yesterday, is in a critical condition A broken collar bone and two shattered ribs are certain and two physicians are of the opinion that the German has a broken back

The wreck of one of the German cars will not in any way mar the race, as the Prussian speed team brought over four cars to be prepared against just such an accident The fourth Mercedes was held in reserve behind the doors of a local garage but tomorrow it is to be out for the qualification trials with Sailer at the wheel.

MILTON LOWERS RECORD.

INDIANAPOLIS SPEEDWAY, May 27 — (Exclusive TRIBUNE Dispatch.)—Tommy Milton has accomplished the impossible, the former champion has just lowered the Indianapolis track record to 1 minute 23 4-5 seconds The famous speed king promises to wheel his Miller motored H C S special around the course in less than 1 minute 23 seconds flat in elimination trials The remarkable time made by Milton with his tiny 122-inch racer is just 3 miles per hour faster than any previous track record.

Near East Relief Clothes Drive Is On

BERKELEY, May 28—A clothes drive, collecting bundles of wearing apparel and shoes for distribution in the Near East was launched today The campaign will be carried on throughout the week under the direction of P Lawler Smith The Alameda County Draymens association is co operating in the relief movement. Cities throughout the Pacific Coast have been assisting in the collecting of garments Seattle has recently gathered 80 tons in addition to 20 tons sent over this spring and promises an additional 30 tons

Dr Guy Talbot, P Lawler Smith and Frank Buckley active workers in the Near East Relief met with the local committee at luncheon last week Charles Keeler presided

Interest in Near East Relief was quickened during the Merchants' fair in Berkeley at a booth conducted by Mrs C W. Whitney Handicraft of Armenian orphans was offered for sale

Approximately $3000 was subscribed by members of the First Congregational church this month to the Near East fund.

Lesson No. 11

Packing the Picnic Hamper

TO most families this is the season of picnics, lunches eaten out in the open under the trees, along some running stream or by the shore of some lake or bay.

Mother or the girls usually have the task of packing the picnic hamper, and it is sometimes perplexing to know just what to put in to satisfy the hearty appetites that a days outing always insures.

Here are a few suggestions that others have found helpful and which may assist you to achieve variety in your picnic lunches

Sandwich Filling

1 cream cheese (4 ounces), 2 tablespoons Carnation Milk, 3 tablespoons chopped nuts, 1 tablespoon chopped pickle, ⅛ teaspoon salt.

Soften the cheese with the Carnation Milk; add the chopped pickle, nuts and salt. Spread between thin slices of Carnation Bread, given in Lesson 2 Lettuce leaves can be used in these sandwiches or they can be made without them.

A dainty and popular item for the picnic feast will be eggs prepared in the following manner:

Stuffed Eggs

4 eggs, 3 tablespoons No egg Mayonnaise dressing (Lesson Number 5), ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon finely chopped parsley.

Cook the eggs until hard. Cut lengthwise; remove yolks and mix thoroughly with the mayonnaise, parsley and salt. Refill the whites and fasten with a toothpick. This recipe serves four people.

One friend of mine has found that substantial dishes are also appreciated at picnic dinners and frequently prepares a large pan of macaroni and cheese. This can be wrapped to keep warm or can be quickly heated over a fire.

Macaroni and Cheese

¾ cup maccaroni, 1¼ quarts boiling water, 1½ cup grated cheese, 1½ cups thin white sauce, 1 tablespoon salt.

Break the macaroni in one inch pieces, cook in boiling salted water twenty minutes or until soft. Drain, pour over it cold water to prevent pieces sticking together. Put layer in buttered baking dish, sprinkle with grated cheese; repeat, pour thin white sauce (Lesson Number 4) cover with buttered bread crumbs, and bake until crumbs are brown. This recipe serves six people.

Of course cake is almost a necessity at any well regulated picnic. There is probably none that is more popular than

Devil's Food Cake

4 egg yolks, 2 cupfuls sugar, ½ cupful water, ½ cupful Carnation Milk, ½ cupful butter or substitute, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 egg whites, 2¼ cupfuls flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder, 4 squares unsweetened chocolate, ½ teaspoon vanilla.

Cream the butter or substitute, add the sugar gradually, then the well beaten egg yolks. Add alternately the milk, diluted with water and flour mixed and sifted with baking powder and [illegible] chocolate and vanilla, then the stiffly beaten whites of eggs. Bake in a loaf from 45 to 50 minutes. This recipe serves from twelve to fifteen people.

Of course you will want coffee for your picnic. Use enough for each making in a clean cheese cloth and put it right into the pot or kettle. Be sure and have plenty of Carnation Milk for creaming the coffee.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

How can I keep the crust of my custard pie from being soggy?—Mrs. L. E. N.

The oven should be quite hot when the pie is put in—so that the crust crisps before the liquid has a chance to soak into it. Brushing the top crust of fruit or mince pies with Carnation Milk will make them brown smoothly.

Does the quality of Carnation Milk vary at different seasons?—Mrs. R. B. M.

No; because Carnation Milk is only cow's milk carefully rested—always clean, sweet, pure and handled in such a way that its quality always measures up to a definite standard. Its unvarying quality makes it dependable for any recipe—it is always just the same.

HAMMER SLAYER NEARS U. S. PORT CLOSELY GUARDED

Message Received From Clara Phillips, Convicted of Murder, Denies Guilt.

NEW ORLEANS, May 28—Clara Phillips, California hammer murderess, is understood to be aboard the Copan, Cuyamel Fruit Company boat, expected to arrive in New Orleans at 11 a m Tuesday

Government quarantine station at the mouth of the river reported at 7 a. m that the Copan had not yet passed that point

Officials of the Cuyamel company said the Copan did not clear from Puerto Cortez until 11 o'clock Saturday morning She is racing homeward to make the quarantine station before midnight todinght, so that she can come up the river and dock Tuesday morning If the Copan does not pass quarantine before midnight she will be held there until Tuesday morning, and will not reach her dock until late Tuesday afternoon.

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras, May 28 (By the Associated Press)—A message declaring her innocence has been received by the Associated Press correspondent here from Clara Phlips, now on her way back to the United States in charge of American officers.

The message sent from Puerto Cortez just before the steamer Copan sailed for New Orleans, said.

"Please say I intend to give the world the truth about the Alberta Meadows case—that I am innocent of that awful crime of which I was unjustly convicted and that the opportunity will soon come for me to prove it.

(Signed): "CLARA PHILLIPS."

Woman Hurt in Scuffle, Not Duel

ROCHESTER, N. Y., May 28.—(By Associated Press.)—Mrs. Ruth Wheeler, wife of a physician at Industry, near here, appeared at a Rochester hospital suffering sword cuts said to have been received in a scuffle with Miss Mabel L. Grant, who lives at her home. Mrs. Wheeler denied there had been a duel, as reported. She said the wounds were sustained during a struggle for an old army sword in the Wheeler home.

Body of Drowned Trout Fisher Found

STOCKTON, May 28—The body of Herbert Beckley, who was drowned May 12 in Read creek above Tuolumne, has been recovered and taken to Sonora for burial The body was found a hundred yards below the point where Beckley was last seen Beckley lost his life while fishing Evidently he fell from a cliff, as his hat and broken trout rod were found on the bank of the creek A widow and two children live at Lodi.

STRONG MAN DIVORCED.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—(By the United Press).- Leroy A. Aman, who is a professional strong man of vaudeville, says that his wife nagged him so much he lost all his strength. The divorce was granted.

Luncheon Given By Mothers at School

SAN LEANDRO, MHay 28.—Women of the Mothers' Club of the McKinley school held their first annual luncheon this noon at the school house. The following officers recently elected were in charge of the meteing; Mrs. C. F. McViker, president, Mrs. W. M. Carman, vice-president; Mrs. George Helms, secretary; Mrs H. Nold, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. J. Clark, treasurer.

Mars has a day forty-one minutes longer than our own—"not long enough to get a woman's work done at that" facetiously remark thousands of Mas, who haven't found out about

GOLD MEDAL Mayonnaise

It's real home-made mayonnaise—new-laid eggs, the finest of oil, and seasoned only as the French can season.

Gold Medal means no more long tedious dropping of oil, no more stir, stir, stir—no more curdled mayonnaise—just a perfect, fresh every day mayonnaise ready to turn cold meat and salad into a feast.

FIVE INJURED IN U. S. SAILOR RIOT AT LOS ANGELES

Armed With Bricks 1200 Storm Exclusive Filipino Dance Hall.

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—One man may die, four are suffering from serious knife wounds and several others are cut and bruised as results of a riot between white and Filipino sailors of the battle fleet at Los Angeles harbor yesterday. The trouble started when a white sailor was ejected from a dance exclusively for Filipinos.

The sailor obtained the help of about 1200 of his white comrades. Armed with bricks they started for the dance hall. At the entrance they were stopped by the police and sailors on patrol duty while the hall was cleared of the Filipinos.

Balked there the white sailors descended on a Chinese restaurant filled with Filipino sailor patrons, where a free-for-all fight ensued

MOSCOW CAB DRIVER TAKEN FOR 33 MURDERS

MOSCOW, May 28.—(International News Service.)—A former Moscow cab driver named Komarov is in jail today charged with the murder of thirty-three persons since 1921. Twenty-two bodies were found, tied up in sacks. Feeling ran high when news of the murders reached the public, and Komarov narrowly escaped lynching.

Upon being arrested Komarov jumped from a window and was at large for awhile, but was arrested while writing a confession involving his wife and others. He said that all the victims were killed for robbery while attending tea parties in his home.

SAN LEANDRO FIESTA GARB IS DONNED

SAN LEANDRO, May 28.—With the annual cherry carnival only one week away, San Leandro is putting finishing touches to preparations for the festical. Merchants are planning decorations, banners are being strung on the public buildings and electricians are wiring for the colored lights that are to decorate the main streets of the city during the week of the carnival.

As previously planned the carnival proper will be held in the business section of San Leandro, opening off the Plaza at Washington and Ward streets, continuing to Hayes street, and thence to Ward.

One of the features of the show is the great open air dancing platform at Ward and Hayes streets, which will accommodate 500 couples. Its construction is being started today.

NEW GEMS by O'Brien
Treasure-Trove of Humor from Newly Discovered Writings

A GUARDED SECRET.

It is time to call a halt upon those who persistently circulate the alleged joke that a woman cannot keep a secret. No baser ingratitude has been shown by man toward the fair sex than the promulgation of this false report. Whenever a would-be humorous man makes use of this antiquated chestnut which his fellow men feel in duty bound to applaud, the face of the woman takes on a strange, inscrutable, pitying smile that few men ever read.

The truth is that it is only woman who can keep a secret. Only a divine intelligence can understand the marvelous power with which ninety-nine married women out of a hundred successfully hide from the rest of the world the secret that they have bound themselves to something unworthy of the pure and sacrificing love they have given them. She may whisper to her neighbor that Mrs. Jones has turned her old silk dress twice, but if she has in her breast anything affecting those she loves, the gods themselves could not drag it from her.

Weak man looks into the wine cup and behold, he babbles his innermost thoughts to any gaping bystander; women can babble of the weather, and gaze with infantine eyes into the orbs of the silliest dictonal while holding easily in her breast the heaviest secrets of state.

Adam was the original blab; the first tell-tale, and we are not proud of him. With the dreamy appealing eyes of Eve upon him—she who was created for his comfort and pleasure—even as she stood by his side, loving, and fresh and fair as a spring moon the wretched cad said, "The woman gave me, and I did eat." This apprehensible act in our distinguished forefather cannot be excused by any gentleman who knows what is due to a lady.

Adam's conduct would have caused his name to be stricken from the list of every decent club in the country. And since that day, woman has stood by man, faithful, true, and ready to give up all for his sake. She hides his puny piccadilloes from the world, she glosses over his wretched misdemeanors, and she keeps silent when a word would pierce his inflated greatness, and leave him a shriveled and shrunken ass.

And man says that woman cannot keep a secret!

Let him be thankful that she can, or his littleness would be proclaimed from the housetops

CITY PIONEERS AT BIG REUNION

The Oakland Pioneers held their fourth annual reunion Saturday evening in the ballroom of the municipal auditorium, the Oakland pioneer women being guests of honor. A large number of lantern slides were exhibited, showing views and persons of note in the Oakland of early days. Vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Annie Ainsworth-Cunningham, former opera prima donna, Madame Caro Roma (Carrie Northey) singer and song composer, also sang and gave theme improvisations on the piano. After several years spent professionally in London and elsewhere abroad, Madame Roma has now returned to this, the city of her birth.

The complete program follows: Opening remarks, President Fred L. Button; song, "I Love You California," Miss Marie Dolores Montgomery; soprano solo, Mrs. Annie Ainsworth-Cunningham; tenor solo, H. R. Townsend; oboe solo, Edward M. Mundt; vocal solo and improvisations, Mme. Caro Roma; original poems, Miss Rosalia Harrison; remarks, Mrs. Sarah J. Farwell; exhibition of slides; dancing. Music by Mrs. Martin C. Blote and Carl J. Freeze.

Berkeley Speeder Is Given 30 Days

BERKELEY, May 28.—Howard Hutteball, 2414 Virginia street, was today sentenced to thirty days in the county jail by Police Judge Robert Edgar when he pleaded guilty to a charge of speeding. Hutteball was arrested May 21 at 2 a. m. by Policeman George Brereton, who charged him with driving along an Pablo avenue at fifty miles an hour.

This is Hutteball's second offense, he having served ten days in the Martinez jail for speeding last month.

CURTAIN CALLS by Wood Soanes

Helen MacKellar, one of the best known of the younger stars who has just concluded a successful engagement in "The Masked Woman," in which she was supported by [illegible] was engaged to follow Mrs. Leslie Carter at the Fulton theater.

Miss MacKellar will open a limited engagement on June 17 following the presentation of "Zaza," in which Mrs. Carter will make her farewell appearance. "Zaza" was selected as the fourth play of the Carter season when the management decided to play "Madame X" next week.

The career of Miss MacKellar has been nothing if not meteoric. Born in Spokane, she had some experience in amateur theatricals before making her professional debut at the Hotel Plaza in New York in May, 1916, as Therese in "Woman On Her Own."

TWENTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

Three months later she was cast as Georgiana Garrison in "Seven Chances," and was then engaged to support John Drew at the Criterion in New York as Laura Bell in "Major Pendennis." The following year she played Tanya Huber in "A Tailor Made Man," and in 1918 she appeared as Mrs. James Dawson in "The Unknown Purple."

Stardom arrived at this and since then Miss MacKellar has been starred in "The Storm," "Beyond the Horizon," "Lawful Larceny," and "The Masked Woman." While Mrs. Carter has been associated in her theatrical life with characters of the love type, Miss MacKellar has been at the other extreme.

Alexander Woollcott in reviewing "The Masked Woman" wrote: "The utility of this adaptation from the French lies in the fact that it assists Lowell Sherman to become badder and badder and Helen MacKellar to become gooder and gooder." She inaugurates her season here in "Lawful Larceny."

Farrar Decides to Earn More Concert Money

Geraldine Farrar will not be under the management of David Belasco next season it was reported when the diva found that the Metropolitan [illegible] was not big enough to hold both her and Maria Jeritza. "Gerry" has a better plan. She has just signed a contract for ninety concerts in Canada, Cuba and the United States.

This announcement comes on the heels of Gatti Casazza's departure for the Farrar to accept the proffered olive branch in the spirit offered. The prima donna offered to "be friends" but she stipulated that she must be allowed to select the casts for each opera which would have put her in the same position occupied by Mary Garden.

FORTY SEASONS AGO TODAY

Hart's Australian Circus stranded here this week. Anna Eva Fay, the spiritualist, is at Queen's Hall, in Montreal.

During the season just closed Miss Farrar sang in ninety-one concerts in Canada, Cuba and this country and received ovations where ever she appeared. Incidentally she received $100,000 for her work, all of which is believed to have influenced her in favor of a return engagement despite the inconveniences of the one-nighters.

Meanwhile Jeritza's position as queen of the Metropolitan seems firmly established and insomuch as she is said to have a very mild temper, the troubles of Casazza will not be so heavy this year.

EXITS AND ENTRANCES

Nat Holt, manager of the State theater, is quite elated over his list of coming attractions, made possible by new booking arrangements. The list includes "A Fool There Was," with Estelle Taylor and Lewis Stone; "Is Divorce a Failure?" with Leah Baird, Walter McGrail, Tom Santschi and Richard Tucker; "The Remittance Woman," with Ethel Clayton; "Driven" and "The Westbound Limited."

* * *

The presentation of "Just Married" by the Henry Duffy Stock [illegible] halted last week just before the matinee when Duffy, who is the owner of several stock houses, and who had decided to play the principal comedy role, attempted to commit suicide. He inflicted only a slight wound. He had been suffering from a nervous breakdown according to report.

* * *

Joyce White, principal dancer with Peggy Wood in "The Clinging Vine," is to be starred on her own next season by one Nat H. Dorfman, who has secured a musical comedy called "Peggy" for her.

* * *

Tom Powers, just now with Stuart Walker's company at Indianapolis, will have the lead in Gilbert Emery's "Tarnish" next fall. John Cromwell is producing the show.

* * *

Helen Ware has temporarily deserted the legitimate and "Within Four Walls" and is playing a vaudeville engagement. Her comedy sketch is entitled "Her Best Friend." On the same bill with her at the Palace in New York is May Yohe of Hope diamond fame; and the Morgan dancers doing "Helen of Troy," which was seen here at the Orpheum last season.

* * *

Al Jolson is about to make his debut as a baseball magnate. Jolson, who returned to New York with "Bombo," recently admitted that he has been negotiating for an interest in the St. Louis League club. The deal has not yet been consummated.

* * *

Raymond Hitchcock started on his summer engagement in "Hitchy Koo 1923" in Chicago last week. He will go into New York in the fall.

* * *

George M. Cohan's new musical comedy, "The Rise of Rosie O'Reilly," opened in Boston last Monday and was favorably received.

John LaGrange Gained 30 Pounds Taking Tanlac and Says He Feels Like New Man.

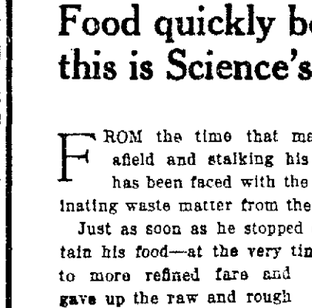

"Tanlac not only did away with my stomach trouble, but increased my weight thirty pounds, and made me feel like a new man," is the emphatic statement of John C. LaGrange, 342 West 31st street, Los Angeles, well known automobile painter.

"My stomach was so out of fix I could scarcely keep anything down, and the gas pains were terrible. I lost about twenty-five pounds, got so nervous I couldn't sit still, and knew something had to be done.

"A friend got me to try Tanlac, and after the first few doses the nausea stopped, and I began to gain weight and get better rapidly. After taking three bottles I [illegible] but continued the treatment until I finished five bottles and never felt better in my life. I'm strong for Tanlac."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Take no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Attempts to conceal complexion blemishes usually fail, and only serve to draw attention to the defects.

Underneath most unattractive skins is a clear, pleasing complexion—all that is needed is the proper treatment! It is surprising how often a brief use of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap will clear away blotches, redness and roughness and give the skin its natural freshness and charm.

Ask your druggist for Resinol.

Today's feast is tomorrow's poison

Food quickly becomes waste. To rid the body of this is Science's constant grapple with ill health.

FROM the time that man ceased going afield and stalking his food the world has been faced with the problem of eliminating waste matter from the human system.

Just as soon as he stopped exercising to obtain his food—at the very time when he took to more refined fare and gave up the raw and rough provisions of field and forest—at that moment the muscles of his intestines started to become weak and flabby. In each generation they become less able to perform their function of passing waste from the body.

Our Ancestors hunted their food. They were hardy. Today food is brought to us. Our intestinal muscles are flabby

How the Poison Spreads

Food eaten today becomes poison tomorrow if not eliminated. The whole system becomes affected from this contamination. Science is constantly striving to guard against this.

In the hills of California bubbles a spring

Many drugs are taken to artificially stimulate the intestinal muscles to perform their duty. These efforts result in temporary relief and a permanent habit.

Thousands have longed for a permanent corrective of stomach disorders—a natural agent that would restore the functioning of the muscles of the colon to normal.

Up in the hills of California, bubbles a spring. The waters of this spring have been known to the medical profession for years though this water has never been widely exploited to the public.

The Remarkable Effect of a Spring Water

This water is Veronica Water. It is bottled just as it comes from the spring. It is not fortified—just a natural spring water. Its effect is remarkable.

Veronica Water not only has a direct action upon the intestinal muscles, but it soothes the inflamed tract and is permanently corrective. It is not a purgative in its accepted sense, but rather is taken as a course of treatment, the length of which depends upon the obstinacy of the condition treated. It will keep indefinitely—corked or uncorked—in any climate.

The Joy of Perfect Health

For all types of stomach disorders, irregularities, and for all ailments arising from these causes, order a case of Veronica Water from your druggist today and begin a systematic treatment that will afford you the relief it has given thousands of others.

Wash ill health away with draughts of natural Spring Water

Or, if you wish, try a bottle and note the results. To feel again the joy of perfect health, try Veronica Water, the natural water as it comes from California's Springs.

NORTH PLANNING TOURIST BUREAU

Plans are being formulated by chambers of commerce throughout northern California for the establishment of a tourist bureau at Salt Lake City. This bureau will be open four months each year. Its object will be to direct automobile travel through northern California.

[illegible] tourist bureau will be borne by the various chambers of commerce in this section of the state. The Oakland chamber already has voted its proportional share. The plans are being handled by H. E. Dillinger, president of the Placerville Chamber of Commerce. In pointing out the needs of this work Dillinger says:

"Californians Incorporated, the Southern Pacific and others are spending huge sums to draw eastern people to northern California and when they are almost at our threshold, southern California diverts them to the south and laughs at us. This year, of all years, we should have at least a bureau at Salt Lake City and we have not even a creditable sign."

SCHOONER JAMS, CLOSES BRIDGE FOR 10 HOURS

ALAMEDA, May 28.—The High street bridge across the estuary was played out of commission yesterday for approximately ten hours when the Charles Nelson, a lumber schooner was headed against the turn tide of the stream making it impossible for the bridge to swing shut after opening for the passage of the boat up the canal.

The high tide of the early morning swung the schooner beyond the control of a tug and against the bridge. Here it stuck until the incoming afternoon tide released.

Automobile traffic was forced to detour and use either the Park street or Fruitvale bridges.

Colorado Town Is Menaced by Flood

ROCKY FORD, Colo., May 28.—First floods of storm on the west side of Main street and south of the railroad tracks were flooded with several inches of water last night when heavy rains caused the Rocky Ford irrigation ditch to break.

While many citizens worked to repair the break the water began to recede and all danger from a serious flood soon was over. Cellars in several residences were flooded.

OAKLAND OUT TO CAPTURE 'BETTER HOMES' TROPHY

Mrs. Minna McCauley Leading Move to Win Prize in National Drive.

Oakland is after the first prize in the "better homes in America demonstration week," which will be observed throughout the nation the week of June 4 to 10. To this end the better homes committee in Oakland, headed by Mrs. Minna McCauley, prominent clubwoman, has set in motion every wheel that has to do with the making of better homes.

The prize is $500 in cash and is offered through the National Advisory Council, of which Vice-President Calvin C. Coolidge is chairman and more than thirty governors, numerous national officials and clubwomen are members. The prize is awarded the city in the United States making the best report on better home demonstration week.

Guy C. Wolf, statistician of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce, is to assemble the report.

The Builders' Exchange of Alameda county, the Chamber of Commerce, the Oakland Real Estate Board, the Uptown Association the Merchants' Exchange, the Building Trades Council, the Central Labor Council, Oakland Building Material and Manufacturing Association, the city officials, the Better Building Association, Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, Soroptomists and Business and Professional Women's clubs and other organizations are backing the movement.

Ben Ebersole of the Oakland Building Material Association is secretary.

It is expected that some twelve homes will be offered for actual demonstration as to architecture, furnishing, landscape gardening and other features, during the week.

"Oakland, of all other cities on the Pacific Coast, is perhaps best qualified to point to its homes as emblematic of the great American ideal of home ownership," said Mrs. McGauley today. "Oakland owns, I am told, more home owners per capita than any other city. Let's tell the world of this too! Let's win the national better homes contest prize."

High Blood Pressure

NO ONE CAN MAKE YOU INVESTIGATE WITTER WATER

There is no question about the danger of high blood pressure. Vital statistics show that 1 out of every 3 persons whose blood pressure is above normal die within a year. In other words, one-third of the people with high blood pressure who are reading this paper today will be dead this time next year, unless they take steps to remedy this condition.

There is no question about the symptoms of high blood pressure. Dr. Francis Ashley Faught, a noted authority on the subject, definitely states them as

1. Cold hands and feet.
2. Slight momentary dizziness.
3. Sleeplessness.
4. Sleep disturbed by dreams.
5. Feeling of fullness in the head.
6. Gastric disturbances after meals.
7. Chronic constipation.
8. Weakness and lowered vitality.
9. Nervousness.
10. Persistent headaches.

There is no question as to the effectiveness of the Witter Water treatment. Test after test has been made. Each time the patient's blood pressure was reduced to normal. During the past 18 months 3000 cases have been successfully treated.

These are facts—supported by medical science. We can only put them before you. We cannot make you act. If, in the face of what every authority tells you about high blood pressure, you prefer to drift along to inevitable serious consequences, that is up to you. But honestly, isn't it the safe and sensible thing at least to investigate the Witter Water treatment?

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Many soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for [illegible] is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified in a cup or glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub the Mulsified in. It makes an abundance of rich, easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any pharmacy. It is very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified.—Advertisement.

STATE TO SPEND $37,000,000 ON NEW, OLD ROADS

More than $37,000,000 will be spent on the construction and maintenance of California's highways during the next two years, according to State Engineer R. M. Morton, as the result of the adoption by the state legislature of bills introduced by Senator Arthur H. Breed of Piedmont, providing funds for these purposes.

The money will be used in the reconstruction of 364.7 miles of highway, the maintenance of 3928 miles of highway in 1923-24 and of 4148 miles of highway in 1924-25.

TOURIST SEASON OPENS.

PORTLAND Ore., May 28.—(By the United Press).—The roads of Oregon are becoming alive with tourists, the camps in the various cities are filling up. Along with the tourist season always comes the marvel of just what pets families will take on their journeys. Parrots, guinea pigs, cats, deer, and every known variety of dog.

Colds	Headache
Toothache	Lumbago
Earache	Rheumatism
Neuralgia	Pain, Pain

Accept "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" only. Each unbroken package contains proper directions. Handy boxes of twelve tablets cost few cents. Druggists also sell bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. This destroys it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring, use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in [illegible] with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky, and soft, and look and feel a hundred

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy has never been known to fail. —Advertisement.

FACE VERY RED WITH PIMPLES

Itched Badly. Could Not Sleep. Cuticura Heals.

"My face was badly affected with pimples that were hard and red. They were scattered all around my face. The pimples itched so badly that I scratched all the time, and the more I scratched the more they itched. My face was very red, and I could not sleep at night on account of the irritation.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and after using three cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was completely healed." (Signed) Rudolph Brunette, Box 43, Roslyn, Wash.

For every purpose of the toilet and bath, Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Talcum are wonderfully good.

HAWAII WILL BE REPRESENTED AT TRAINING CAMP

Names of Successful Alameda County Candidates Are Announced.

Hawaii will be represented at the California citizens' military training camp at Del Monte, July 26 to August 24, Colonel Ernest V. Smith, camp commander, has announced. He has just received authorization from the War Department to include selected young men from Hawaii with 1000 Californians at summer training camps.

Every county in California will be represented. Following are the names of those tentatively or finally accepted from Alameda county:

Carl A. Arnberg, Percival McC. Bliss, George I. Copeland, Ray B. Felton, Thomas F. Halnan, George W. Hume, Clarence P. Keough, Albert S. Mariatt, Leland W. Webb, Robert W. Webb, Wallace A. White, John A. Coughlin, Arnold H. Halstead, Ernesto S. Johnson, Selman G. Keating, Kent F. Kohler, Rudolph S. Turek, Floyd H. Vincent and Rodman C. Uptus, Oakland; James Lowndes, Armen N. Mardiros, Harold B. Sprague and Leslie R. Wigstead, Berkeley; David J. Dickie, David L. Franke, Frank H. Gibson, Arthur E. Oliver, Ludwell McK. Shadburne, Bruce M. Stephens, Alameda; Hilo E. Anderson, San Leandro; George J. Bedford and Elmer G. Combs, Hayward; Julius W. Hayes, Sunol; Elmer C. Michaelsen, Charles P. Evans, Bernard E. Gobel, Piedmont; Edwin J. Young and Alan C. Henry, Livermore.

The camps are conducted by the United States government as part of the national defense program, and are designed to stimulate patriotism, develop a higher physical standard among young men of the nation and inspire better citizenship. They are open to physically-fit young men between the ages of 17 and 24 years, and carry no obligation for further military service.

Colonel Smith says vacancies are being filled at a rapid rate and he urges young men who want to enjoy this 30-day vacation and training to rush their inquiries or applications to Headquarters, 91st Division, Presidio of San Francisco, immediately. Camps are free. The War Department furnishes transportation and pays all expenses.

WIFE SAYS MAN IS BOOTLEGGER IN DIVORCE SUIT

SAN JOSE, May 28.—Alleging that her husband, Emme H. Starzicich, was a respectable clerk by day and a bootlegger by night, Mrs. Pearl M. Starzicich has filed suit for divorce in the Santa Clara county Superior court, seeking custody of her three children and a division of community property. Other charges contained in the woman's divorce complaint are those that her husband compelled her and the couple's children to accompany him on many of his illicit liquor selling trips, left his family without food several times, told his wife he would "make a crook of her yet," beat her until she fainted, etc. Attorney J. B. Peckham represents the plaintiff.

Fined $300 For Possessing Booze

MARTINEZ, May 28.—Eugene Pedrotti was arrested last night at his home on the highway east of Pinole and was charged by Deputy Sheriff A. E. Cull with possession of liquor. Cull claims to have found a small quantity of liquor cached under the front steps of the home. Pedrotti pleaded guilty today before Justice Frank Glass and paid a fine of $300.

What's Happening in the MOTOR WORLD

by Tim Halihan

As a definite forward step in the inauguration of a plan for supplementing the present car service in and about Los Angeles, the Los Angeles Motorbus Company, representing the Pacific Electric and Los Angeles Railway Companies in the operation of the buses as adjuncts to their systems, have ordered [illegible] worth of the most improved type of motor buses for this purpose.

The action is in line with the promises of the Pacific Electric and Los Angeles Companies and is following out the recommendations of the Board of Public Utilities after intensive study of traffic conditions looking toward the bettering of transportation in the city.

The order for these buses, which is the largest ever given at one time on the coast to any manufacturer, was placed by O. A. Smith and F. Van Vranken, who are handling the organization of the Los Angeles Motor Bus Company, with the Moreland Motor Truck Company, represented throughout the negotiations by General Sales Manager Phil H. Mallory.

The entire bus system operation will be handled by the Los Angeles Motorbus Company in close harmony with the Pacific Electric and Los Angeles Railway Companies as supplementary parts of their transportation system. In addition to the great trackage of the two companies, who now have a mileage of 1500 miles, the buses will cover routes totaling some 70 miles and give an extensive service to several hundreds of thousands of people.

The three-quarters of a million dollar order calls for two styles of the latest types of motor buses manufactured by the Moreland Motor Truck Company, both single and double deck. They are of the low gravity type, with underslung worm drive and drop frames, engineered to eliminate possibilities of overturning, to provide ease of handling and the least obstruction to other traffic in the streets, speed and the highest degree of safety and comfort to passengers.

Shoe Dealers Will Open Rally June 11

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Addresses by eminent authorities on economics, together with trade talks by leaders in the shoe industry, will feature the fifth annual convention of the California Shoe Retailers' association, which will be held from June 11 to 14 in the St. Francis Hotel. Representatives of virtually every shoe store in the Bay region are cooperating in working out plans for the convention. Speakers on the program include John J. Slater, of New York, president of the National Shoe Retailers' association; Charles G. Phillips of New York, president of the Dry Goods Economist; E. B. Terhune of Boston, treasurer and general manager of the Boot and Shoe Recorder; Professor Ira B. Cross, of the University of California, and [illegible] Cleon Knoles, president of the College of the Pacific.

GIRLS! LEMONS BEAUTIFY SKIN

Make This Lemon Cream to Whiten Skin and Bleach Tan, Freckles.

Mix the juice of two lemons with three ounces of Orchard White, which any druggist will supply for a few cents, shake well in a bottle, and you have a whole quarter-pint of the most wonderful skin softener and complexion beautifier. Massage this sweetly fragrant lemon cream into the face, neck, arms and hands, then shortly note the youthful beauty, softness and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this harmless lemon cream, to bring that velvety, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.—Advertisement.

WANTS TO HELP OTHER WOMEN

Grateful for Health Restored by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill.—"I am willing to write to any girl or woman who is suffering from the troubles I had before I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My back always ached, so I could not go about my housework, and I had other troubles from weakness. I was this way for years, then my sister-in-law took the Vegetable Compound and recommended it to me. In the time I have been taking it, it has done wonders for me. I keep house and am able to do lots of work besides."—Mrs. HELEN SEVCIK, 2711 Thomas St., Chicago, Ill.

Women suffering from female troubles causing backache, irregularities, pains, bearing-down feelings and weakness should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Not only is the world of this splendid medicine shown by such cases as this, but for nearly fifty years this same sort of experience has been reported by thousands of women.

Mrs. Sevcik is willing to write to any girl or woman suffering from such troubles, and answer any questions they may like to ask.

SCOUT TRAINING INSTITUTE OPENS

The swimming pool at the Oakland Boy Scout camp in Dimond Canyon was officially opened for the season yesterday coincident with the beginning of the two-day [illegible] for Scout leaders.

The scout leaders' institute brought out three score men of the Eastbay cities who are interested in scouting and desire to become scout masters of troops. Among the instructors was Harry Platts, scout executive of Alameda; Ernest Vosper of Fremont high school; Dr. William Cook of the University of California, and members of Scout Executive H. J. Demiss' staff.

The Mark of Quality

Does Gum-Dipping Improve Cord Tires?

Certainly! Because it lengthens the life of the inner tire structure. That is why Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords are practically proof against blowouts.

The process of immersing the cords in a fluid of fine rubber insulates each individual thread—reduces friction and heat to a marked degree—makes a more active, more responsive, easier riding tire—and ends permanently a long list of tire troubles.

The satisfaction of greater mileage that accompanies each purchase of Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords is amply demonstrated by the tremendous recent increase in sales.

In the past six months the public has shown its appreciation of these quality tires—with a demand 194% above that of the same period last year.

Combined with double gum-dipping are other special processes—air-bag cure—rubber blending and tempering—having definite and marked results in mileage.

Equip all four wheels of your car with Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords and Firestone Steam-Welded Tubes. Learn the meaning of MILEAGE as developed by Firestone.

FEWER TEACHERS TO COLLEGE IS ECONOMY PLAN

Conference Here to Decide Police Under the New State Budget.

A reduction in the enrollment of all California teachers' colleges will probably result from a conference of the presidents of these institutions at Hotel Oakland today, according to Glenn C. Wood, State superintendent of public instruction, who called the conference for the purpose of outlining a retrenchment program commensurate with the new State budget.

The conference is informal, Wood explained, but out of it is expected to develop the policy of State education to be carried out under the present State administration.

"There will not be a reduction in the salaries of the teaching staffs of the colleges," said Wood. "The Governor asserted that his budget did not provide for a cut in teachers' salaries, and I am taking him at his word.

"But the appropriations for all the colleges have been decreased, and we are obliged to adopt measures of economy. It is clear that we cannot lower the standards of education by turning out an inferior quality of teacher; the only course left to us is to turn out an inferior quality. Enrollment in the various State teachers' colleges will probably be limited."

State Educators in Budget Conference

The presidents of the various State teachers' colleges convened here today to outline an educational retrenchment policy. Standing, left to right, are: C. L. McLEAN, Fresno; A. R. HERRON, deputy director of State education; C. L. PHELPS, Santa Barbara; E. L. HARDY, San Diego. Seated: C. M. OSENBAUGH, Chico; WILL C. WOOD, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and FREDERICK BURK, San Francisco.

MRS. CARTER AS MRS. TANQUERAY SCORES SUCCESS

Apparent Defeat Is Turned to Victory in Pinero Play Revival.

By WOOD SOANES.

Marshaling all of her latent histrionic forces into an impregnable aggressive dramatic phalanx, Mrs. Leslie Carter won a signal victory at the Fulton theater last night in a revival of Sir Arthur Pinero's "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray."

It was a glorious evening in that Mrs. Carter was forced by circumstances, not of her own choosing, to disregard all of the mannerisms with which her acting has been identified for many years and to fight for success with inherited weapons.

DISPLAYED ABILITY.

For two acts this noted stage figure held the audience in the palm of her hand after a lesser light would have admitted defeat. She revealed depths of emotion seldom witnessed on the stage and displayed virtuosity such as is rarely seen in a dramatic stock theater, or elsewhere for that matter.

Throughout the first act, which was played in an elephantine manner by the company, it seemed inevitable that "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" would be a failure. The audience was unsympathetic, the supporting cast indifferent and Mrs. Carter only mildly effective. This condition obtained largely in the second act also. Then the star went to work.

From the moment she started the effect was that of a whirlwind swooping down on a peaceful village. The inhabitants and the onlookers from the neighboring communities were swept away by the vigor of the reading. There was no let-up and the climax revealed only newer strength.

In "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" Pinero tells the story of a woman who has exemplified the adage in her loving. At last she loves both wisely and well only to find that her futures are simply recurrences of the past she is striving so valiantly to live down. She is not accepted in her new role by her husband's friends or the immediate members of her own family.

HOPELESSLY MISCAST.

Appearing in support of Mrs. Carter as the husband was William Boyd, who was hopelessly miscast and was not only hazy in his lines, as were his co-workers, but suggested physically the boy of 20 rather than the man of 45. Georgia Knowlton, a first rate comedienne, was also struggling along in the dark as Mrs. Cortelyon, the blase society woman.

Two bright spots that made for comedy, however, came wittingly and unwittingly. Ralph Kline, a newcomer, was effective as the dissolute Sir George, giving a capably acted interpretation of the titled inebriate; and Frank K. Wallace added to the joy of the performance by dressing the play in the period through the medium of a dinner jacket from the museum of sartorial history.

Frank Darien, who might have showed to better advantage as Mrs. Tanqueray's husband, was capable as the friend. Cayley Drummond, and enhanced the evening in his capacity as stage director, by a fine production of the piece both scenically and in his stage groupings. Others in the cast were Eleanor Parker, George Rand, Leigh Willard, Ruth Stone, Ned Doyle, Henry Van Dyke and Gladys Malatesta.

MEDIATION PARTY IS FIRED UPON BY CHINESE BANDITS

Brigand Gang Split Regarding Captives' Release; Intervention Near.

By EDNA LEE BOOKER.
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

SHANGHAI, May 28.—The Chinese bandits at Paotzuku, who hold fifteen foreigners, including several Americans, for ransom, as well as 100 Chinese, have divided into two factions, according to advices from Lincheng today.

One faction is willing to mediate for the release of their foreign captives while the other faction is so hostile that they fired upon a mediating party coming to confer on terms. Fortunately none was injured.

NO CHANGE IN OUTLOOK.

The situation as a result of the deadlock of the two bandit factions remains in practically the same state it has been since the foreigners were kidnaped 23 days ago.

No reports of additional clashes between the government troops and the bandits has been received, although heavy reinforcements have been brought up and more are arriving.

In addition two airplanes from Peking have arrived in response to the request of Tuchun Tien of Shantung province who favors securing release of the prisoners by force.

According to latest advices from Tsao Chwang, the negotiations of J. B. Powell, American newspapermen, have proven fruitless. Powell was permitted to come out of the bandit stronghold under heavy escort and returned with new terms from the Chinese government.

INTERVENTION HELD NEAR.

SHANGHAI, May 28.—(By Associated Press.)—Foreign residents of Hankow have adopted resolutions urging "that the foreign governments insist that the Chinese government immediately withdraw its troops and intermediaries from Lincheng, and that the foreign legations take up negotiations with the bandits for the immediate release of the captives, holding the Chinese government representatives for any liability incurred in the settlement and punishing the authorities who permitted such an outrage in the district under their control."

Foreign representatives are urged to notify their governments of the possibility that armed intervention on an extensive scale may be required in the near future.

The Hankow residents also seek "disbandment and disarmament of superfluous Chinese troops, with the support of armed foreign forces if necessary."

Here Are Terms Offered Bandits To Free Victims

TIENTSIN, May 28.—(By The Associated Press.)—Advices received here from Tsaochwang said J. B. Powell, American newspaperman of Shanghai, had returned there from the bandits' camp at Paotzuku, accompanied by two secretaries supplied by the bandits, presumably to bring a reply to the counter-proposals of the tuchun of Shantung for the release of the foreign captives held in the Paotzuku hills.

The tuchun's counter-proposals are that there be no further withdrawal of troops from around the bandit camp; that one bandit be admitted to the Chinese army for each rifle surrendered by the bandits, but that at least 1,000 rifles be guaranteed; that one month's pay be advanced to bandits joining the army, plus all arrears involved; that the bandits be provisioned until all who are accepted into the army be enlisted and that the agreement be signed by foreign guarantors, the local gentry and merchants. Pending negotiations all foreign and Chinese captives must be released and final details left to a conference to be held at "a proper and convenient place."

LOOK UP YOUR OWN ADDRESSES, SAYS UNCLE SAM

The corner drug store, which for years has supplied a large portion of the stamps used by the American public, was handed a new responsibility today in connection with the carrying on of the nation's correspondence.

Announcement was made by the postoffice department, through the postmasters in the various cities, that it is through looking up names and addresses in the city directory for letters that are wrongly addressed. The order stated, in effect, that senders of letters must verify names and addresses themselves, or their letters will either be returned to them or be sent to the dead-letter office.

As a result, it is expected, there will be much thumbing of the leaves of drug store directories by persons with poor memories for addresses, who formerly have had this service performed for them by the postoffice.

"Discontinuance of this service releases many clerks for other duties, and it is estimated that the saving to the government in the country at large will approximate $1,000,000 annually," local postoffice officials said today.

NOT SEEKING NELSON'S SEAT.

WASHINGTON, May 28.—Representative Harold Knutson of Minnesota, Republican whip in the house, today announced he would not be a candidate for the seat of the late Senator Knute Nelson.

EDUCATION BOARD WILL HALT PLAN FOR BOND ISSUE

Body to Make Alternate Preparations to Build New Schools.

The $9,500,000 bond issue proposed some time ago to build new schools will be killed tonight by the board of education, according to statements of a majority of the members of the board today.

The bond advisory committee will be dissolved, it is admitted, and the elaborate schedule of new buildings, as arranged by Architect C. W. Dickey, will be filed away.

According to Director Daisy Short, a smaller and longer-considered bond issue will be considered some time in the future, perhaps in the autumn.

"It's a hangover, that bond issue," said Mrs. Short. "The best thing to do is to let the new board of education lay its plans for a bond issue which the whole people can get behind. There is no doubt that we need schools badly and should have a bond issue."

The board will dismiss the bond project, according to Mrs. Short, on two counts: 1. That the amount is too large. 2. That the overhead and architect's fees are too large.

The bond issue started nearly a year ago. The superintendent of schools suggested "about eight million" as the amount. The then majority of the board boosted it to $9,500,000.

"A bond issue involving millions of dollars is a big thing and worthy of deep consideration," said Director John J. Allen Jr. "We'll let that $9,500,000 business go overboard: and then we will take up the matter of an entirely fresh plan which, we hope, will become popular and give us the schools we need so badly."

HUSBAND SUES NAGGING WIFE

In a divorce complaint filed here by Roland Lloyd Harris, a fire insurance man now in Los Angeles, Mrs. Laura M. Harris, 5404 College avenue, is accused of constant nagging and fault-finding which caused him to resign two lucrative positions and made their married life unhappy.

Harris further charges that his wife influenced their children, Hugh, aged 16, and Edith, aged 12, to disrespect him.

Harris says they separated April 29, 1921, and a full property settlement has been made. He asks for custody of the son, who is with his sister in Milwaukee, stipulating that his wife may have custody of their daughter.

TRAVELERS ON S. P. GIVEN GIFTS OF STATE FRUITS

"Say it with California fruit."

This is the new slogan of the Southern Pacific Company in advertising California's fruits to easterners now coming to Oakland under the reduced summer excursion rates.

Yesterday passengers on the Southern Pacific's limited trains entering California were presented with gifts of luscious cherries accompanied with a card of greeting to the visitors to the Golden State.

"California's wonderful fruits will receive much favorable advertising through this new practice of the company," said H. A. Butler, in charge of the Southern Pacific's West Oakland commissary.

"We think that a few words of greeting and a suitable gift of some delectable fruit of California soil will do much toward creating a favorable impression of the state and its incomparable products."

The same idea will be carried out with other fruits, Butler stated.

HUNDREDS STRIVE IN CONTEST FOR NAMING FESTIVAL

Indicative of the state-wide acclaim with which the plan for an annual carnival in Oakland is being received, the Oakland Festival Association reports that proposals of names for the organization are pouring in from ever section of California.

The association, organized by Eastbay business men for the purpose of advertising this section of the state, is offering a prize of $100 and a life membership in the organization for the best name for the festival, which will be similar to the Mardi Gras of New Orleans and the Ak-Sar-Ben of Omaha. The contest closes at midnight, May 31.

The luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club today was given over to the presentation of the plans of the Oakland Festival Association for the carnival to be held in Oakland during the last week in September. David D. Oliphant Jr., and George C. Pardee, former governor, were the speakers. A committee composed of men who are members of both the Kiwanis Club and the association has been appointed to enlist members from the club for the association. The committee is composed of Oliphant, Frank R. Kennedy, Al T. Baum and Arthur Ramage.

A coupon outlining the conditions of the name contest has been prepared by the association and is being distributed throughout the state.

Communications should be addressed to the Oakland Festival Association, 408 Henshaw building. Here is the coupon:

POSTURE IN WOMEN'S WORK.

The effect on the physique and on the health of industrial workers of the monotonous repetition hour after hour and month after month of movements in themselves light and simple has recently begun to challenge the attention of the medical profession. Especially has it done this since this work, so characteristic of modern industry, has been more and more monopolized, usually on a piece basis, by women whose deftness and swiftness have enabled them to take possession of occupations which do not require much muscular strength.

So far, although conclusive proof is lacking, the weight of opinion seems to be that serious injury may be caused by any work, the performance of which requires cramped, constrained, or awkward posture. Less general and less positive is the opinion as to the effect of the work on the nervous systems, especially in women.

Work that requires bent shoulders and dropping of the head compresses the chest and interferes with the breathing, and this alone leads to many ills. It also forces the ribs and all that they enclose down upon the abdomen and tends to displace its organs. Among other results this pressure causes a "folding in" of the wall of the abdomen along the belt line and the partial stoppage of material moving through the intestines, and this leads to constipation, diarrhoea, nervousness, abnormal fatigue, and headaches.

Work that requires a sideway "slouch" crowds the ribs between a low shoulder and a high hip on one side and expands them on the other side, interfering with the breathing and paving the way for tuberculosis. In girls and women this slouch also tends to displace other important organs.

Such results may be prevented or lessened by change of work; for instance a change from work that requires stooping forward to work that requires reaching upward, or that requires a sideways slouch, or that requires no particular attitude. Such a change naturally involves a loss in speed, which for a time may cause serious money loss to a piece worker; but, especially in young girls, it will help to prevent ill health and possibly deformity.

Proper chairs are also helpful. All chairs, for instance, that are too high to permit the occupant's feet to rest firmly on the floor, should be provided with a foot rest that would prevent the lower part of the legs from dangling and the upper part (thighs) from pressing against the edge of the chair. Rests for the back are also extremely helpful in lessening fatigue.

The best preventives so far suggested seem to be the daily utilization of the forenoon and afternoon rest periods now in vogue in most factories either in complete rest or in occupation that call for changes in the muscles used such utilization should give effective help in preventing serious troubles.—Health News—United States Public Health Service.

[illegible] the positive identification of Ray Parker during his first trial for robbery, there was a grave doubt as to his identity, Attorney Leo J. Sullivan today secured a continuance of Parker's second trial in order that Sullivan may go to Los Angeles and investigate alleged newly discovered evidence there.

When Parker was on trial several weeks ago on a charge of having robbed the home of W. H. [illegible] port was received that a man had been arrested in Los Angeles and that in his possession had been found the wrist watch of Mrs. Metcalf, taken during the robbery. The jury disagreed and Parker's second trial was set for today.

This robbery took place December 12, 1922, when Metcalf and his wife were entertaining friends. The robbed entered and held up the host and guests, taking money from the men and jewelry from the women.

During the holdup the robber's mask slipped from his face and he is said to have remarked, "Take a good look so you will know me."

CAT'S HOME IS BURNED, STICKS BY ITS ASHES

RIALTO, May 28.—Tabby, a gray cat, which lost her home when a fire destroyed her master's barber shop, has refused to move to a new establishment just across the street, and for several weeks has slept on a screen door lying in the midst of the debris left by the fire.

Children Perish When House Burns

WOODLAND, May 28. — Mrs. Ethel Miles of this city is in receipt of word from her sister, Mrs. Aletha Miwal, who left Woodland a few months ago with her husband and family, telling of the deaths by burning of her two children, aged four months and four years, respectively, at their home in Havre, Mont. Mr. and Mrs. Miwal were in the field hitching up a team of horses when the house caught fire. Mother and father rushed for the home, but flames prevented them from reaching the children. Both were burned to death and the mother and father are in a critical condition as a result of the tragedy. The Miwals lived most of their lives in Woodland.

Clarence Urmy Goes To San Jose Hospital

SAN JOSE, May 28.—Clarence Urmy, well known local writer, dramatic critic and organist, is a patient at the Interurban sanitarium here following his collapse as a result of overwork. Dr. Newell H. Bullock, who is attending Urmy, states that a complete rest will undoubtedly have the patient on his feet again in the course of a few days.

Included in the commencement exercises will be a Pageant of Nations, in which over 300 children will take part, to be staged in the Opal theater at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Campbell Chamber Must Hire Police

CAMPBELL, May 28.—The first bit of business confronting the newly organized Campbell Commercial Association is that of providing the town with a peace officer and night watchman. President E. C. Merrill has appointed a committee of three, including George E. Hyde, C. E. Stallman and Harry C. Smith, to investigate the matter and report at the next meeting, which will be held on June 6. The membership roster is still open and it is hoped that the professional and business men of Campbell will sign up 100 per cent before the next meeting, so that the new club may begin effective work at once.

Auto Truck Crash Causes Bad Mix-up

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Two automobile trucks loaded with chickens, a hydrant, the police, the fire department and the city ambulance corps contributed to causing considerable excitement at Washington and Battery streets, opposite the custom house today.

Ralph Livesey, of 816 Hampshire street, and Charles Meyers, of [illegible] trucks. The machines collided at the crossing, wrecking both cars ripping off the hydrant and flooding the street and sidewalks. The chickens escaped from the coop and flew and floated and the fire, police and ambulance apparatus were summoned.

There were no casualties, but some of the chickens eluded capture for hours, perching on buildings in the neighborhood.

DIVE THROUGH WINDOW FAILS TO SAVE THIEF

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Awakened shortly after 3 o'clock this morning by footsteps in the living room of her apartment, Mrs. Fred Fack, of 1450 Clay street, heard the stealthy movements of a burglar. She aroused her husband and he suddenly opened the door in an effort to surprise the intruder, only to see the man dive out of the window. Fack dressed hastily and hurried to the Bush street police station.

Patrolman Timothy Cashin was ordered out in the police machine. Within a half hour, he came upon a prowler at Van Ness and Jackson streets. A search of the man revealed a box of jewelry and $250. Of this amount, $135.50, the police say, had been taken from the Fack home.

The prisoner gave the name of James Dawson, 30, and said he came from Santa Rosa. He was [illegible] on two charges of burglary. Some of the [illegible] police say, was stolen from the apartment of Mrs. M. Satterfield, 1401 Jones street.

Frank A. Avilla's Conviction Upheld

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—The district court of appeals today confirmed the conviction of Frank August Avilla of Oakland, who was sentenced by Superior Judge Church to San Quentin last year for second degree murder following the death of William H. Reinking. Tony Alexander, who was convicted with Avilla, but who did not carry his case to the higher court, is serving a sentence for manslaughter.

SCOUT MASTERS TO MEET.

ALAMEDA, May 28.—Scout masters of the Alameda Boy Scouts' organization will gather tonight in the social hall of the First Presbyterian church in this city to receive special instructions in the duties attending their office as well as the best methods of handling troops during the coming summer Scout vacation, as announced by Harry Platz, scout executive. The course will be given at the same place each Monday night for the next three weeks.

HOPE DIES, MAN ENDS LIFE.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—"It's time for me to go. There's no hope for me." This was the note found today besides the lifeless form of Paul H. Ritter, 945 Steiner street, who committed suicide by gas asphyxiation. He had been worrying over his health. He was 76 years old.

Trespass Charged Against Rancher

SALINAS, May 28.—Following the filing of a complaint by Andrew Blomquist, Judge Bardin has signed an order directing A. W. Martin, Gus Escobar and William Bruno to appear Thursday, June 7, to show cause why they should not be enjoined from trespassing on the Los Conejos rancho. Blomquist alleges the trio have broken down fences and trampled grasses.

STOLEN AUTO IS RETURNED.

BERKELEY, May 28.—Abandoned in Martinez after a collision with a milk wagon, the automobile of C. F. Montgomery, manager of the Berkeley T. & D. theater, was returned to its owner today by the police. The car was stolen last evening from in front of the theater and was found this morning by the Contra Costa sheriff. No trace of the persons responsible for the theft was found.

LOVE NOTES TO AND FROM GIRL BRING DIVORCE

"Dear Little Pal," Husband Wrote and Hers Began "My Dear Sweetheart."

"Dear Little Pal," write Don L. Staniford, traveling salesman to Miss Ethel Rasmussen, 51 East Santa Clara avenue, San Jose, and "Dear Sweetheart," replied Miss Rasmussen, in letters introduced in evidence today by Mrs. Helen J. Staniford during the trial of her divorce suit. She was awarded a decree by Superior Judge J. S. Koford.

The following letter was written by Miss Rasmussen, according to Mrs. Staniford:

"My Sweetheart—You are such a dear and after a day like yesterday it makes me realize what a wonderful good pal you are and what the future really holds for us.

"No question about me being in love—am in a trance and I don't want any one to wake me up.

"I wish more than anything else that the big chief would send you down here this week—and every week, so far as that goes, for I do miss you so.

"I know I'll hear from you, see you, or something soon, but don't be too long.

"I love you, dear. Ethel."

The second of the letters, also from Miss Rasmussen, according to Mrs. Staniford, read:

"Dear Sweetheart—Love you? Why question me? Of course I do and miss you a heap, too. Will be only too happy to have you back again—had a wonderful dream about you Saturday eve, but had to wake up and find it wasn't true—Oh, it was a lonesome feeling—Was sorry I had to wake up from that dream.

"Don't camp too long at Stockton. I am lonesome for a little loving—so hurry along.

"All the love in the world and a few kisses thrown in. Ethel."

Following this came a letter addressed to Miss Rasmussen and in the handwriting of Staniford, according to his wife. This letter read:

"Dear Little Pal: Will see you at the house at 396 S. First street, San Jose, Cal., Friday night, October 21. I am trying to figure out a way to spend the whole day in San Jose. I was thinking about you and wondered how you were Monday. I know I was tired. Dear Little Pal, you are sure good to me. Please write soon as possible.

"As ever, your dearest pal, Don."

Mrs. Staniford said her husband admitted that he had written and received those letters and that he was glad she had found them and in that way learned the truth. She said she had found the notes in his pockets. His letter had not been mailed.

The Stanifords were married in San Jose December 6, 1908, and separated October 17, 1921. A property settlement was reached out of court.

Woman Opposes Paths, Benches in City Hall Plaza

As one of the items in an argument for and against benches in the city hall plaza, Mayor Davie today showed a letter from a women resident who asserts that the establishment of paths and benches would only invite "gentlemen of the leisure class" to hang around as "decorations" for the downtown city. Mayor Davie says he is rather against the idea of paths and benches, as suggested recently by the Merchants' Exchange.

The letter to the mayor, with the signature deleted, is as follows:

"Dear Sir: I am herewith enclosing a clipping from The OAKLAND TRIBUNE of May 23. I am surprised that a body of men such as the Merchants' Exchange is composed of should advocate the transfer of our city hall plaza from a most beautiful spot to a place for all the bums and I. W. W. and agitators to congregate, and make it not fit for a decent woman to pass.

"Years ago it was just the kind of place that I have just mentioned, and it was transferred into this spot of beauty simply to get rid of what they now propose to make it again.

"I have been a resident of this city for 39 years and know what ... doubts my idea just tell them to take a trip to Los Angeles, and go to the center of the city and see what Pershing Square is, not fit for any respectable woman to sit in fifteen minutes day or night; the same thing exists in San Diego, the square opposite the Grant Hotel, simply a disgrace, and now they propose to uproot all of our nice lawn and flowers to make paths and put seats.

"I am asking, for whom are the seats?

"In closing, I must ask you and the honorable city commissioners, could you recommend such a change?"

Building Proceeds Despite Protest

BERKELEY, May 28.—Protest of the neighbors against the erection of a $20,000 colored Masonic clubhouse on lower University avenue is expected to cause further discussion tonight at the meeting of the city planning commission. Five hundred signers of a petition asking for a reclassification are to appear at the meeting under the leadership of Attorney Frank V. Cornish.

Despite the opposition of the local residents, construction work on the building, which began immediately after the issuance of a building permit a week ago, was under way today. The petition was presented to the city council Friday, when it was referred to the city planning commission. It asks for the reclassification of the property on both sides of University avenue from McGee street to California street. The property is now in Class V, and the petitioners ask that it be placed in Class I under the city zoning ordinance, which ...

Capwell Employees Enjoy Day's Cruise on Bay

CAPWELL STORE'S EMPLOYEES ENJOY PICNIC ON SHIP

New Electrical Ferryboat Hayward Chartered for Outing On Bay.

Employees of the H. C. Capwell Company were guests of the firm yesterday on the new electrically-driven ferryboat Hayward, which has been recently brought from San Pedro under its own steam for service between Oakland and San Francisco.

The boat was chartered for the day and a crowd of 600 employees and guests boarded a special Key Route train at 10:30 a. m. at Twenty-fourth street and Telegraph avenue and were taken to the mole, where the Hayward waited in command of Captain Rasmussen.

The boat made the round trip of the bay, taking in Hunter's Point, the San Francisco side, Presidio, Belvedere, Sausalito and San Pablo bay. She returned and docked at 5 o'clock. A picnic lunch was served on board the boat and the guests were entertained by a program of stunts.

of holding any position of similar religious importance. Following his exposure he disappeared and nothing more was heard of him until today when a further chapter, according to the firm conviction of local Jewish leaders, was added to his strange career with his arrival in Oakland.

RABBIS UNIMPRESSED BY MAN'S DENIALS.

Rabbi Coffee stated today that when he confronted the suspected man with the evidence of his identity, he denied vigorously that he was Judah Tillinger.

"He showed me a peddler's license from Atlanta, Ga.," said Rabbi Coffee, "and pretended to be an uneducated type of man. But occasionally he would forget himself and would let fall veritable pearls of wisdom from the Talmud and other religious works, showing his profound knowledge.

"A careful questioning satisfied other rabbis of the Bay district and myself as well, that this man is Judah Tillinger, who will go down in Jewish history as one of the worst renegades the Hebrew faith has ever known."

ISLAND ABODE DELAYS DIVORCE

Myrtle E. Grinler of Oakland today won a divorce decree from Louis A. Grinler, employee of the United States lighthouse department, stationed on the Farallone islands, as the first of three decrees granted by Superior Judge Harris. Mrs. Grinler testified that on one occasion while she was holding her baby in her arms her husband threw a picture at her, the wooden frame narrowly missing both her and her child.

Attorney E. J. Silver told Judge Harris that because of the refusal of the government to allow process servers to visit the island many months were consumed before summons could be served. It was necessary to wait for Grinler to ... before service could be secured.

Alfred A. Olmstead, the second ... told Judge Harris that he had watched his wife leave their home surreptitiously late at night and that she remained away from their home during that entire night.

Olmstead said that when he asked his wife where she had been her only reply was, "Who wants to know?"

Water Works Asks To Sell 2302 Shares

SAN JOSE, May 28.—The San Jose Water Works has applied to the State railroad commission for permission to issue and sell 2302 shares of capital stock at not less than $100 a share. The purpose of the sale of stock is to refund outstanding indebtedness.

Mills College Drive Begins To Complete $650,000 Fund

FIRED with the determination to "finish the job," and to raise the $42,000 which Mills College must add to the $608,000 already raised, in order that the College may win the $350,000 prize of the General Education Board of New York, the friends and well-wishers of the famous Oakland institution of learning are campaigning with spirit and enthusiasm. The plan of campaign being followed, is to call on all those who were overlooked in the earlier days of the campaign.

"Of course we will raise the money," said a member of the executive committee." It is unthinkable that we should fail. The San Francisco committee has undertaken to raise $25,000, leaving $17,000 for the Eastbay to contribute. We have already raised $608,000, but the General Education Board's gift of $350,000 is conditional on Mills College raising $650,000. So we are only $42,000 short — and we intend to move heaven and earth to raise that also, in order that the great prize may not slip through our fingers, through the lack of such a comparatively small amount, at the eleventh hour."

The money must be raised this week, it is announced, so the campaigners are busy day and night.

PHYSICIANS CURB SUZANNE'S TENNIS

PARIS, May 28.—(By The Associated Press).—Suzanne Lenglen, the French tennis star, who collapsed yesterday at St. Cloud during the finals of the hard court championships, was examined today by heart and lung specialists. They found the collapse was due to over-exertion and excitement and told her she must avoid over-strenuous play at tennis in the future. It is thought that she will compete at Wimbledon, but in the singles only.

Her over-exertion yesterday came through participating in three finals. She characterized her playing in three finals in one day as a "silly stunt" and added "never again."

William M. Johnston, San Francisco, defeated J. Washer, of Belgium, in the final round for the men's singles championship.

In the women's doubles, Miss McKane and Mrs. Beamish, England, won from Mlle. Lenglen and Mme. Golding, 6-2, 6-3, while in the doubles M. Cochet and Mlle. Lenglen defeated J. B. Gilbert and Miss McKane, 6-2, 10-8.

Mlle. Lenglen collapsed after the last set in the women's doubles, in which she and her partner went down to defeat before Miss McKane and Mrs. Beamish.

"I simply can't do it," said Mlle. Lenglen, as Mrs. Beamish's last placement shot for the final point sailed just outside her reach without the champion having made any attempt to return it.

ABATEMENT SUITS CLOSE UP TWO

Two Oakland places of business were ordered closed for one year today by Federal Judge John Partridge, following the institution of liquor abatement proceedings. They were: The restaurant at 517 Eleventh street, conducted by Jack Barlascini, Paul Bianco and Tony Besco, the owner being Mrs. E. I. Russell; and the premises at 7 San Pablo avenue, El Cerrito, conducted by Sam Fisher and Manuel Borba. Repeated violations of the Volstead act are charged.

Saratoga Men Will Help Boy Scouts

SARATOGA, May 28.—The Saratoga Men's club will give a vaudeville show at the Foothill clubhouse on June 8 for the benefit of the local boys who plan to attend the coming summer camp of the Boy Scouts. Col. R. N. Hayden, is the active spirit behind the affair, and has a splendid program lined up for the occasion. The men will produce a skit, present musical numbers, a little blackface comedy, an original monologue and will feature the Men's club quartet, composed of Messrs. Houghton, Emrich, Hunt and Hayden.

Last Carmel Indian Is Held For Felony

SALINAS, May 28.—Arraigned in the Superior Court on a felony charge, Joe Onessimo, said to be the last living member of the tribe of Carmel Indians, has been given until next Thursday to plead. Wives of Carmel Valley ranchers complained several weeks ago of the young Indian's actions. Sheriff W. A. Oyer trailed Onessimo a day and a night over the rugged Carmel mountains before capturing him.

EXTENSION OF 2 YEARS IS VOTED ON PARR LEASE

City Council Reserves Right to Order Construction of Bunkers.

The city council this morning voted to grant another two-year extension of the Parr lease, although certain improvements, promised by Parr under the terms of the lease, have not been complied with. Parr was to have built a certain lot of coal bunkers and other structures. These have not been built, and Parr asked that he be given two years more, as he was two years ago.

The council, in giving the extension, agreed that the council may order the construction at any time, the plans to be made in ninety days after notice and the construction to be finished in one year.

Commissioner Carter said that the coal bunkers are not particularly desired on the western front anyhow, and that these clauses in the lease can be postponed from time to time.

The council passed to print an ordinance declaring parts of the Park Boulevard district a single family residence zone. At the suggestion of the Rockridge Improvement Club, the council also decided to cancel the moving-permit of a housemover operating on Harwood avenue, alleged to be cutting trees to make room for the passage of the house.

Several appropriations were made by resolution. The sum of $300 was given to the veterans' organizations for the Memorial Day celebration; the Greeters of America were given $400 toward the convention here June 19-21; and $400 was appropriated to send Secretary C. C. DeWolf of the Oakland Civil Service convention in New York, June 18-22.

Hundred Dancers Will Participate

A contest between Miss Pauline Gaul of San Francisco and Anna Daley of Oakland for the Gaelic dancing championship will be the feature of the Gaelic festival to be held next Sunday at Shellmound park under the direction of the Knights of the Red Branch. More than 100 dancers will participate in the contest, but Miss Gaul and Miss Daley are the acknowledged favorites.

The athletic part of the program has been given over as a memorial to the late Frank Foster, coach of the Olympic club, who managed the athletic program of this annual celebration for 17 years.

At the Local Playhouses

AMERICAN

"Grumpy," the refreshing picturization of Cyril Maude's celebrated drama, continues to attract crowds during its second week at the American theater. No picture of the year has provided a better combination of thrills and laughs. Theodore Roberts, who has the title role, contributes one of the finest characterizations ever given the screen.

Theodore Roberts has the role of Andrew Bullivant, an irascible but big-hearted old man whose moods and manners earned for him the nickname of "Grumpy." He favors the marriage of his winsome granddaughter, Virginia, to Ernest Heron, particularly so since Heron has proved himself worthy.

It then happens that Ernest is intrusted with a valuable diamond by his employers which is stolen from him at Grumpy's home. Suspicion fell upon Heron and the real thief felt secure in accomplishing a dual mission of not only gaining Virginia for himself but of obtaining the profits from the sale of the stolen gem. He forgot about Grumpy who then swings into action, following clew after clew.

Other film features and the concert by Owen Sweeten and his orchestra are added attractions of the current American bill.

CENTURY

Delicious comedy of the domestic sort is offered by Jack Russell and his company of thirty entertainers at the Oakland Century theater in "Whose Girl Are You?" Russell's latest venture into the field of musical farce comedy.

Russell, as usual, plays the chief comedy role in the vehicle, that of the sponging brother of a rich man. Arthur Van Slyke, who is seen in the role of the rich man, amasses a considerable fortune and immediately all his poor relations flock to his home and allow him to support them.

He suddenly realizes that unless he stops their extravagance and waste quickly he will be haled into a bankruptcy court. Being too tender hearted to lay down the law himself, he goes on a long trip to the Bahama Islands and placed his young and competent business manager in charge.

In the prominent roles are seen all of the principals of the company. They are Jackie Brunea and Evelyn D Frain as the daughters, Florence Spurrier as the sister, James G. Edwards as the husband ...

Musical specialties are offered in connection with the vehicle by the soloists of the company, including Miss Du Frain, Babe La Rue, Millie Pedro, Spencer, Russell, and Jackie Brunea. The Golden Gate Four offer another group of harmony selections.

NEW BROADWAY

Reginald Baker's latest production, "Hearts Aflame," was seen for the first time yesterday at the New Broadway theatre where it more than lived up to the unusually high hopes entertained for it. It proved to be a thrilling photoplay, telling a good story, and with episodes that should be remembered for a long time by those who see it.

The big thing is the amazing forest fire. Nothing of its kind has ever been done before; it stands alone as an example of remarkable directorial craft as well as superlative photography.

T. and D.

What a busy place Hollywood is, and what a busy lot the celebrities who live and work there are, is disclosed in Rupert Hughes film play, "Souls For Sale," at the T. & D. theater. This is one of the surprises of the season, and all those who have so recently scorned the motion picture colony should see it in its true light as Hughes has pictured it.

The usual star casts is put to shame by this lengthy cast of screen and stage luminaries which includes: Barbara La Marr, Lew Cody, Mae Busch, Aileen Pringle, Frank Mayo, Richard Dix, Eric von Stroheim, Fred Niblo, Eleanor Boardman, Marshall Neilan, Jean Hersholt, Raymond Griffith, Hobart Bosworth, Charles Chaplin and a host of others.

Besides Roy Smoot, the popular tenor and Wolohan's Californians, the new management has added George Dewey Washington, a baritone, to the concert.

PANTAGES

There is a diversity of interest to the excellent bill of entertainment offered at the Pantages theater this week that should appeal to all tastes. "Honeymoon Ship" heads the regular program of vaudeville, with "Notoriety," the famous photo-drama as the feature offering in this division of the entertainment.

In "Honeymoon Ship," Joseph Herbert, Jr., and a talented company of co-workers, offer an entertainment that is well conceived and admirably executed throughout. "Browndberbyville," offered by Princeton and Vernon, supplied plenty of laughs with new material, and Phil La Tosca scored his usual emphatic success. Sid Gold and Brother presented an offering that was more than well liked, and Three Pasquali Brothers, in their difficult routine of acrobatic work, furnished the thrills and suspense for the new week. Texie, the educated canine, is a revelation in what can be accomplished by a trainer.

Featuring Mary Alden, who created one of filmdom's most famous portrayals as the mother in "The Old Nest," "Notoriety" ranks as the finest film offering that has been presented at Pantages.

NEW PIEDMONT

The screen adaptation of the famous stage play, "The Little Church Around the Corner," in which Claire Windsor, Harry Myers, Hobart Bosworth and Kenneth Harlan play the leading roles, opened a two day engagement at the New Piedmont theater yesterday. On the same program Larry Semon in "The Counter Jumper," and "Kinogram" news were also shown. This show closes tonight ata the Piedmont. Starting Tuesday, H. A. Snow's pictures, "Hunting Big Game in Africa with Gun and Camera," will be the attraction for three days. These pictures need no introduction to the people of the bay regions. They are without doubt the finest collection of motion pictures on this subject. On the same program Lige Conley appears in a rapid fire comedy entitled "Danger," and Mischa Gluschkin, noted Russian violinist, appears offering several violin selections.

CHIMES

Today and tomorrow will be the last showings of Wesley Barry in "Heroes of the Street," and Douglas MacLean in "Bellboy 13." He roes of the street is full of action, thrills, pathos, adventure and sparkling comedy skilfully interwoven in a delightful story of the freckled-faced Wesley Barry. "Bellboy 13" with Douglas MacLean is said to be even better than his "Twenty-three and a half Hours Leave." It is the fast moving comedy of a green bellboy, an actress and a misunderstanding uncle. Wednesday, May 30, begins a four-day engagement of "When Knighthood Was In Flower" with Marion Davies.

ORPHEUM

Crowds yesterday welcomed the new week's bill which marked the start of the extended summer season. The feature of the bill was Frank McIntyre in "Wednesday at the Ritz," a farce that proved even more amusing and entertaining than his previous success, "The Traveling Salesman."

The other acts were good and there was particular interest in the great photo drama "Crinoline and Romance," featuring Viola Dana. This elaborate cinema drama tells the story of a southern belle and what happens when she leaves the ... southern home to learn what the world is like.

An elaborate musical act, "Fireside Reveries," was presented by Georges Simondet and Elfrieda Wynn, supported by a sextet of remarkably talented musicians.

Other acts were Frank Whitman, eccentric fiddler; Bert and Hazel Skatelle, in unusual dance steps, Hughes and De Brow, "the boys with the blues," and the Sylvester Family, featuring little Baby Katherine.

The Orpheum management announced that there is no immediate intention of closing the local theater, as the interest of the public in the show is being maintained each week.

STATE

There were three men and girl, all loved her. One was a failure; one was a success; the third only thought he was. This may not sound very interesting but this situation has been developed into one of the most delightful comedy dramas of the season showing at the State theater. The production is by Tom Forman and entitled "Are You a Failure?" with a brilliant cast headed by Madge Bellamy and Lloyd Hughes.

The vaudeville too, is more than ... real entertainment. The American Opera Quartet is there for a return ... Buckskin's Frontier Days serves to introduce some splendid trained horses, dogs and a very funny trick mule. Arch Woody is known as the boy different in something unusual. Courtney and Graham, known as "That Peppy Pair," offer snappy songs and dances and Armand and Perez are athletes who thrill.

FRANKLIN

... sixty-ton monster, and the capture of the whale is but one of the thrilling scenes in "All The Brothers Were Valiant," at the Franklin. The story deals with two brothers, both captains of big whaling schooners, who fight each other for a fortune in pearls, which one of them has hidden. The oldest incites his brother's crew to mutiny and a terrific struggle ensues on board for supremacy, finally quelled by the two brothers who, forgetting their differences, unite in a supreme struggle to regain the boat. A love story is interwoven in this exciting tale of the seas. Lon Chaney, Billie Dove and Malcolm McGregor have the leading roles.

A Snub Pollard comedy, "Hook, Line and Sinker," the News Weekly and John Wharry Lewis and his soloists complete the program.

Pharaoh's Frolics Will Open Tonight

With a program calling for continuous attractions from 8 o'clock to 11, Pharaoh's Frolics, the Alameda Sciots show, will open at Cottage Baths Beach this evening. The event will be formally ushered in with a band concert with eight bands representing the Sciot and De Molay orders on both sides of the bay participating.

Among the big feature acts will be a bathing girl revue, the Pharaoh's Frolic Jazz Girls; Evelyn Cavaganaro, an acrobatic dancer; Merle Floyd and Edith Belser, sopranos; Bobby Beck, in a sixty-five foot dive; Lester Josephs, sensational fire diver; canoe tilting contests, tub races and games.

Twenty-five thousand electric lights with twenty-four big flood lights will be used to illuminate the beach. The affair is being held for the purpose of raising funds to finance the trip of the ...

GIANTS AND YANKEES CONTINUE TO RUN AWAY FROM OPPOSITION

Grist from the Sport Mill

BY BOB SHAND

Promoter Tommy Simpson tried hard to land up a pair of champs or near-champs for his main event tomorrow night, but the little red-head couldn't make the right connections. As a last resort Tommy signed up fourteen battlers, fighters every one of them and he is anxious to find out what the clientele thinks about the matter. When a pair of charter members of the Main Event Society signed up the promoter did not have to worry much about the other bouts and a lot of birds who should have been outside found their names on the card. But with no real headliners for tomorrow night Simpson was up against something entirely new and he had to give at least a couple of thinks to every bout on the program.

Real Fighting Is Prospect Tomorrow.

The chances are there will be more real fighting tomorrow night than on occasions when champions decorated the top of the bill and the local fans prefer fighting to boxing. How often have the customers left the auditorium cussing the main eventers and warbling words of praise about a couple of preliminary boys who stood up and battled toe to toe? This occurs about every other show, but still past experience has proved that a certain element remains away from the hit-parties unless well known performers are billed for the last bout. Right now there are no real main events in sight and the expedient of staging seven bouts without a headline attraction will be watched with interest.

Dick Hoppe, who meets Teddy O'Hara in the final bout of the evening is the biggest card they have in San Francisco, but that does not mean a thing over here. Young Papke boxed main event after main event at Dreamland and lost a couple of preliminary bouts at the local club. Other top-notchers from the other side of Goat Island failed to get by here, so Simpson is not boosting Hoppe as a stellar attraction. But with O'Hara in the mood he was in last time he appeared here and Hoppe putting up his usual aggressive battle the fans should see some action. And perhaps they will be better pleased with this kind of fighting than they were with the science of Bert Colima. Colima gave the boys a treat but they didn't fall for his cleverness.

Heavyweights Will Box Special Event.

Something is liable to drop when George Lamson meets Truck Hannah. A knockout was expected last week when Lamson met Tommy Gardner, but the latter spoiled the match and the prospect by hanging on. Lamson is always willing to fight and take a chance and Hannah comes recommended as an aggressive fellow with a terrific punch in either hand. You can't tell anything about these heavyweights but if they fight to form the arithmetic class will get into action. The Eddie Macey—Johnny Farr affair will bring together two real speed burners, while Young Brown and Louie Garcia will present the favorite sketch "Boxer vs. Fighter." Nobody ever accused Garcia of taking a chance as he depends on his skill, but Brown is a fighting fool who keeps tearing in all the time. Manuel Azevedo, who walloped Young Papke last week comes back for a joust with Billy Gordeau, conqueror of Frankie Thomas. The festivities take place Tuesday evening on account of Wednesday being a holiday.

Spider Kelly Leaves Lester With McGrath.

Spider Kelly has gone back to Arizona, but his young heavyweight, Pat Lester, remains in San Francisco un[illegible] Timothy Patrick McGrath. The Spider was not disappointed at the showing of his protege; that is, he did not express any disappointment when anyone was listening. No sooner had the Spider left the city than Lester was presented with a set of overalls by T. McGrath and he was given one of those jobs in Tim's provision house. McGrath does not think it right that a strong young man should idle away his [illegible] be a long time before Lester fights again. Tim thought packing heavy boxes would develop his muscles as well as punching a bag.

BLENKIRON MAKING GOOD.

Vern Blenkiron was pretty good in the Central League last year, but this season, with Bloomington in the Three-I, he is setting a pace that is nothing less than sensational. Being demoted doesn't seem to bother his spirit a bit. If he's not back in the Coast League before the season ends it won't be his fault.

PING BODIE'S WALLOP IN THE 14TH GIVES TIGERS VICTORY AND THE SERIES

Harry Krause Twirls Four-Hit Encounter to Beat Essick's Crew in Morning; Maderas Stars Around Third.

By MARTIN ROTKE.

Bill Essick's Vernon Tigers and Ivan Howard's Oaks played for "blood" yesterday afternoon on the Emeryville lot, after the local club took the forenoon contest, 7 to 2. The Bengals came out on the long end of a 5 to 3 count in the after-lunch combat, but it took them fourteen innings to accomplish the feat before a large crowd of excited fans and fannettes. Frank Pizzola, alias Ping Bodie, the slugging "youngster" from Cow Hollow, brought honors to himself and to the home town, by crashing one to the clubhouse in the fourteenth frame to score Locker and Smith with the winning tallies.

The morning fray was all Harry Krause. Oakland's star southpaw had everything on the ball and something more, and for eight rounds the Tigers kept swinging at the atmosphere and popping up to the infielders. Such heavy hitters as Smith, Bodie and Schneider looked practically helpless before Harry's left handed hooks and slants. In the ninth canto Krause loosened up, and the Bengals squeezed over two runs to save themselves from the w. k. goose-egg.

"Wild Bill" James worked on the mound for the losers, and got by fairly well for the first two frames, but in the third he uncorked his usual wild streak and the Acorns broke the ice with two markers. In the fifth Ewing's hired help score two more, and in the sixth Cather leaned on one of James' shoots for a home run to the soda water sign in centerfield.

Ping Bodie Tries Hand at Pitching.

"Wild Bill" spent the seventh under the showers, and in his place was none other than young Ping Bodie, who at one time aspired to be a chucker. The heavy hitting outfielder held the Oaks to infield taps in the seventh but in the eighth he was nicked for a tally on hits by McGaffigan and Cather. Ted's bingle was a terrific liner through the box that came near putting the Cow Hollow star to sleep.

Krause did not share all the honors of the Oakland victory. Al Maderas played a marvelous game around the third sack, robbing three or four Bengals out of legitimate base-hits. In the sixth Maderas made a dandy stop of Smith's grounder and threw him out at first and in the seventh he robbed Hannah out of a bingle by knocking down "Truck's" hard hit roller.

In the afternoon with the sun beaming down upon the assemblage, and Carl Sawyer acting like a young colt, the two teams put up a tilt that was worth going miles to see. "The Great" Mails opened up for the Acorns, and Elmer Reiger did the honors for Vernon, but both failed to last the full route. Walter stuck it out for nine full rounds, and Essick yanked Reiger in the thirteenth when it looked like the Oaks were going to pull the fray out of the fire. Broad shouldered Jakey May stepped to the hilltop and saved the game for the Bengal tribe.

Schneider Hits One To Score a Tally.

Gorman opened the battle by clicking Mail's second pitched ball for a single and [illegible] as sacrificed to second by Chadbourne. Locker, who replaced Red Murphy at first, flew out, but Schneider scored Gorman with a one ply [illegible] to left field. "Red" Smith followed suit to right, but Wilie uncorked a pretty throw and Pete, the fence-buster, was caught trying to make third.

McGaffigan led off with a bingle in Oakland's half of the first, but no one could bring him around. Johnson accomplished the same in the second, but Maderas forced him out and a moment later was [illegible]. In the third stanza both teams went out in rapid succession, but in the fourth the Ewingites forged into the lead with two tallies.

Cather and Lafayette drove out singles, Baker laid down a sacrifice, and Johnson doubled to score Cather and Lafayette. Maderas popped out and Smith flew to Schneider to end the inning. Rader's single, a scoring drive through the box, Reiger's sacrifice, and Chadbourne's two-bagger gave the Southerners a run to knot the count in the fifth.

Smith crashed out a two bagger in Vernon's half of the sixth, but was left stranded there when Bodie, Murphy and Rader were easy outs. In the seventh Maderas saved the game for Oakland by tossing Reiger out at the plate after making a pretty stop of Locker's hard hit grounder. Reiger was on third at the time, as a result of a walk, Gorman's sacrifice, and Chadbourne's one-cushion drive to left.

Smith Fails to Come Through in the Pinch.

The Oaks had a good chance to score in their half of the seventh, but Smith could not come through with the necessary bingle. Johnson led off with a single, stole second and scampered to third on Maderas' sacrifice. Smith bounced one to Reiger, who caught Johnson between third and home. Mails followed with a single to right, but McGaffigan went out via Reiger to Locker.

In the ninth round both teams tallied once and excitement reigned supreme. After Rader fanned in Vernon's turn at bat, Reiger walked for the second time, stole second and scored when Gorman drove out a three-bagger over Johnson's cranium. "Scrap-iron" attempted to make a homer on the drive, and when he tore for the plate, he leaped at Baker and spiked him, but Del held onto the apple and Gorman was called out. It appeared as if a battle would ensue between the two players, but it was narrowly averted when Umpire "Beans" Reardon separated the two a la referee style.

Cooper Scores On Clever Squeeze Play.

Baker brought the fans to their feet in Oakland's half of the ninth, when he singled to left field. Cooper ran for Baker, and when Smith threw Johnson's attempted sacrifice into centerfield Cooper took third and "Ossie" traveled to second. Knight batted for Maderas and whiffed, but on a perfectly executed squeeze play Cooper scored, when Brubaker, who batted for Smith, laid one down in front of the pan.

Kremer went to work in the tenth and walked Locker and Smith, but Bodie hit into a double play to end the inning. For three frames both twirlers chucked high class ball, but in the thirteenth Essick rushed May to the knoll in time to save the Tiger hide. Cather started festivities with a double to left, and when LaFayette laid down a sacrifice, Reiger was taken out in favor of the small, but powerful Jakey. With Thomas at bat, Howard called for a squeeze play, but it failed to materialize and Cather was nabbed between third and home.

Ping Bodie Wins Game for Tigers.

In the fourteenth after Chadbourne went out, Locker was safe at first on Knight's fumble, High flew out, and Smith singled, sending Locker to second; Bodie, who looked extremely weak against the pitching of Mails, walked to the pan, selected one of Kremer's fast ones and drove it over Johnson's head to the clubhouse. Locker and Smith scored on the drive, but Pingus attempted to stretch the wallop into a homer and [illegible] at the plate.

Knight came through with a hit in Oakland's half of the same frame, but May had his flipper working in great shape, and after Chavez forced Knight at second, Kremer lifted a fly to High to end the ball game.

The scores:

Shelby Reports $400,000 Advance Sale of Tickets

SHELBY, Mont., May 28.—With the arrival of Tommy Gibbons here this week to start his training for his fight with Jack Dempsey on July 4, Shelby will get its first real martial atmosphere.

Work on the arena is progressing rapidly and the advance sale of tickets continues beyond expectations. The promoters estimated today $400,000 worth of orders have been placed on file and that from $5000 to $10,000 worth are coming in daily.

Feeling that the Dempsey-Gibbons fight is now sure of being a tremendous success in every way, prominent business men in this section are planning to make such an offer for the proposed Dempsey-Wills fight on Labor Day that no eastern promoters will be able to better it.

Jimmy Welsh, Oakland kid, hit a home run with the bases full and thereby won the first game from Sacramento for the Indians, Sammy Crane was Seattle's other batting star.

No less than 14,000 sorrowful fans saw the Seraphs lose the second game of the double-header, 7 to 3, to San Francisco at Los Angeles. Manager Marty Krug of the Angels and First Baseman Ellison, staged a pantomime fist fight.

Agnew's home run helped to break the hearts of the Angels in the first game. Winning the first one, 10 to 3, and topping off with the second, 7 to 3, the Seals made it five out of seven.

Not often is a manager a hero in the eyes of his own men, but pitcher-pilot Middleton of the Beavers gave his own men the thrills by a circuit clout in the fourth. It was mostly sunshine for the Portlands and showers for the Salt Lakes.

Valla's six hits only strengthened the determination of major league scouts to steal the Italian speed boy away from the Seals. His all-around hitting and fielding was one of the features of the San Francisco-Los Angeles series.

Portland has a reputation of playing 50 per cent better ball on their own diamond than they do away from home. Defeating the Salt Lake Bees five games out of seven might have been due to the encouragement of the home crowd.

Three of four clubs won both games. The Oaks and Tigers were the only clubs in the league to split.

With the count 4 to 2 against them, the Sacramentos made their last desperate stand against the Indians today. Seattle had captured the series before the postponed game was played.

"What's the matter with the Seattle club" was the cry of the Washington fans before the Sacramento series. Now they are wondering what's the matter with the Senators? The Seattles have been hitting the ball savagely and fielding like champions.

The Seals open a nine-game series on their own diamond tomorrow. After today's postponed game with Vernon, the Seals play a regular series with the Oaks. Included on the bill are double-headers on Wednesday and Sunday.

In all games played in the Coast League yesterday, the winners were the teams that made the most hits. Solid swats did the business.

Both games yesterday on the local lot were well attended considering the fact that the Oaks are not among the leaders. In the afternoon encounter the fans just about packed the grandstand to capacity.

Carl Sawyer wasn't as comical as usual, but he gave the fans something to laugh at just before the start of the second game, when he staged some fancy stunts around the first sack. Sawyer is worth having on a ball team, even though he doesn't take an active part in every game.

Al Maderas played great ball around the third cushion in both games. His fielding was high class and his throwing to the bases couldn't have been any more perfect. In the forenoon game he robbed "Red" Smith of a hit in the sixth canto, and in the seventh he turned around and pulled the same stunt on Harry Hannah.

Cather's home run in the sixth inning of the first game was a terrific line drive to the soda water sign in centerfield.

In the following frame Cather backed up against the left field fence to catch Bodie's long fly.

Just before the start of the second game, Mails received a big hand from the fans when he made his appearance before the Oak dug-out.

Don Rader slapped one over the pitcher's box in the fifth inning of the afternoon game that came near knocking Mail's head off.

Dennie Wilie played good ball in the afternoon fray. In the first inning he made a perfect throw to nip Schneider at third and in the fifth he robbed Pete of a base hit with two men on the paths when he ran back of second to gobble up the heavy hitter's short fly.

Maderas made two nice stops in the second game to rob Bodie and Locker of base hits. In the fourth inning he made a pretty pick-up of Bodie's grounder and in the seventh he saved the game for Oakland by tossing Reiger out at the plate on Locker's hot grounder.

Dan Murphy got too personal with Umpire Finney in the ninth inning of the second game and was sent to the clubhouse. Hannah finished the game behind the log.

Valla Gets More Than His Share of Hits in the South.

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—San Francisco defeated Los Angeles here yesterday in two frays, the first 10 to 3 and the second 7 to 3. Ernie Alten worked the morning encounter for the Seals and, although nicked for ten bingles, kept them well scattered, while Hughes and Hanna were bumped for fifteen. Gene Valla and Pete Compton made three hits apiece in the forenoon tilt. Sam Agnew's homer in the sixth spasm with the bags loaded won the first for the Seals, while Geary outpitched Ponder in the second.

Dodgers Are Ascending in The National

CHICAGO, May 28.—(By The Associated Press.) — With the hitherto moribund Philadelphia Athletics taking a Sabbath rest, the baseball spotlight has been switched, temporarily, from the American League to the National, to be focused on the once lowly Brooklyn Dodgers, who today meet the hard hitting world champion Giants. By defeating the sixth place Boston Braves yesterday, 6 to 5, the Dodgers clambered to a tie for third position when the Chicago Cubs tumbled before the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4 to 2.

The Giants had an easy time with the Phillies, smothering them 12 to 4, under 17 hits. One of them was a homer by Jimmy O'Connell, for whom the world leaders gave San Francisco $75,000 that he might decorate centerfield.

The venerable Luque pitched the Cincinnati Reds to victory over the St. Louis Cardinals, after six straight defeats, 2 to 1.

In the American League, the snappy Yankees overwhelmed Washington, 8 to 1.

Ty Cobb's Detroit Tigers got a notch closer to the third place Cleveland Indians by defeating Chicago, 6 to 0. The Indians lost no ground for they whipped the St Louis Browns, 6 to 2.

Volleyball Being Played at Local Industrial Plants

C. F. Stickney Goes Into Tennis Finals

In the Berkeley Tennis club's championship tournament, C. F. Stickney defeated Roger Rhodes, 8-6, 6-3, and went into the final round of the upper half. On account of members playing in the Central California tourney at Sacramento, no other matches were played. Ward Dawson is to play William Whelan and the winner is to meet Stickney in the upper half. Edward Chandler is the finalist in the lower half.

Hoover Will Risk Skulling Title

DULUTH, Minn. — Walter M. Hoover, world amateur singles sculling champion, announced that the Minnesota Boat club of St. Paul had approved his suggestion that he defend the Philadelphia gold challenge cup, emblematic of the world's title, in a race with Paul Costello of Philadelphia, national champion, at St. Paul, June 8. The proceeds of the race, which would take place on the Mississippi river, would go toward a rowing fund for the University of Minnesota, which has made rowing a major sport this year.

MITCHELL RECUPERATING.

Oliver Mitchell, Seal pitcher, watched the local game from the grandstand yesterday. He is recovering from an attack of tonsilitis and expects to work against the Oaks next week.

Tank Records Are Smashed in Hawaii

HONOLULU, T. H., May 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Mariechen Wehselau broke the 100-yard open tank world's swimming record here yesterday in the annual Hawaiian swimming meet. She covered the distance in 1:03. The former record was 1:03.4, made by Ethelda Bleibtrey in 1921.

The Outrigger club girls' relay team broke its own American record for the 200 yards, by covering the distance in 1:59.4 seconds. The team comprises: Ruth Scudder, Lillie Bowmer, Helen Moses and Mariechen Wehselau. The former record, held by the same team, was 2:1.2, made in 1921.

Carp Must Fight Siki for Science

Unless Georges Carpentier adheres to his agreement to fight Battling Siki for the benefit of the French Scientific Laboratories, he may not be allowed to box in France, that county's boxing federation has announced. After he had lost his light-heavyweight championship to the Senegalese, Carp publicly stated he would never fight again until he had beaten Siki in a bout whose proceeds were to benefit French science. Indians Come to Life And Senators Lose 2

SEATTLE, May 28.—The Seattle Indians came to life here yesterday and won both games of a doubleheader from the Sacramento Senators, the first by a mark of 6 to 4 and the second 7 to 4. "Lefty" Burger twirled the first one and was nicked for eight scattered bingles, while Harry Gardner allowed the same number in the second. Long Tom Hughes was pounded for thirteen smacks in the second encounter.

Kansas "U" Will Open Grid School

LAWRENCE, Kan.—A coaching school open to men and women, offering more than a dozen courses and with a staff of seven instructors has been announced for the University of Kansas summer session, June 11 to July 20, by Dr. F. C. Allen, director of athletics. The head coaches of all sports at the University will be on the instruction staff. Dr. Allen will instruct on basketball and the officiating of major games: George "Potsy" Clark, football and baseball; Karl Schlademan, track and general high school athletics; G. B. Patrick, wrestling and gymnastics; John Bunn, freshman coach, assistant in courses on baseball, football and basketball.

The courses for women, which have been added this year, will be conducted by two Universities of Illinois graduates, Miss Margaret Barto for gymnastics and dancing, and Miss Ruth Hoover for swimming and life saving.

Your blood changes in the Spring. Why?

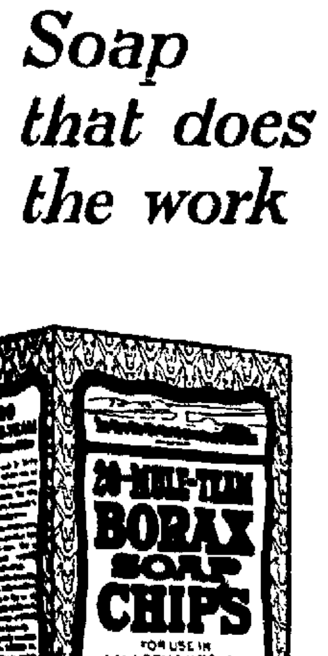

YOUR blood is thicker and more sluggish in Winter than in Summer—it has to be to keep you warm. Then comes warmer days and lighter clothes. Your blood, still thick and heavy-laden, is slow to throw off its impurities. What happens? The impurities crowd out through the skin—boils and pimples appear—you feel sluggish and tired! The remedy for this condition is S. S. S. It is the ideal blood purifier, because the medicinal properties are purely vegetable. [illegible]

S. S. S. has given new, long-forgotten strength to older people and has made many old and young people look years younger. Indians Are Keen to See Big Battlers

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 28. Blackfoot Indians, living on a reservation near Shelby, today demanded that they be allowed to attend the coming Dempsey-Gibbons fight.

Meeting in a mammoth pow-wow, especially to discuss the big holiday event, the Redmen voted unanimously that they wished to see the heavyweights clash.

If they are granted permission, the Indians, several hundred strong, will attend the event in a body, together with their families, it was decided.

F. C. Campbell, superintendent of reservation, said he would ask Washington officials to permit the Blackfoots to witness the contest.

Gibbons Makes A Big Hit With Montana Sports

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 28.—(International News Service.)—Six Montana towns more than exerted themselves in greeting Tommy Gibbons, challenger for the heavyweight title in his clever campaign to become better acquainted with the hospitable westerners. Bands, banquets and crowded houses greeted Gibbons everywhere. While greatly pleased with the wonderful receptions accorded him, the challenger admitted that it was too much for him and quietly slipped away early Sunday night for a much needed rest. Gibbons now weighs 182 pounds and Tuesday will view for the first time the scene of his titular conflict with Jack Dempsey, present titleholder in the heavyweight division.

Sunday afternoon, Dempsey increased his sparring to ten rounds. In his bout with Wells, the champion speeded up a bit toward the end of the session and with a right to the jaw sent his opponent sprawling.

Starting this morning, Dempsey will loaf for a week or ten days, spending his time in the mountains luring the wily trout to his basket.

Chandler, of Berkeley, Is Net Winner

"Unknown" Takes Weinstein Into Camp in Consolation Singles.

SACRAMENTO, May 28.—Peck Griffin, San Francisco, is the men's single tennis champion of Central California. Griffin won the title yesterday by defeating Wallace Bates, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4, in three straight sets.

E. Chandler, a Berkeley player, who came to the tournament unheralded, won the men's consolation singles by defeating Irving Weinstein of San Francisco, 13-11, 0-6, 6-2, in a bitterly contested match.

Wallace Bates and Phil Bettens defeated Morgan Fottrell and Homer Levison and won the men's double championship in straight sets, 8-6, 6-2. Tennis sharps favored the losers to win. Their defeat was one of the upsets of the tournament.

Bates defeated Fotrell, 6-1, 6-2.

Miss Avery Follet of San Francisco won the woman's singles title, defeating Mrs. Ream Leachman of Vallejo, 6-3, 6-3.

Miss R. Brunn and H. Suhr defeated Mrs. Leachman and Weinstein, default.

Miss Murphy and Oehler defeated Miss Swartz and Mays, 6-4, 2-6, and 6-2.

Miss Therne and Brown defeated Miss Brieger and Stauff, 7-5, 4-6, 6-2.

Miss Allen and Simon defeated Miss Thorne and Brown, 6-3, 6-2.

Miss Brunn and Suhr defeated Miss Murphy and Oehler, 2-6, 8-6, 6-2.

Finals of the mixed doubles match will be played in San Francisco.

Beavers Take Two From Salt Lake Bees

PORTLAND, May 28.—The Beavers played good, consistent ball in the field and at bat here yesterday, and took two frays from the Bees. Rain brought the first game to a close in the eighth round but showers cleared away just in time to play off the second tilt. In the morning game the score seesawed back and forth, with both clubs using two chuckers. Portland scored four in the fifth, to win the contest by a tally of 7 to 6. High, King, Jones and Kearns made three hits apiece in the first game.

Mike Hadden Is Winner at Sequoyah Club

M. R. Johnson almost caused a surprise in the championship tournament of the Sequoyah club yesterday when he lost by one stroke to the club champion, "Mike" Hadden. A birdie on the 17th decided the match in favor of the titleholder. Dr. C. H. Walter won his match from George Dow by default; C. R. Graham defeated Henry Crosby, four and two, while H. F. Droste won by default.

J. B. Lumgair reached the final round of the Walton N. Moore competition at the Claremont club yesterday when he defeated Herbert Cheek. Lumgair will meet either Frank Kales or "Bob" Fitzgerald in the final game Wednesday. The match will be over 36 holes. Kales shot a pretty 74 yesterday, playing with C. M. Putman, while President Fitzgerald scored an 80.

The results:

FIFTH ROUND.

Winner.

Pop Arlett Shuts Out Ukiah Hitters

HEALDSBURG, May 28.—[illegible] the pitching of Pop Arlett, who struck out thirteen batsmen and held his opponents to one hit, Healdsburg defeated Ukiah 6 to 0 and claims the Northern California semi-pro baseball championship.

Healdsburg scored its six runs in the first inning. Score:

SACRAMENTO, May 28.—Riverside Athletic Club swimmers proved too strong for the boys from the Neptune Club of Alameda here yesterday afternoon, defeating the visitors in the first round for the championship of the central California swimming league by a score of 43 to 34.

Kelly Lehman of Sacramento was the star of the meet, winning easily by yards in both the 220-yard and the 440-yard swims, besides paddling a fast lap in the relay.

STOCKTON, May 28.—The [illegible] Fresno Natatorium Club mermen here yesterday in the opening meet of the Central California Swimming League, 47 to 30. With three first places—in the 220 and 440-yard free style events and in the 100-yard back stroke swim—Clyde Goldwater of Stockton was the star performer. Including the relay Stockton won first places in five of the nine events.

GIANTS CLEANED UP WITH STRAIGHT WINS

The Giants and Yanks continue on their upward climb in the National and American Leagues. The figures below show the progress made by each club during the past week, the figures including games of last Saturday. Yesterday the Giants walloped the Phillies 12-4, while the Yanks took the Senators into camp 8-1. The Giants lead the National with a percentage of .778, while Pittsburgh, the second club, is trailing with an even .600. Chicago and Brooklyn, tied for third, have a percentage of .500. The Yankees lead the American with a mark of .714. The Athletics, in second position, have a percentage of .594.

"Gloomy Gus" Quite A Golf Expert, Too

LOS ANGELES, May 28.—Elmer C. Henderson, football coach of the University of Southern California, surprised everyone, including himself, by winning the invitational golf tournament of the Brentwood Country Club here. Many of Southern California's best amateur players participated in the affair.

Jack Dempsey Handling His Mates Roughly

Champion Goes Ten Rounds With Sparring Partners; Goes Fishing Today.

GREAT FALLS, Mont., May 28.—Jack Dempsey confined his training at his camp here Sunday largely to making the little fellows among his sparring partners miss. In the speediest bout the champion has been seen in since he began training for his bout with Tommy Gibbons at Shelby, July 4, Billy Wells, English welterweight champion, set a furious pace through the two rounds he was in the ring with Dempsey, the champion using the welter's lightning speed to improve his own footwork and defense.

Dempsey once caught Wells on the jaw with a left uppercut and sprawled the Englishman on the canvas. He helped Wells to his feet and the battle went on with but a momentary intermission, and thereafter the champion made little or no effort to land on his opponent. He took all that Wells had to offer and brought cheers from the crowd by the frequency with which he made the English champion miss.

Dempsey's two rounds with Harry Drake, English heavyweight, were somewhat slower than on three previous days, as was also all of the champion's work with his heavy sparring partners.

A cold breeze took much of the snap out of the boxers, until Dempsey and Wells began their mill. Drake's nose was bleeding when he left the ring and Dempsey's underlip was running a trickle of blood that first showed when he was boxing with George Godfrey, the negro heavyweight.

Dempsey went ten rounds with his sparring partners, his longest session in the ring since he began training. His opponents were Godfrey, Drake, Frank Powers, New York welter; Jack Burke, Pittsburgh heavy, and Wells.

The champion showed no evidence of exhaustion when he waved in response to the crowd's cheering and ran for his shower. He will leave here today on a fishing trip of several days.

Must Find a Way to Defeat U. C. Athletes

PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—With the brawn athletes of the University of California speeding toward the Pacific Coast with the third successive intercollegiate championship trophy won here Saturday by their supremacy in the field events, the suggestion has been made that a new track event be added to the 1924 program, Lawson Robertson, coach of the Pennsylvania track team, said today.

"Either the 440-yard hurdles or a relay race," said Mr. Robertson, "has been suggested by Chairman Gustave Kirby of the advisory committee."

Alameda Elks Lose To Sacramento Bills

SACRAMENTO, May 28.—Sacramento Elks shut-out Alameda Elks, 1 to 0, in a brilliantly played twelve inning ball game here yesterday afternoon.

Wales, Alameda's crack pitcher, struck out thirteen batters, but the gods of baseball weren't with him.

Wien of Sacramento pitched mighty effective ball, too. He fanned ten men and was also helped out of holes by four fast double plays which abruptly ended Alameda's run scoring possibilities.

Short stop Martin's fielding misplay, the only one the Alamedans made, was responsible for the lone run of the game in the twelfth inning.

Harrigan's Hit Wins For Madera Ball Club

STOCKKTON, May 28.—Harrigan's single and Matteoni's error with two out and two on bases in the tenth inning enabled Madera to defeat Stockton yesterday 3 to 1. Carl Holling allowed only three hits but was given ragged support, as was Matt Wilds, who hurled for Stockton.

"Speed" Martin is out of the game with an infected foot.

Score—	R.	H.	E.
Madera	3	9	6
Stockton	1	3	4

Batteries—Holling and Spencer; Wilds and Battilana.

THE YOUNG GRADUATES.

Within a few days will arrive what, for some thousands of young persons in the Eastbay, is the most important occasion of the year. The high schools, intermediate high schools and grade schools will bestow diplomas or certificates upon eager and shining boys and girls who will take the honors as one seizes the ribbon in a relay race that he may carry it on to a greater distance and a better achievement.

Older men and women have the habit of poking a gentle fun at the youthful graduate. There are many stock jokes concerning the wise words which are spoken by the class orators and men say, with a pitying shake of their heads, that this finishing of a school course is not the end of work but the end of pleasure and a beginning of the daily task. And yet every man Jack of those who make comment is envious of the enthusiasm and blissful inexperience of these graduates.

Memories of commencement days abide in the hearts of most men and women and for many the grade and high school graduations have more attractions in retrospect than the more formal and mature ones of college days. Out of those memories, and at this season, it is in place to suggest a putting aside of the worldly and tolerant attitude of the oldster. These young people are to be helped and encouraged. They are living in their happiest days and are proving the qualities which will place them and distinguish them in later years. Their release from school into the various city activities means a gain in industry and exuberance which is not to be underestimated because it is an annual occurrence and, in the nature of things, is to be expected. The young graduates will have the well wishes of the whole community.

TURLOCK "CANTS" BLOOMING.

News from the cantaloupe center is good. In many of the fields the 1923 crop is in blossom. The sprawling vines which later will haul the cool and delicate tinted melons are carrying with them now in their slow progress on the top of the Turlock soil the flowering evidence of good harvests.

Not long ago there was an alarm sounded that the aphis was getting ready to attack the monarch of the breakfast table. The threatened plague was met and worsted on the instant [illegible] there will be no loss and that weather conditions are ideal for an early ripening of the yield.

How many Californians realize that there are 2,650 acres in the Turlock region planted to cantaloupes and what the turnover of such a crop means to the state? Those who have the realization will concern [illegible] cooperative effort to the end that there shall be no shortage of transportation facilities and to provide here in the state of cantaloupes a market for the growers.

The Imperial Valley crop, according to reports from there, has ripened earlier than ever before. The entire output, it is expected, will be disposed of by the time the Turlock yield moves into the markets. Then, until the Rocky Ford "cants" move westward three or four weeks later, the melons of Turlock will have the field to themselves. This is where the weather is dealing kindly with the melon growers this year. It is setting aside a season for each of the great producing areas. If present conditions continue there will be good prices and deserved prosperity for the melon men.

Citing the Cleveland, S. C., schoolhouse fire disaster as an example, the National Safety Council has called upon its fifty local safety councils and organizations in as many communities throughout the country to take immediate steps to inspect all public buildings as to construction, fire protection, and exits. In addition, telegrams have ben sent to state fire marshals urging more stringent action in condemning buildings found unsafe for use. It may be argued that this action comes too late, but it is also true that had there been no deplorable example the warning, like many others, would have received little attention. Seventy-three lost their lives in the South Carolina fire. There is no way of telling how many accidents will be prevented by the safety program but that is no reason for not giving it a full-strength support.

AN IDEALIST PROTESTS.

Applause from a group outside of the playhouse will greet the remarks of a Berkeley professor of art before the members of the Drama Association of California for he has voiced a protest where it may do some good.

"The stage is no place for the common things of life," said B. B. Bufano, the University art professor. "Let us try to idealize instead of airing marital infelicities and other common things of life. They have no part in the drama."

There are many common things without which no drama could be successful, but what the art professor evidently meant by "common" was what some others call "real" or "modern." The school of dramatists who seek to present the mean and sordid moments as the typical and who depend solely for interest by picturing family life as an institution which smothers souls and forces deceit and infidelity has furnished, in the name of realism, many lugubrious and unreal plays.

There is no quarrel with the place the realist has in art but there is reason to believe that many writers, not equipped with experience and without any purpose except to shock, are taking up this "realism" without a sense of the responsibilities or possession of the abilities which the task, to be done well, demands. Because "A Doll's House" is a great play it does not follow the stage has place and the public patience for scores of dramas on the same theme. The pretense that every work which shows misery, bafflement, and groping and stifled human beings is art is equally as vain as the one which would make Pollyanna the heroine of all dramatic literature.

Mr. Bufano has spoken for an increasing number of men and women who are refusing to take the word of certain little theater enthusiasts that everything which is drab is beautiful and all that is mean is real.

CALIFORNIA CHAMPIONS.

For the third year in succession the field and track team of the University of California has demonstrated to athletic America its superiority over teams from other colleges. There is an advertising value in this for the university and for the state.

There was a time when Yale, Harvard and Princeton stood for about all that American colleges could boast in the athletic line. They held their three-cornered meets, called them all-American competitions, and looked incredulously at the claims of upstart and freshwater institutions who made bids for place on the program. Saturday California finished first in the intercollegiate championships and Princeton, upholding tradition, came second.

A pleasing paragraph in the accounts from Franklin Field, in Philadelphia, was that of the ovation the East gave to the athletes from Berkeley and the characterization by the eastern writers of the local boys as a modest crowd almost embarassed by the cheering. To the credit of Walter Christie, coach, is the fact that California's performance was consistent. The team placed men in most of the events, it was no one or two man performance. The Bears won the discus and the pole vault, two places in the javelin throw, shot put, broad jump, and high jump, and a place in the 120-yard hurdles. They competed against the picked stars of twenty-three eastern colleges and against the hand[illegible] of a cross-country trip. It was a remarkable athletic achievement.

As a result of this third victory in the East California's athletes are the center of attention. The conduct of the team, its appearance and fine conditioning are given the [illegible] praise by eastern newspapers and the name and the fame of the state are being sung by the thousands. Berkeley and the whole Eastbay awaits the opportunity to welcome home one more championship team.

In listing the community meetings of the year, one held a week ago in Brentwood is not to be overlooked. Congregations from the churches in Byron, Knightsen, Oakley, and Antioch met in union services in Brentwood, ate a basket lunch in the school grove, and listened to an inspirational program of speaking and music. There was nothing pretentious about this affair but, from all accounts, it will not be forgotten.

Those behind the celebration of American Education Week last year estimate they reached 50,000,000 persons. With the cooperation of the American Legion and the National Education Association the fourth annual Education Week will be held this year immediately preceding Thanksgiving.

The enterprising community nowadays has all the publicity material ready before it finds the remains of a prehistoric animal.

At that, it is probable that many a wise word has been uttered in a graduation speech.

W. J. Bryan said plaintively the other day: "Just think of my lines I've got to keep the Democratic party straight. Then I've got to get prohibition enforced, and that's no small task. And I've got to defend religion, and that takes all my powers."

The only other person we know with such a far-flung sense of responsibility is Aunt Prudence Heckleburv. It is impossible for us to offer Mr. Bryan the second place on the Aunt Prudence ticket in advance of the nominating convention but he richly deserves it.

• • •

Dr. H. H. McQuilkin, of Orange, N. J. should have an important place in Miss Heckleburv's cabinet when she becomes President. The good doctor is in favor of closing the theater on Saturday nights as well as on Sundays. "The desecration of the Sabbath starts on Saturday night," he is quoted as saying. "The man or woman who goes out to the theater on Saturday night and doesn't get to bed until 1 or 2 o'clock has broken the Lord's Day, because he or she will get up next morning if at all, with a head as big as a half bushel basket and in no condition to worship at all."

• • •

Why going to the theater should swell the head, Dr. McQuilkin does not state.

"American men and women must begin observing the Lord's Day on Saturday night," he concludes. We call attention to the "must." This is the proper spirit . . . the true Heckleburv spirit, if you will permit us. No compromise with iniquity! But why not begin on Friday night, and extend Sunday until Monday noon?

• • •

If there is no place in Aunt Prudence's cabinet for this gentleman, we suggest that he be sent as Ambassador to France. His views—and no doubt he could be depended upon to make them public there, for his is the true missionary spirit—would be interesting to the Parisians.

○ ○ ○

The Rev. H. L. Bowlby [illegible] Lord's Day Alliance—he covers so much ground that we always think of him as The Flowing Bowlby—should also have some high office under Aunt Prudence's administration.

• • •

If golf, theaters, baseball, tennis, Sunday newspapers — amusements of all sorts—are to be abolished on Sunday—perhaps the Lord's Day Alliance will prescribe [illegible] "American men and women must occupy their time [illegible]

• • •

For no doubt the alliance has a constructive program . . . something which is to be enforced by [illegible] of the organization have [illegible] yet made it public. Perhaps they are waiting until their control of the country is complete, and the program can be enforced by armed men as in England under Cromwell.

• • •

Some organization—we have forgotten which one it was—came out recently and suggested that motor cars should not be used on Sunday, except as a means of conveyance to and from church. We waited to hear whether the Rockefellers who are very religious people would endorse this plus idea, but up to date we have heard nothing from them. Aunt Prudence Heckleburv is for it, however. Henry Ford has not been heard from although we understand that he is a very righteous man.

• • •

If Aunt Prudence is elected [illegible] calls in Mr. Bryan and The Ambrosial Bowlby, et al. to help her to formulate [illegible] that [illegible] among the [illegible] and victorious. Pore over the forms and rituals an "American men and women" must observe on Sundays.

The twenty-four hours—at least twenty-four hours—must be spent [illegible] in churchly observances [illegible] but [illegible]

It is a lamentable fact that here are old historical divisions among the righteous themselves, which form which ritual will become official?

• • •

This puritanization of America is very personal to us in a strange vicarious way, we cannot escape the feeling of responsibility. We preachers to a certain denomination, and now we are being punished for our biological past. The virtues of the fathers are visited upon the sons even to the third and fourth generations. It is these forebears who are urging us to set Aunt Prudence upon the throne.

• • •

For, make no mistake about it, if Aunt Prudence is elected she will be, not in fact merely the president of a republic, but in effect a sitter upon a throne, an empress; the chief lemon in a kind of acid theocracy. You say it can't be done? Possibly you are one of those who said the Eighteenth Amendment couldn't be passed. The fact seems to be that it is being done. Aunt Prudence is yearly gaining in strength. You can laugh at her now. In a few years laughter at her may be forbidden by law.

WHEN CAN WE EXPECT ANY RELIEF FROM THIS?

EXCERPTS from the NATIONAL PRESS

Christian Science Monitor. It is difficult completely to agree with the view, expressed recently by Thomas A. Edison, that in the schools of the future the motion picture will entirely replace the textbook and the screen the blackboard. It may be taken for granted, of course, that the textbook and the blackboard will be supplemented by the film, but that they should be entirely supplanted by them seems hardly likely. Wonderful as the film is in its possibilities for clarifying a subject, yet in a textbook there is a something of vital importance which it would seem no motion picture of itself could ever replace.

Philadelphia Ledger. A stage hand, a high school student and a taxi driver were the winners in the City Business Club contest for the best motor-driving rules in the "Better-Safe-Than-Sorry" campaign.

Of the three only the taxi driver could qualify as an "expert"; and even he has had no more experience in driving than thousands of individuals who use motor cars for business or pleasure.

All three, however, brought to the task of drawing up a set of rules for motorists the qualification of common sense plus common courtesy.

Salt Lake Tribune. Although civilization may have reached a very advanced stage thousands of years ago with a relapse later on, it is certain that the people now living have made much greater progress than their ancestors who lived in prehistoric times. Nevertheless we have built upon many of their foundations. In the beginning, man was and is today, a featherless, furless, hoofless biped, exposed to all weathers and wounds. Yet he has managed to make himself fairly comfortable in all climates and feared by the most formidable beasts.

[illegible] horse born and raised in Missouri, and transported to Kentucky in his middle years, run away from his new Kentucky home and go back to Jefferson City? The action is a denial of all that wisdom that human beings group under the name of horse sense. If there is a State in the Union offering a more likely earthly paradise for horses than Kentucky, where is it? Certainly not in Missouri, where the mule is rampant and the houn' dog couchant and the horse a mere speck in the far background.

Washington Post. [illegible] with criticism of the Supreme Court by labor leaders and their demand for a law to enable Congress to override the court is that their position negatives the idea of government by constitutional chart. One of the chief merits of the Constitution is its permanence. Another is its definiteness. On these two qualities largely rest stability of government and the confidence of the people.

New York Herald. Now that the art of receiving presents gracefully has been introduced into the curriculum of a fashionable finishing school in Paris because the principal thought that the manner of the day was altogether too casual, it may be that classes will be taught to say "prunes and prisms" to prepare themselves for the properly prim expression of the maidenly young woman of the day. Is the famous younger generation becoming reactionary?

Kansas City Star. The Presbyterians, we almost fear, either by predestination or election, have fallen into the hands of the gold standard wing of the church. The general assembly at Indianapolis one day last week not only defeated Brother William Jennings Bryan for moderator, but, in the vernacular of the day, not found in the Presbyterian creed, it rolled him good and plenty. Brother Bryan made the race, to be sure, upon the issue of a protest against the doctrine of evolution, rather than on the issue of prohibition or free silver.

New York Herald. "An inventor in California announces that he has 'shuts off' the power of gravity." A few years ago nobody would have paid serious attention to such announcement but science, by its marvelous accomplishments, has brought man to such a state of credulousness he is incapable of saying 'Impossible!' to any assertion.

SPIRIT of the STATE PRESS

A newspaper has no claims on the consideration of its community if it does not consider carefully the public welfare, and if its policy is not constructive. It has no claims on the community if it does not have the backbone to speak out when selfish interests try to put over a "raw deal" on the public. But that does not mean that it has any license to scratch and nag or dip into the undercurrent of personal scandal. — Watsonville Register.

PERSONAL HEALTH SERVICE

By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D.

A RUINOUS DRUG HABIT.

Most people have headache now and then. Some of us are so constituted that we must immediately indulge in a remedy whenever we feel such discomfort, distress or pain. A few of us prefer the pain without the pain killer, unless the pain becomes really unbearable. There are many who prefer the pain killer even without the pain. That is a drug habit.

"My husband," writes a reader, "has a habit of taking a 30 cent bottle of —— —— every day. Is this harmful?"

"Noticed your article about laxatives," writes another. "Do you regard tablets containing acetanilid as harmful if taken for colds, in moderation?"

"Please tell me," writes a third, "if you consider the drinking of —— —— frequently, once or twice a day, at all harmful to the nervous system of a high strung woman who suffers a good deal with headache."

"Will Blank's Migraine tablets, (No. 2), taken in doses of one or two tablets a day on the average, do one any harm? I find they keep me up when I am really too tired and weak to remain at work," a misguided woman inquires.

Bulletin 126 of the bureau of chemistry of the government of the United States deals with "The Harmful Effects of Acetanilid, Antipyrin and Phenacetin," and rec[illegible] 50 of which were those of persons who used medicines of the class referred to in the queries above. There are many cases of acetanilid habit unrecorded. The use of medicines containing acetanilid (or phenacetin or antipyrin or other coal tar derivatives which benumb pain and other sensations) is fraught with risk, and when such health of the victim will suffer. In some instances the nervous system is wrecked and dementia, demanding commitment to a hospital supervenes.

Altho acetanilid is a habit forming drug and has been the cause of numerous sudden deaths when taken in slight over dose, it is freely obtainable by man, woman or child, even at the soda fountain of a candy store, not under the name of acetanilid, of course. The drug will not only kill ache or pain, but will so benumb the sensorium that a normal sense of fatigue or a sense of depression is temporarily overcome, so that the victim may "keep up," against all reason, when ill or exhausted, until collapse comes.

To resort to such a drug when one has an illness which seems so slight as to masquerade under the meaningless name of "cold," is a foolish thing to do, for if the illness proves a serious one, the handicap placed upon the recuperative powers, by the drug may prove fatal. I am quite certain that many a respiratory infection which might have been a mild illness with reasonable care, becomes a serious or fatal illness when the victim plies himself in the earlier stages with these pain killers.

Let no victim of the acetanilid or phenacetin habit (phenacetin is also called acetphenetidin) delude himself that his drug is good for what ails him. Such a habit leads toward physical breakdown, even though the victim be strong to begin with.

CARELESS SHOOTING

To the Editor of The Tribune:

Early last Sunday morning while returning from a hike up the Joaquin Miller road, I saw not far from the highest point on the road, a man and two boys busy shooting at a target with a small caliber rifle. They had placed their target near the top of a small hill so that all bullets going through it would surely pass over the hill and drop on the other side. An early morning party of hikers might have been coming up the other side and even a spent bullet from a small caliber gun could be fatal under such circumstances. It is just such brainless shooting as this that maintains the high rate of the farmer's cattle and spoils the shooting for the fellow who is really careful.

I am somewhat of a shooting enthusiast and frequently hike up this road to a secluded spot (outside the city limits) where I can stand on a hillside and shoot into a steep bank where I know that the bullets will stay "put."

Unless something is done to educate or curb the careless individual it is only a question of time until no shooting will be permitted outside of the ranges and gun clubs.

THE PRESIDENT'S TOWN.

Most of us never would have heard of Marion, (Ohio) if it hadn't been the place from which President Harding went to the White House. Some of us got acquainted with that front porch of the Harding residence in the campaign and from that we learned to know the neighbors and all the folksy folks round about.

We were sorry as could be for the neighbors when the newspapers told us the Hardings had sold their home in Marion, historic front porch and all, because since becoming better acquainted with President and Mrs. Harding, through the newspapers, we knew that they must have been awfully nice comfy neighbors to sit on the porch [illegible] butter from or to ring up when a sudden shower came up to ask if they would mind taking the laundry off the line. Besides it makes a town feel lonesome, just as its most prominent citizen has become world known to have him up and leave it for keeps.

So we felt sympathetically glad when President Harding bought the old homestead of his boyhood which is not far from Marion, and said he intended to settle there and be a farmer when his work at Washington was done. It was assurance that their old neighbors would be driving in perhaps two or three times a week chatting with everybody and coming in to dinner and to go to church and becoming again a factor in the community life.

But now we are called on to be sorry for Marion some more. Marion is "broke." It hasn't any money to pay its policemen, firemen and other employees and won't have any until January 1, 1924. The bank let 'em have $3540 to pay back salaries, but it won't lend any more until August and maybe you know how it feels when a bank gets to acting like that.—Clare Davis in Stockton Record.

FARMERS AND PRICE FIXING

From the wheat growing states there comes a growing demand for government price fixing. At a recent conference called by the governor of Minnesota to discuss the plight of the farmer, to which it is said "special efforts were made to obtain as delegates farmers known to be conservative," a resolution was adopted by a vote of six to one urging that the price of wheat be fixed at $1.75 for a definite period. Three hundred bankers and 600 representative farmers insisted upon price fixing.—New York Sun.

WEEKS NOW ON WAY TO WASHINGTON

War Secretary, Recalled to the Capital, Abandons His Alaska Trip; Leaves Oakland This A. M. for East

With a final word of appreciation for the cordiality of his official and public welcome by the people of the San Francisco bay cities, Secretary of War John W. Weeks boarded the Overland Limited for Washington, D. C., this morning.

Secretary Weeks yesterday waved bon voyage to the remainder of the Congressional party with which he made the cruise West through the Panama canal. Transferring their luggage to the U. S. transport Cambrai from the transport Grant, seventy members of the party with their families yesterday steamed out through the Golden Gate en route to Alaska. A few of the original party remained upon the Grant, which followed the Cambrai through the gate and picked up the lane to Hawaii.

The secretary of war spent a day of rest yesterday, following his strenuous activities of the latter part of the week, when he inspected all the military establishments of the bay region and the site for the proposed Alameda naval base. Last night, he was the guest of Major General George Barnett, commandant of the Pacific division of the Marine Corps, at a private dinner.

The first stop of Secretary Weeks on the eastern trip will be at Salt Lake City, where he has engagements. From there he will go to Fort Leavenworth, Kan., to visit and inspect the army service school there, following which he will visit a day or two in Omaha.

The secretary was precluded from joining the congressional party to Alaska because of important conferences in Washington during the next two weeks.

As the two transports carrying the recent visitors to Oakland steamed out of the harbor yesterday, a bon voyage of the bay cities was raised in the notes of whistles and sirens. The party on the Cambrai will be entertained for a time at Seattle and then will proceed on an inspection tour of public works in Alaska.

On board the Grant when she sailed for Hawaii were Congressman and Mrs. W. T. Jarrett, of Hawaii, and Congressman Albert Johnson, wife and daughter from Washington. The two congressmen will study the immigration situation in Hawaii.

FAVORABLE REACTION.

Men of San Francisco bay community who were closely associated with Secretary Weeks and the Congressional party express the opinion that the visit will prove of inestimable value in the development of the naval base at Alameda.

That practically the entire party viewed a naval base on San Francisco bay at Alameda as an absolute necessity is the opinion expressed by Harvey M. Toy, who, as the representative of Governor Richardson, was associated with the party from the time it arrived at San Diego until it left the Golden Gate yesterday.

"The result of this trip to San Francisco should have a favorable reaction," said Toy. "Quite a few of the party expressed strong opinions that the Alameda site should be selected and they also were in favor of granting army and navy coast defense requests. There also is a favorable opinion of the continuance of Mare Island as a yard for smaller ships.

"The party felt kindly indeed toward the Bay Cities after the wonderful reception extended them," asserted Toy. "It was considered the finest part of the trip."

VISIT OF GREAT VALUE.

"The benefits derived from the Congressional visit will prove of considerable value," said Captain H. Ainsworth. "The bay cities naval affairs committee was greatly encouraged by the favorable comment made by the visitors.

"This trip has given the members of the party an opportunity to see at first hand the projects as they exist and it should be a large factor in bringing them to a favorable decision. There is no increase in the present navy yards; in fact, they will be increased to further handle the needs of smaller ships. In my opinion the members of the party are firmly convinced of the necessity for the establishment of a permanent naval base at Alameda."

Help Put Out Hospital Fire

SCORE HURT IN FIRE; POLICE PROBE ORIGIN

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Acting on the theory that the blaze was of incendiary origin, fire department and police officials are conducting a thorough investigation today of the fire which early yesterday swept the block bounded by Van Ness avenue, Filbert, Franklin and Greenwich streets, injured twenty or more persons, eleven of whom were firemen, and caused damage estimated at $75,000.

The lives of hundreds of persons were endangered by the flames, which originated in a lumber yard and destroyed, along with other buildings, a warehouse which was recently the scene of a Federal government booze sale probe.

The fire broke out shortly after 5 a. m. and in less than an hour had burned a furniture store, the lumber yard, the warehouse, and spread to several apartment houses and flats in the same block.

William Comber, engine 20, burns.

Herbert Welsh, engine No. 3, burns.

Lieutenant George H. Peters, engine 31, cut about the hands.

Edmond Morris, engine No. 28, burns.

Captain Richard Britt, truck No. 3, burns.

Edward Sweeney, truck No. 3, burns.

William Ward, truck No. 3, burns.

George L. McGraw, engine No. 28, burns.

Milton P. McMahon, engine No. 15, burns.

Henry C. Frohman, engine No. 20, burns.

John Collins, engine 15, burns.

Ray Reney, truck 4, burns.

WAREHOUSES DESTROYED.

The warehouse which was destroyed was at 1540 Filbert street, from which 124 barrels of bonded whisky, valued at $300,000, disappeared about two months ago. The liquor was owned by Jerome A. Harris, Arthur A. Harris and Mervyn R. Harris, all of whom claim they sold it to Carl E. Gross. The Federal government has not been able to find the whisky and the transfer is still under investigation.

How the booze was carried away from the warehouse is a mystery and the barrels were still there until they went up in smoke yesterday. Government seals, which were placed on the structure, pending the location of Gross and the manner in which he transported the whisky without the barrels, were destroyed.

Fire Marshal Michael Hannan today began a probe of the blaze, which he declared would result in sensational disclosures.

The fire was discovered by Patrolman John Lawless. Within a few moments after the first alarm had been turned in, the lumber yard, owned by L. and R. Emanuel, and the furniture factory were in flames.

From the apartment houses and flats, men women and children, clad only in their night clothing, poured into the streets.

Wagner and Williams were hurt when their automobile was forced off the highway on the Hayward-Mount Eden highway, about a half mile from Mount Eden yesterday. The machine blew a tire and turned over twice, crashing through a fence.

INJURED GIRL RESCUED FROM HOSPITAL FIRE

Risking their lives to save a helpless stranger, attaches of the Hahnemann Emergency hospital, yesterday carried Miss Adele Morrison, 18 years old, a professional horse trainer, through corridors filled with flames and smoke to safety, when a serious fire broke out in the building. Then they turned back and aided the firemen in extinguishing the blaze.

No serious effects are anticipated for Miss Adeline Morrison as the result of her horrid ordeal. This was the announcement today of officials of the county infirmary, where Miss Morrison was rushed in an ambulance. Miss Morrison, who is a professional horsewoman living at 615 Twelfth street, was injured by a fall from her horse at Fourteenth and Clay streets Saturday afternoon.

Miss Morrison was the only patient in the charity hospital at the time of the fire, which started by crossed wires at 10 o'clock yesterday morning. Mary, the 15-year-old daughter of Steward Frank Davisson, was in bed, but was not asleep. Her mother was with her in their apartment on the second floor. Also on the second floor were Steward Charles Embay and Mrs. Embay. Dr. J. M. George and two nurses, Miss Caroline Azcarate and Mrs. Louise Phillips, were in the hospital.

The flames broke out in the ceiling of a hallway adjoining Miss Morrison's room on the second floor and were discovered by Dr. James M. George, the physician on duty. The fire gained headway, eating into the room occupied by the injured woman, who was unconscious from a fractured skull, and filling other rooms and corridors with smoke.

Dr. George summoned Mrs. Louisa Phillips and Miss Caroline Azcarati, the nurses on duty. They made their way through the halls to Miss Morrison's room. The injured girl was sent to the county hospital.

After seeing to the safety of their [illegible] and [illegible] the physician returned to the building in an effort to save valuable surgical instruments and their own belongings.

The work of the fire department confined the blaze to the second story of the hospital. Some of the rooms occupied by attendants on this floor were partially destroyed. None of the operating rooms or their equipment was damaged. The loss is estimated at $7,500.

2 KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS

Seven Also Are Injured in Bay Region Week-End Smashes; Train Strikes Two Riding Motorcycle

(Copyright, 1923, by United Press.)

Thirty-seven persons were killed and 116 injured in automobile accidents in thirty cities throughout the country over the week-end, tabulations of the United Press showed today.

Nine were killed in Detroit and 5 in Cleveland; 3 in San Francisco; 2 in North Lewisburg, O.; Chicago, Marietta, Ga.; Wayco, Va.; Easton, Pa., and Oklahoma City; 1 in St. Louis, Crossley, Minn.; Youngstown, O.; Miamisburg, O.; Washington, Charleston, W. Va.; Elwood City, Pa., and New Orleans.

Twenty were injured in Detroit and 12 in Pittsburgh.

As a result of automobile accidents in the bay region during the week-end two persons are dead today and four are suffering from injuries.

THE DEAD.

Mrs. Susan Deal, 74 years old, 4825 Daisy street, Oakland.

THE INJURED.

Mrs. Margaret McCuster, 546 Stelling street, San Francisco; internal injuries.

Mrs. Rose Glenn, 1529 Seventh street, Oakland; scalded hands.

Frank Williams, Hayward; cuts and bruises.

Albert Hill, Bay Point; bruises and lacerations.

Silviera was instantly killed and Raposa was injured when the motorcycle they were riding was struck by a Southern Pacific train at the Williams street crossing, San Leandro. Raposa, who was taken to the county hospital, said they did not hear the train approaching. Silviera was driving the motorcycle and died from a fractured skull and crushed ribs.

Mrs. Deal, mother of Clyde W. Deal, Oakland business man, who was a candidate for the assembly at the last election, was run down by an automobile and killed Saturday night, but was not identified until yesterday. A. C. Woodward, driver of the truck which struck the woman at East Fourteenth street and Fifty-third avenue, told the police the accident was unavoidable and was not held.

Stepping from a street car at the entrance of Cypress Lawn cemetery, San Francisco, yesterday, Mrs. McCuster was struck by an automobile driven by Manuel Olivera, 1010 San Jose avenue, that city. She was taken to the South San Francisco hospital.

Lungo was riding with a man whom he did not know, he told the police, when the machine collided with a street car at Twenty-eighth street and Telegraph avenue.

Mrs. Glenn, colored, is at the Providence hospital suffering from a badly slashed throat, which she claims was received in an automobile accident. She said she was backing her automobile into a garage when it struck the rear wall and she was thrown through the windshield.

Raposa was injured when the motorcycle they were riding was struck by a Southern Pacific train at the Bay Point crossing yesterday. His machine was wrecked.

VARNISHED CANDLES.

Hold the candles by the wick and give them a coat of white varnish. Let them dry thoroughly and when you light them you will find the grease will not run down the sides of the candles and they will last twice as long.

Heroic Dead Honored at San Leandro

Crowds Already Busy With Garlands, Preparing for Memorial Day.

SAN LEANDRO, May 28.—Memorial Day will be observed individually by the members of many organizations, but there will be no street parade in San Leandro Wednesday. Members of San Leandro Post, American Legion, will march either with the Hayward organization or in the Oakland parade, according to Commander Paul Brannon.

The Native Daughters and Native Sons parlors will decorate the graves of their departed and individual members of the G. A. R. and women of the Civil War organizations will remember their dead with wreaths and garlands.

The memorial ceremonies started last night with a joint memorial church service attended by veterans of recent wars at the Presbyterian church. Graves already are being decorated and nearby cemeteries are daily being visited by crowds.

Legion and Lodges Join In Services

PLEASANTON, May 28.—Memorial Day will be observed Wednesday with the exercises under direction of the Pleasanton Post No. 267, American Legion. Plans were worked out during the past week by the officers of the post and they have been assured that all the fraternal organizations will cooperate by having representation in the parade.

A requiem mass will be said in St. Augustine's church by Father MacGrattan at 9 o'clock for the deceased members of the parish, after which the parade will start.

Members of the Legion and the sailors have their headquarters in the Odd Fellows hall and meet there at 9:30 o'clock and march to the Pioneers hall where the other fraternities will join them, from whence they will march to the Catholic cemetery and the Odd Fellows' cemetery. Exercises will be held in both, following which the graves will be decorated.

Richmond Honors Dead of U. S. Navy

RICHMOND, May 28.—A large crowd yesterday afternoon attended the memorial services conducted in the bay between Richmond and San Rafael in honor of the naval and marine dead of the United States. The services were held from the deck of one of the Richmond-San Rafael ferries, and were sponsored by the patriotic bodies of Richmond. A feature of the program was the putting afloat of a small boat covered with flowers. Taps were sung and a military salute was fired. Judge D. J. Hall was the day's orator.

Flowers To Be Cast On Bay On May 30

VALLEJO, May 28.—Flowers will be strewn on the Bay Wednesday morning by residents of Vallejo and Mare Island as part of the Memorial Day exercises. The navy tug Chadilla has been placed at the disposal of the committee by Admiral J. S. McKean, commandant of the station. Dr. W. L. Gaston of Reedley, will be the principal speaker at the Memorial Day exercises at the city park.

Richmond Hotels In Dry Law Net

RICHMOND, May 28.—The Richmond police, headed by Chief W. H. Wood, last night raided the Colombo Hotel, Point Richmond, Ben Brignoni, proprietor; and the International Hotel, Pullman, Julio Santi, proprietor, and seized intoxicating liquors, according to the chief. Abatement proceedings are being started against both places. District Attorney A. F. Tinning also has started abatement against the Lombardi Hotel, Point Richmond.

OAKLAND TO PAY TRIBUTE TO WAR DEAD

Flagships Will Strew the Sea With Flowers, While Soldier Graves Will Be Decorated On Memorial Day

Tribute to the nation's dead will be offered by thousands of citizens on Wednesday, Memorial Day, by strewing of flowers on graves and giving programs of patriotic expression.

Soldiers and sailors who gave their lives in the country's service will be honored. The U. S. S. California, flagship, will make an impressive voyage outside the Golden Gate Wednesday morning, concluding a solemn service by scattering blossoms upon the ocean. The flagship band and the California male quartet will furnish the music. Admiral E. W. Eberle, commander-in-chief of the Pacific fleet, will deliver the oration. The eulogy will be offered by Rev. J. P. McCombs, chaplain major, U. S. A. C., Veterans Spanish and World war. Short addresses will be made by Lieutenant C. J. Dufresne, U. S. N. R. F., who will act as chairman of the day, and Captain John C. Chapman Phelps Saunders, No. 12, U. S. V. N.

LEGION TO PLACE FLAGS.

American Legion men will visit their plot in Mountain View cemetery tomorrow night, placing on the graves of their comrades new flags. Members of Oakland Post No. 5 have received orders to meet at [illegible] Wednesday morning to join the parade which will be headed by the Grand Army of the Republic, for an 11 o'clock service at the veterans' plots.

Grand Army men have announced three memorial ceremonies as follows: 10 a. m., California Crematory; 11 a. m., Mountain View Cemetery; 2 p. m., Evergreen Cemetery. Songs orations and strewing graves with flowers are programmed for each.

E. H. Liscum Camp, No. 7, U. S. W. V., Veterans of All Wars, and the ladies auxiliaries will unite in a special program at the War Veterans' plot in Mountain View cemetery at 9:30 a. m.

Mac LAFFERTY IS ORATOR.

Congressman James H. MacLafferty will be the orator at the ritualistic ceremonial which will be conducted in Oakland City Hall on Wednesday at 8 p. m., under the general auspices of the Women's Auxiliary of Col. John Jacob Astor Post, Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Special Memorial Day exercises have been arranged in St. Mary's cemetery by the Knights of Columbus, Young Men's Institute and League of the Cross Cadets. The parade will start from the gates of the cemetery at 10 a. m., terminating at the soldiers' plot. Wednesday J. Hennessey will be chairman of the day. "Our Soldier Dead" will be eulogized by Philip M. Carey. Rev. T. J. O'Connell will offer remarks and prayers. St. Joseph's Band will render the music.

Oakland Chapter, No. 7, Disabled American Veterans, yesterday attended in a body the United Brethren Church, Thirty-fourth and Adeline street, where memorial exercises were held under the leadership of the pastor, Rev. M. C. Lutz, state chaplain.

Father Fined As Speeder Son Is Convicted

SAN LEANDRO, May 28.—Holding the father was responsible for his son's conduct, Justice W. J. Gannon today fined A. F. Nunes $10, because his son, Louis Nunes, 16 years old, arrested yesterday for speeding, was adjudged guilty. Nunes lives at 1665 Eighty fourth avenue, Oakland.

This is the first time in the history of San Leandro that the court has penalized a father as responsible for the action of a minor son.

TAX ON TAXES PENALIZES MAN LEAVING BERLIN

NEW YORK, May 28.—Living in Germany is cheap, but leaving is expensive, said Charles South, Portland, Oregon, musician, who returned in the steerage of the steamship Ohio today, having been taxed out of the money he had reserved for his first-class passage home.

South, who has been studying music in Berlin for two years, said that when he prepared to leave he was classed as "a resident" long enough to have extracted from him a heavy tax all his expenditures in Germany — including a tax on taxes he had paid as a non-resident. When he tried to get back the assessment he had paid as a non-resident, he said, he was met with shrugs and the advice that it could not be done.

"It is the law," they told him, and he had to let it go at that.

OAKLAND TO RAISE $17,000 FOR MILLS

This Is City's Share of $42,000 Needed to Complete Fund of the $1,000,000 Endowment for School

At a joint conference between the Oakland and San Francisco committees interested in the endowment campaign of Mills College the Oakland committe has undertaken to raise $17,000 before Thursday night to complete the million dollar fund sought for the Eastbay college.

According to the local committee $608,000 has been raised to date and unless by midnight of Thursday the unsubscribed sum of $12,000 is in hand the conditional gift of $250,000 on the part of the General Education Board will be forfeited.

The Oakland committee, headed by Joseph R. Knowland, Joseph Carlston and A. L. Lavenson, has agreed to assume the responsibility of raising $17,000 of the unsubscribed amount. The San Francisco committee, headed by W. E. Creed, Milton Esberg and A. B. C. Dohrmann, has undertaken to raise the rest.

The local committee expressed the belief that the Eastbay communities would not see the substantial sum of $350,000 lost through failure to raise the small amount still outstanding. It was [illegible] that the full [illegible] ure to secure the full million dollar quota would not only forfeit the gift of the General Education Board but would jeopardize many other gifts made contingent on the full amount being subscribed.

After three years of intensive effort the fate of the Mills endowment movement is to be decided during the remaining days of this month, according to the committee which is asking that subscriptions be volunteered without waiting for committee members to personally solicit gifts.

STOCKS EXPECTED TO SWING UPWARD CLAIMS EXPERT

Efforts to Bear Operators Fail to Bring About Any Real Liquidation.

By ALLEN H. WETMORE, of Wm. Cavalier & Company.

Renewal of professional bearish operations early in the week cancelled previous gains of last week and succeeded in driving the market to new low levels, but were unsuccessful in bringing about any substantial liquidations of investment accounts.

Realization of this fact brought about a large amount of short covering which combined with new purchases for investment accounts caused a sharp upturn, and, at this writing most of the ground lost in the past several weeks has been regained, industrial averages being approximately where they were on May 5.

Present indications point toward a continuance of the upward move, but may witness further breaks before the trend is definitely established.

The money situation continues favorable, and, while it cannot be taken as an axiom that easy money conditions bring about advances in the stock market, still there have been no instances of real bear markets developing while money rates were comparatively low. Wall Street Brokers loans are at a low level, and, for the time being, the tendency of commercial paper and time loans is to ease off slightly, reflecting the somewhat slower business pace.

We continue to believe that good dividend-paying stocks should be bought.

The decline in the price of copper metal is responsible for the pessimistic attitude of the public toward the copper [illegible] producers have naturally been adversely affected, but in view of the fact that most of the copper companies listed on the New York Stock Exchange can show good profits with copper at 15½c per pound (its present price), such an attitude is unwarranted. Several large orders for several million pounds of the metal have recently been booked at 15½c with nothing available under that price and indications are that this renewal of buying will soon send the price back to 16c.

Perhaps the best thing for the copper industry is the realization that under present conditions 20c copper is improbable. Had such a condition come about, it would have resulted in over-production followed by a drastic slump with the usual ill effects. The present price situation should keep production and consumption about balanced resulting in longer prosperity.

EXECUTIVES TELL OF EFFORTS MADE TO MEET TRAFFIC

Billion and Half Program of Expenditures Being Rapidly Rushed.

BY UNITED PRESS LEASED WIRE TO TRIBUNE

WASHINGTON, May 28. — The $1,500,000,000 program of equipment purchases and system betterments adopted by the railroads last month in anticipation of the greatest traffic load in history this fall, is being pushed rapidly, and there is every reason to believe that the fall traffic will be handled without difficulty, R. H. Aishton, president of the American Railway Association, testified before the Interstate Commerce Commission today.

Aishton, appearing at the commission's hearing into the adequacy of the locomotives and cars of the nation's carriers, declared that the following encouraging results have been obtained by cooperation of roads in compliance with the program:

1. Closed cars have been moved from the east to the west in anticipation of the crop movement this fall.

2. Open cars have been moved from the west to the east to move coal this summer.

3. From January to May 12 a total of 17,029,916 cars of revenue freight have been loaded compared with 14,278,347 cars in the corresponding period last year, and 13,711,411 in the same period in 1921.

4. Locomotives in need of heavy repairs have reduced to 19.1 per cent and freight cars to 9.2 per cent, in line with the provision of the program which calls for equipment in need of heavy repairs to be reduced, in the case of locomotives to 15 per cent and 5, the case of [illegible] October 1.

5. Stored serviceable locomotives have been increased from 576 on January 1 to 1326 on May 1.

6. From March 1 to May 1, 1345 freight cars have been ordered, bringing a total of cars on order May 1 to 115,565. Purchases from January 1, 1922, to May 1, 1923, have totaled 252,257 cars, of which 126,591 have been delivered.

7. During the 16 months from January 1, 1922, to May 1, 1923, 4161 locomotives were purchased, of which 2607 have been installed, while 1956 were on order on May 1.

8. Coal dumped at Lake Erie ports for shipment by water up the lakes on May 14 totaled 2,595,738 tons, compared with 1,397,[illegible] tons last year, 2,639,669 in 1921, and 164,523 tons in 1920.

FOREIGN TRADE NOTES

Issued by Oakland Chamber of Commerce

ANTIPODEAN WANTS.

It is now late fall in Australia, and the winter is upon them, but they are preparing for the summer months of December to March by asking American manufacturers for prices on seaside resort amusement devices, such as shoot-the-chutes, merry-go-rounds, and teeter-totters. To help them mark the time through the long winter months, too, they ask for clocks and watches. Automobiles, fountain pens, electric bulbs, and picture frame moulding are also items for which the Australian is willing to spend money in the United States.

HONEY FOR AUSTRIA.

The return toward normalcy in Austria is indicated by the orders for 15,000 pairs of American-made snow shoes that have come in to the Department of Commerce. Austria's paper crown is now selling at about 5 cents a bushel dry measure, but the people are willing to pay them out on that basis for hundreds of American commodities. This week's list of inquiries to the government includes California honey, condensed milk, rubbers, lard, coffee, and slippers.

To complete the price in dollars they also ask for American adding machines and to make out their future orders they want typewriters, new and second-hand.

The seriousness of the perennial Russian wheat shortage is indicated by the orders for fifty tons per month of flour that have come in from the Baltic provinces. The African is turning from yams to bread and is asking for self-rising American flour.

On June 21 the sun will be exactly over the equator, which passes through the mouth of the Amazon river in Brazil. And Brazil is preparing for the days of heat by ordering ice cream machinery from the home of the cone and the laboratory custard. To make it easy for the young Brazilian swain to treat his lady, complete soda fountain equipment is also ordered, and paper drinking cups are in demand.

ITALY WANTS LUXURIES.

The reign of the Fascisti in Italy has created a demand for luxury-giving devices, patent leathers for shoes, automobile tires, gasoline, cereals, and canned goods.

The banks and hotels are preparing for the deluge of American tourists by laying in check paper, bank fixtures, and new hotel furnishings.

The stores in the foothills of the Alps are asking for overshoes and Arctics, a sure sign that Italy is becoming Americanized.

PORT FOR GERMANS.

Germany wants hog in its various forms, including lard, bacon and side meat, and salted backs. Canned foods and milk, flour, and edible oils are also among the needs of the Germans at prevailing exchange rates.

The French are getting back into the world markets. [illegible] are short on packing cases for shipping out their goods. They ask American box shooks, as well as canned fish and milk, all kinds of fruits and preserves, California apricot pulp, rice, sugar, and wheat.

The demand for wheat and flour from almost every country in Europe indicates the seriousness of the wheat crop shortage in Germany, Austria and Russia. At prevailing exchange rates American wheat comes very high, but they want it at any price.

INDIA TURNS TO COW.

The Sepoy mutiny was caused by British ignorance in dipping the cartridge bullets in beef fat. The native soldier, asked to bit into this extract of the Hindu Sacred Cow, revolted and shot up the country. Times have changed, if this week's [illegible] are to be believed [illegible] ing dairy equipment, milk-condensing machinery, and can-making machinery. The benighted Hindu will now not only drink his milk fresh, but he will also can it for future reference.

India asserts her determination to make her own cloth from her own cotton by adding to spinning and weaving machinery large orders for American cotton ginning and cotton mill machinery and stores. India no longer sends her cotton to Manchester to be made into cloth for the turbans and loin cloths of her people.

The Indians are also interested in American molasses and sugar, tobacco, and cigarette-making machinery.

Orders for hurricane lanterns indicate that the people no longer take to the cellars when the monsoon and typhoon roam at large in Southern India.

First Merced Tomatoes for 1923 Arrive

THE first tomatoes of the new season, grown in Northern California, to be received in the Bay wholesale markets came to Oakland today from the Merced Growers Packing Association, at Merced. The shipment consisted of a ten-pound box and was consigned to the Oakland Fruit & Produce Company. J. C. Peterson, a grocer, paid $3 for it.

The shipment marks the beginning of the end of the business for the Imperial valley growers in this region. For several weeks the Imperial and Mexican-grown tomato has been the only one available. From now on valley stuff will rapidly monopolize the market.

Stocks Continue Optimistic Showing In Wall Street

By H. S. SCOTT.

Sentiment in Wall street today showed a striking recovery from the pessimism prevailing a week ago when the market was under the influence of the recent selling movement. This renewed cheerfulness primarily resulted from a substantial rally in stock values in the three preceding sessions, which caused speculative opinion to veer completely away from the view that the economic situation was on the threshold of a prolonged reaction. The belief received further impairment from the favorable character of the April railroad statement which appeared over the week end. New York Central was the outstanding feature of the market in the early dealings, reaching a new high on the move at 95⅞ in response to an increase of $2,564,536 in the net last month over April 1922. [illegible] were in active demand and industrials started in the best level seen on the current recovery. Prices were generally a fraction higher at the opening, although there were scattered recessions. Atlantic Coast Line was up 2 points. Atchison, Union Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio, and Reading all opened fractionally higher. Oils also were in good demand. Houston [illegible] 2 points, and Pacific Oil 1. Some of the steels were heavy, but the initial losses were limited to small fractions.

Some irregularity took place later, Republic and Bethlehem Steels, Baldwin, U. S. Rubber, American Smelting, California Petroleum and Cuba Cane Sugar preferred dropping ½ to nearly 1½ points on profit-taking by recent buyers. The advance was continued, however, in other quarters, [illegible] buying of [illegible] and certificates each of which advanced 2¼ points, was one of the features. Houston extended its gain to 2⅞ points and Maryland moved up 1. Gains of 1 to 2 points also were recorded by New York Central, Reading, [illegible] Tobacco, American Water Works, Colorado Fuel, American Metal, Du Pont, Mack Truck, Stromberg Carburetor, Stewart-Warner Speedometer and American Agricultural Chemical preferred. Foreign exchanges opened irregular. Demand sterling eased slightly to $4.62 and French francs advanced 2 points to 6.6[illegible]. German marks established another new low record at .0015¼ cent.

Movements on the New York curb market today were generally narrow and business was comparatively small in volume. Groups of industrials moved in an irregular manner, Hydrox being a strong feature.

British American Tobacco was active and strong, [illegible] usually large trading and selling at a new high for this year.

Armour and Company Preferred and Goodyear Tire made small fractional gains.

A feature of the trading in the petroleum group was the continued strength in Maracaibo which was in demand on a large scale and made a new [illegible]. Imperial Oil of Canada sold off slightly on small transactions. [illegible], in which [illegible], made a gain of three points in the early trading but this was offset by a loss in Prairie Oil and Gas, which was one of the weakest features. Southern Pipe Line moved up four points. Standard Oil of Indiana after a fractional advance yielded over 1 point. A slight loss was sustained in Phillips Petroleum, new stock.

JUNE FINANCING TO BE ABOUT 30 MILLION.

Corporate financing next month will involve only $30,967,[illegible], compared with $44,119,350 in May and $58,992,380 in June a year ago, according to the Wall Street Journal. Industrial bonds account for more than one-half of the total, $16,3[illegible]4,990. Railroad bonds are second with $8,481,490, and public utility maturities follow with $6,111,500. The most important item is Armour & Company, $1,000,000 convertible debenture 6s, which fall due June 15. Balance of the industrial issue are for less than 1,000,000. The major part of railroad maturities are [illegible] of which is $1,843,000 New York Central 5 per cent trust of 1922, which will be paid off June 1.

MEXICAN SEABOARD BRINGS IN 22,000 BARREL WELL.

Announcement of a new 22,000 barrel well, known as Toteco No. 29, in the Mexican Gulf field, was made today at the offices of the Mexican Seaboard Oil company in New York. The well was brought in about a quarter of a mile west of the old Toteco field and when connected with the pipe line showed an initial flow of 15,000 barrels a day. The pipe line was carrying with the oil a great amount of gas. As this decreased the percentage of oil increased until it was flowing at the rate of 22,000 barrels daily at last reading.

There is still a large amount of gas with the oil so that further production of oil may be looked for. The company announced it has made arrangements to bore several additional wells in the same field.

MILWAUKEE CONTINUES ITS FAVORABLE SHOWING.

The earnings of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul system for April were of the same satisfactory nature as those for the first few months of this year it is reported by interests close to the company. Gross revenues, it is expected, will be about $3,000,000 greater than for the corresponding month a year ago. Net income, however, will not be in proportion owing to heavy expenditures being made in connection with [illegible] of physical condition [illegible]

[illegible] year, it is said. On the other hand, a substantial increase over the $216,6[illegible] earned in April last year is awaited.

Fish, deceased, and Chat. W. Fish, as administratrix. The commission found upon investigation that irregularities have been indulged in by all of the respondents, both as individuals and as copartners in the operation over the routes in question.

SLIGHT SLACKING IN TRADE BOOM SEEN IN APRIL

The steady expansion of business and industry that characterized the first quarter of 1923 in the Twelfth Federal Reserve District slackened somewhat during April, according to the monthly report of John Perrin, Federal Reserve agent at San Francisco made public here today.

Demand for basic raw materials, such as lumber and metals, was not so insistent as in March, and distribution of goods at wholesale and retail was apparently slightly less in volume. Labor, however, the report said, continues to be fully employed.

An abstract of Perrin's report, covering conditions in California, Washington, Oregon, Utah, Idaho, Nevada and Arizona follows:

"Output of lumber mills was greater than in any month in the past four years. For the first time since November, 1922, however, the volume of orders and shipments was less than production.

"Although activity in the mineral producing centers was maintained at high levels, demand, as reflected by prices of copper, lead and zinc, declined.

"Petroleum consumption has not kept pace with production in recent months, and storage facilities have been inadequate to care for the present flush output in new producing fields. During April a record flow of 889,865 barrels per day in California was reported.

"Building activity as defined from the record figures of April, was continued greater than one year ago. The gain over the same period was approximately fifteen per cent.

"The dollar value of business transacted as reflected by debits to individual accounts at banks in twenty-one cities was twenty per cent greater than during April 1922, but this increase was six per cent less than that reported in March 1923 over March, 1922. The [illegible] of business [illegible] smallest since September, 1922. The supply of credit continues abundant.

"The general price level was stationary during the month but a slant down and tendency was [illegible].

"Spring planting of crops is well advanced and all crops in the ground are reported in good condition, the weather during April being exceptionally favorable for [illegible] stock reports indicate that cattle, sheep and hogs wintered well and are entering the summer in good condition."

Average Wage 109 Per Cent Ahead of 1914

NEW YORK, May 28.—The latest [illegible] survey of [illegible] employment and hours by the National Industrial Conference Board covering over 600,000 wage earners in twenty-three industries, shows strikingly the continued effect of the upward wage movement which has marked the preceding eight months culminating in general wage increases in March. A sharp advance in hourly earnings took place between February and March 1923. Employment and working hours gained steadily, while real earnings tended to remain stationary because of a simultaneous increase in living costs.

Average hourly earnings advanced to 51.2c in March, a gain of two points over February and 109 per cent over the July, 1914, level. Skilled labor showed the greatest increase among all the classes. Of the twenty-three industries, seventeen showed a gain in hourly earnings, [illegible] and four a decline. Hourly earnings ranged from 28c in the fertilizer industry to 6[illegible] in [illegible] printing.

Average weekly earnings in March were $25.62, a gain of three points over February and 104 per cent over July, 1914. Male skilled labor advanced six points as against four for unskilled labor and three for women. The range in weekly earnings was from $14.43 for the fertilizer industry to $32 for iron and steel. The most substantial in[illegible] in the rubber industry.

"Real earnings or the purchasing power of hourly and weekly earnings showed no advance in this month, real hourly earnings remaining at 31 per cent above the July 1914 level and real weekly earnings 28 per cent above the pre-war level. The gain in real weekly earnings since July, 1922, however, twice that in real hourly earnings, indicating the effect of fuller employment on the economic status of wage earners.

Trade Continues Fairly Active In Australia

WASHINGTON, May 28.—The general situation in Australia continues good, according to a cable to the Department of Commerce, though May rains have not been sufficient to insure an average wheat crop next season. It is feared also that the lack of rain will affect unfavorably the quantity and quality of the coming wool clip.

Wool exports to March 31 amounted to 84,500,000 pounds. Wheat exports to April 30 totaled 22,716,000 bushels. The amount of this season's wool received at the seaboard to April 30 was 1,776,000 bales.

The exchange rate of the pound sterling has declined slightly. The Australian selling price is $4.60 and the buying rate is $4.65, as compared with quotations of $4.64 and $4.71. The demand for bank loans is decreasing, and both checking and and savings accounts continue to show increases. Melbourne and Sydney bank clearances were [illegible] 000,000 from January 1 to May 7.

New South Wales-London loans to the extent of £6,000,000 and bearing interest at 4½ per cent, have been taken at an issue price of [illegible]. A New South Wales [illegible] bank [illegible]

COFFEE AND SUGAR

NEW YORK, May 28.—Sugar quiet; raw, 8.28; granulated, 9.75@9.90.

Coffee: Rio, 11⅜@11⅝c; Santos, 14½@15c.

CANNED GOODS.

[illegible] curing plant to cost $500,000 will be built here at once. The dehydration process will be used.

COTTON.

FORT WORTH, Tex., May 28.—There are at least twenty farms in Lubbock county with more than seventy-five acres in each planted to cotton this year. In most cases not a single horse or mule is found on these ranches, the work being done by tractors. Last year the county

Durant Claims 4 Month Output Of 65,000 Cars

WITH the production of 21,095 cars in April the Durant plant shows a total production of 65,205 cars in the first four months of 1923 and 124,360 cars since the production started nineteen months ago, according to advices from the offices of the Durant corporation here.

That the thousand-a-day mark is expected to be exceeded when the reports for May are tabulated, production being figured between 1000 and 1100 cars a day, is the report made by the Durant offices.

Statistics just published show that 48,628 persons are employed by the Durant enterprises in seventy-seven different cities, ten of these with more than [illegible] persons working exclusively on Durant products.

An interesting development in Durant production is the fact that trainload shipments are now leaving the Canadian plant at Leaside, Ontario, the first trainload of cars ever shipped out of Toronto leaving on April 24. This shipment contained twenty-four carloads, totaling 168 Durant fours and

SPANISH LINE PLANS SERVICE TO CHILI PORTS

Will Pass Through Panama Canal; Other Companies Make Changes.

The following statement is issued by the Department of Commerce on the subject of a new Spanish service to South America:

"The Compania Traslantica announces the extension of its service, hitherto Colon and Caribbean ports only, through the Panama Canal and as far south as Valparaiso. Stops will be made at Guayquil, Callao, Mollendo, Iquique, and Antofogasta, says Vice Consul R. W. Baker, in a report to the Department of Commerce. The only change in the return route is that ships will not touch at Hab[illegible], but, after calling at Porto Rico, will return to their home ports via the Canary Islands."

NEW LEVANT LINE.

The statement also deals with interesting developments in German shipping, and announces an important merger between the Hamburg-American Line and the Argo company, as follows:

"The Hamburg-American Line and the Argo Steamship Company of Bremen will inaugurate a service to the Levant in the near future, according to recent reports from Hamburg and Bremen. Considerable significance is attached to this co-operation of the two lines, as it brings into closer relationship the Norddeutscher Lloyd of Bremen, and the Hamburg-American Line. As the Roland Line of Bremen, which is connected with the North German Lloyd, fused with the Argo Line during the past year, it is intimated that there is a still greater interlocking agreement in German shipping circles, the Office of the Commercial Attache, Berlin, reports.

The report also deals with the following matters:

"Certain German steamship companies engaged in trade with South Africa have decided to employ several of their vessels in carrying coal from Port Natal (Durban) to Hamburg, according to the Industrie und Handels Zeitung.

NEW FREIGHT SHIPS.

"The United Steamship Company is operting a three-day direct freight service between Antwerp and Copenhagen, with two vessels, the Vena, 12,000 dead weight tonnage, and Saga, 15,000 dead weight tonnage. The boats can accommodate a small number of passengers. Five other vessels of the line of from 2000 to 3000 dead weight tonnage are operating in the freight trade between Antwerp and Aarus, Aalborg, Middelfort, Odense, Randers and thence to Riga and Reval and back to Antwerp via the Kiel canal. The vessels will also touch at Libau and Windau when freight is offered to or from those ports.

"The Hanseatische Dampfschiffahrts Gesellschaft (Hanseatic Steamship Co.) of Lubeck, plans to establish a regular service between Lubeck and Danzig, in addition to its present service to Reval and Petrograd. Sailings will be at intervals of about ten days at the outset. Both passengers and freight will be carried."

SAILING SCHOONER ALUMNA BOUGHT BY CAPT. OTTMAN

Skipper Is Assisted by Two Sons in Operating Lumber Craft.

Another vessel which has been lying in Oakland for a considerable period has cleared way to carry cargo to foreign ports. The American sailing schooner Alumna left here yesterday for Portland to load lumber for Honolulu and other Hawaiian island ports.

Several months ago the Alumna was purchased from A. F. Thane & Company, by Captain D. Ottman, of Oakland. With the assistance of his two sons, Albert and Walter Ottman, he placed the vessel in condition at the Crowley yards in the upper estuary. The schooner was formerly operated in the lumber carrying trade by Thane, but for several years has been laid up.

The Weyerhauser Lumber Company has been making a number of purchases of lumber carrying vessels. The sale to the concern of the Pomona of 1819 tons register, and the Hanley of 4825 tons, were reported by the Merchants' Exchange marine department this morning. Both steamers were purchased from the United States Shipping Board. This makes four ships to be bought by the Weyerhauser interests during the past two weeks. Whether the vessels are to remain on the west coast or taken to the Great Lakes for lake and Atlantic service is not known.

[illegible] Pass, Alaska. On May 8, 1923, a fixed white light of 60 candlepower was established on the southern end of Hill Island, northern [illegible] Pass, in approximately 57.14 N., long. 135.18 W.

The following notice to mariners is published by the Department of Commerce as affecting Pacific Coast navigation:

Oregon, Yaquina Bay—Changes in buoyage: (a) Yaquina Bar Buoy 3, moved May 18 in 15 feet of water, about 525 yards 180 degs. from former position, marking the southerly end of shoal on the westerly side of South Channel. Yaquina Jetty Light, 51½ degs. (N.E. by N. ¼ N. mag.); Old Tower (unused lighthouse), 32 degs. (N. ¾ E. mag.); Yaquina Head Lighthouse 359 deg. (N.W. by N. ¼ N. mag.).

(b) South Channel Buoy, 2S, a 2nd-class nun buoy, established May 21 in 15 feet of water on the easterly side of South Channel, about 40 yards 270 deg. from a pinnacle rock covered about 3 feet at low water. Yaquina Jetty Light, 56 deg. (N.E. by N. mag.); Old Tower (unused lighthouse), 82¼ deg. (N. ¾ E. mag.); Yaquina Head Lighthouse, 358 deg. (N.W. by N. ¼ N. mag.).

(c) Caution—A pinnacle rock covered about 3 feet at low water is located close to the easterly side of the South Channel in about 15 feet of water. Yaquina Jetty Light, 55 deg. (N.E. by N. ¼ N. mag.); Old Tower (unused lighthouse), 31¼ deg. (N. ¾ E. mag.); Yaquina Head Lighthouse, 357 deg. (N.W. by N. ¾ N. mag.).

(d) South Channel Buoy, 2S, above described, is about 40 yards due west of the rock. Extreme caution should be used in passing through the South Channel on account of its narrowness and the beam sea and under no circumstances should it be used without a pilot or by any one not possessing local knowledge and thoroughly familiar with all conditions.

(e) South Jetty Buoy, 2, a 2nd-class nun buoy, established May 18 in 19 feet of water about 70 yards 23 deg. from submerged end of South Jetty. Yaquina Jetty Light, [illegible] deg. (N.E. mag.); Old Tower (unused lighthouse), 35 deg. N by E. ¼ E. mag.); Yaquina Head Lighthouse, 357½ deg. (N.W. by N. ¾ N. mag.).

(f) [illegible] Bar Buoy 5, moved May 18 about 50 yards 180 deg. from former position and moored in 16 feet, without other change.

(g) [illegible] Buoy 2, Channel Buoy 24, Sands Northeast End Buoy, 4, and Middle Sands Buoy, 6, renumbered 4, 6, 8 and 10 respectively on May 19 without other change.

(h) South Channel Buoy, 1, a 3d-class spar buoy, established May 19 in 14 feet of water on the northerly side of the South Channel [illegible]

Admiral Liner Sets New Record

VICTORIA, B. C., May 28.—(By International News Service).—Creating a new trans-Pacific record for American vessels, the Admiral liner President Grant arrived here today from Yokohama, completing the journey in nine days, one hour and forty-five minutes. The previous American record of nine days, four hours and five minutes was made by the President Jackson of the same line and is seven hours slower than the time made by the Canadian liner Empress of Russia. The President Grant carried a valuable cargo of silk and 2000 bags of mail.

Disabled Schooner Towed Into Port

ASTORIA, Ore., May 28.—The disabled steam schooner George L. Olson, Captain Nils Spar, which lost her rudder and rudder post by striking on the Grays Harbor bar Saturday, was towed into this port yesterday by the tugs Cudahy and Wallula, and was tied up at the port terminals. The Olsen has on board 1,370,000 feet of lumber for San Pedro, and will discharge her deckload and part of her hold cargo before being taken to Portland for repairs.

Trade in Dutch Indies Showing Rapid Progress

Java-Pacific Line Out of S. F. Bay Doing "Land Office" Business.

Trade between the ports of Oakland and San Francisco, and the ports of the Dutch East Indies is increasing by leaps and bounds, in the opinion of shipping men who point to the fact that the Java-Pacific line, which makes San Francisco Bay its American terminal, is doing a "land office" business, and that other freighters plying to and from Batavia and Soerabaya are making frequent appearances on the Pacific Coast in general and in San Francisco Bay in particular.

In line with this movement, is the official report just issued by the Far Eastern Division of the Department of Commerce, which states:

"The commercial and economic development of the Netherlands East Indies, which has only recently arrested the attention of the Western world and brought the insular colony into a position of importance as an economic entity, merits sustained interest on the part of American business men. The tangible form which this interest assumed in recent months was evidenced in the successful flotation in this country during 1922 of the two Dutch East Indian loans.

RECENT PROGRESS RAPID.

"Known about a decade ago only as a group of islands rich in tropical produce, the years of the war inaugurated a period of unparalleled development and prosperity. The increased demand for native raw products swelled the value of exports in 1919 to the unprecedented figure of 2,11,000,000 guilders, compared with 615,000,000 guilders in the pre-war year 1913. And again in 1920, although prices of export commodities fell alarmingly as consuming countries became overstocked, the fulfillment of orders contracted in 1919 brought the total value of exports to the record figure of 2,254,000,000 guilders. Imports that year also attained an unprecedented value, amounting to 1,125,000,000 guilders, compared with 538,000,000 guilders in 1919 and 437,000,000 guilders in 1913. Such favorable trade balances had never been approached previously in the history of Dutch East Indian trade.

"The year 1921 brought the period of depression. In the difficult transition from inflated post-war conditions to stability, the trade of the islands registered an unfavorable balance of only 2,000,000 guilders, imports amounting to 1,193,000,000 and exports to 1,191,000,000 guilders. While complete trade figures for 1922 are not yet available, it is expected a favorable readjustment will be shown. The year marked the first improvement in the rubber situation and sugar, coffee, tea and tobacco as well as many of the minor products attained satisfactory prices.

ISLANDS GOOD MARKET.

Reports and cable advices received during recent months indicate a belief that world prices will sustain production of these exportable commodities at a profit. The export trade of Java has shown a gradual increase since the beginning of the year, stimulating the sale of imported goods. The liquidation of merchandise stocks in Batavia is practically terminated in most lines of staple goods, with the exception of textiles and certain stocks of motor trucks of the heavier types. Economy in both industry and government expenditures has been a stabilizing factor in the period of readjustment in the islands. There has been a general downward revision of wage scales throughout the colony and unemployment has been largely relieved. Though labor unrest is in evidence both among natives and Europeans, no serious difficulties have resulted.

"The 50,000,000 people of these islands, stimulated by the war and post-war events to greater development of both agricultural and industrial potentialities, furnish a market for imported goods of growing importance. It is noteworthy that, at the last annual fair at Bandoeng, foreign imports occupied a more prominent place than [illegible]

"An increasing number of American salesmen are reported arriving at Batavia to sell goods instead of to dispose of shipments which had been refused, as was the case some months ago. These representatives are optimistic regarding the future of the islands."

England Imports American Lumber

Immense quantities of lumber are being shipped to England and other European countries from both the Pacific and Atlantic coasts, and the Department of Commerce reports a 25 per cent increase in the first quarter of 1923. The report states:

"The principal growth in the importation of American lumber has been in Douglas fir, southern yellow pine, and oak. While the relative quantities of British Columbia and United States Douglas fir are not as large as Southern yellow pine, there has been an even greater increase in the amount of Douglas fir imported, the amounts imported being approximately eight times in the first quarter of this year what they were last year, and more than double in 1922 what they were in 1921. The imports of southern yellow pine for the first quarter of this year are about double what they were in 1922, while the imports in that year were double those of 1921, so that the lumber trade in these lines is [illegible] since in 1921.

"The demand on the part of the railways for lumber which it was hoped would materialize last year has finally begun to develop and there is a considerably increased demand for oak used for the construction of railway cars. An idea of the increase in railway carriage construction may be gained from the fact that in the Rutherham district in Sheffield the number of unemployed in this industry is now only 1200, as compared with 10,000 a [illegible]

MAIL FROM NORTH HURRIED TO PORT BY FAST STEAMER

Ocean Route Used Because of Tunnel Fire On the Southern Pacific.

Bringing 823 bags of U. S. mail and a heavy consignment of second-class matter and parcels post packages for Oakland and San Francisco, the passenger liner Cuba of the New Electra line docked at pier 24, San Francisco, early this morning. The vessel left Portland at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon and made the 650-mile run in a little over 40 hours, handling the mail with practically no delay as compared with train schedules.

The Cuba is handling mail on account of the tunnel blockade on the Southern Pacific main line to Portland between Coram and Kennet, where a tunnel fire last week burned out timbers, causing cave-ins.

The Cuba also carried 106 first-class passengers, a record-breaking list, and a capacity cargo of perishable and package freight, a large block of which is for Oakland consignees. The Oakland freight is being loaded on barges and will be brought to Parr Terminal today.

Tide Traps Schooner In Oakland Estuary

A receding tide trapped the steam schooner Charles Nelson, inbound, with a cargo of lumber, in the Oakland estuary yesterday while passing through the High street bridge. Although many attempts were made to bring the vessel through the falling tide, she remained resting on the mud until last night, when she was lifted clear by the returning tide.

Officers of the vessel report that no damage was done to the hull, and the schooner is now unloading her lumber, which is consigned to the Pacific Tank and Pipe Company.

WEATHER REPORT

Forecast: Oakland and vicinity, Northern California, Sacramento, Santa Clara and San Joaquin valley: Generally cloudy tonight and Tuesday; moderate westerly winds.

Southern California: Fair tonight and Tuesday, except cloudy near the coast in the morning; light westerly winds.

Nevada and Idaho: Cloudy tonight and Tuesday, warmer tonight.

CONDITIONS.

A moderate storm off Vancouver Island moving southeastward has given light rain near the coast from Eureka north, and cloudy weather in Washington, Western Oregon and Northern California. In other portions of the Pacific slope it is fair. Scattered rain has fallen in portions of the Rocky Mountain and plains states. Severe frosts are reported in Northern Nevada and Eastern Oregon. Conditions are favorable for generally cloudy weather tonight and Tuesday with showers in Washington, Oregon and extreme Northwestern California.

'DR. LE ROY' FACES PRISON TERM ON CHECK CHARGES

Accused of Buying $1400 Diamond With Fictitious Bank Paper.

"Dr. J. M. LeRoy," who under the name of "Dr. Francis J. King," was accused by an Alameda woman several months ago of obtaining money under false pretenses, today faces a penitentiary sentence for passing a fictitious check, as the result of a jury verdict in the Sacramento superior court.

LeRoy was convicted after ten minutes' deliberation by the jury, following a trial in which he was accused of purchasing a $1400 diamond ring in a Sacramento store with a check drawn on the Yuba City bank, in which he had no funds.

Last November LeRoy was accused by Mrs. Annabel Jacobs, 2215 Briggs avenue, Alameda, of attempting to sell her property that he did not own. She said he had given his name at that time as Dr. Francis J. King.

Several months ago LeRoy was arrested in Yuba City on a charge of practicing medicine without a license, but jumped his bail and fled to Mexico, where he was recaptured. His subsequent trial on this charge resulted in an acquittal, whereupon he was rearrested on a fictitious check accusation.

LeRoy is said to have claimed to be a masseur who had learned mysterious healing arts from the Hindus while he was living in Delhi, India, and to have charged $500 for each treatment.

When he attempted to collect $1000 from Clyde Holmes of Yuba City, for two treatments administered to the latter's wife, Holmes refused to pay, and in the argument LeRoy was alleged to have struck him. The charge of practicing without a license was then placed against LeRoy.

When his case came up for trial on February 17, it was discovered that LeRoy had disappeared, "jumping" the $1000 bail that had been put up for him by his father-in-law, J. A. Harris, a Sutter county rancher. Harris offered $250 for the capture of LeRoy and a search was instituted for him in Oakland, where he had last been seen, and in other parts of the state.

A police officer at Calexico recognized LeRoy from the photograph printed on the notice that had been sent out offering the reward, and arrested him as he was attempting to cross the border into Mexico.

CAPITAL WATCHES CITIZENSHIP CASE

When the trial of Frederick Littleton of Alameda, former naturalization examiner, indicted in connection with an alleged naturalization scandal, opens in United States District Court, San Francisco, on June 1, it will ve attended by Raymond F. Crist, naturalization director.

Orders directing Crist to attend all sessions of the trial, were received today from Secretary of Labor Davis at Washington, D. C. Littleton is charged in five separate cases with malfeasance in office in connection with granting citizenship to aliens unlawfully. Six other men were arrested with Littleton when the affair was unearthed by department of justice agents several months ago.

ARMY ORDERS

News of the Churches

Liberty's Four Attributes Are Told

"Liberty holds us together with a four-fold cord—freedom, from oppression, internal peace, religious fraternization, civilization," said Dr. John Snape, who preached to the veterans of the G. A. R. and the Ladies' Auxiliary, yesterday morning at the First Baptist church on "Three Things That Make a Nation Great." He said in part:

"We greet you, veterans of the G. A. R., and count ourselves honored by your presence on this day that crowds so close to that Memorial Day on which you will cover comrades' graves with fragrant flowers and thus inculcate in our sons and daughters the lessons of perpetual patriotism.

"Three things make any nation great: freedom, patriotism, piety, and two of these at least you purchased for ourselves and us with blood. You did not purchase freedom, like many ancient Romans did, with "two cracked drinking cups"—so cheaply was it held—but like the great Apostle to the Gentiles you were born free.

"Your birthmarks are your scars, your inspiration is the memory of your noble sires who pledged their lives, their fortunes and their sacred honor for the establishment of the principles proclaimed in the Declaration of Independence; your heritage is the noble band of sons who since your day have participated in other wars, and share your honor while you live.

"Liberty holds us together with a four-fold cord. It means freedom from oppression, internal peace, religious fraternization, civilization.

"But more than liberty or patriotism, piety is essential to a nation's greatnjes. Piety and patriotism ought not to be considered incompatible terms. They may meet and kiss each other. The personal allegiance of every Grand Army man to the Captain of our salvation is the pressing necessity of the present day.

"Your valorous deeds will not be forgotten bya grateful nation, but there is a time coming when in the white light of the Throne of God, not what you have done, but what you are, wil lcount. That every soldier may become a true soldier of the Cross ought to be the prayer of every true Christian. A nation's piety must start with the piety of the individual."

Religious Facts Constant, Says Pastor

"The great fundamental facts of our religion are unchangeable, but our understanding and interpretation of them, must change or we shall stagnate," said Rev. E. C. Philleo, pastor, in a sermon on "The Death of Moses" at the Centennial Presbyterian church yesterday morning. In part he said:

"It will require but little thought to convince any intelligent person of the fact that with the death of Moses there was also the passing of a distinct epoch in Israel's religious history and experience. And this is deeply significant to me, for it indicates unmistakably that the program of God is progressive; that it always has been and always will be down to the end of all things earthly. In the life of the individual, of the church, of the nation, and of the world, God is always calling men to forget the things that are behind, and reaching forth to the things that are before, to press on toward the goal of His own high purposes. And this is true in every line. There is need of a change from time to time in our systems of worship, in our methods of work, and in our intellectual conceptions of truth.

"To be sure, every period of change is also a time of disturbance and danger. Some men will cast off all faith in God when once they are convinced that the religion of their childhood is inadequate. I once knew of a young man who threw his Bible away because he had learned that it was not written originally in English and handed down to men in its present form. If he couldn't have a Bible that was infallibly dictated by God in the English language, he didn't want any Bible at all. There is danger from that side.

"But, no less, there is danger from the other side too. For there are many men and women in this day and age who are determined to face all the facts of life squarely and honestly, and they cannot follow the lead of men who seem to be afraid to face truth, wherever it may be found, and however it may disturb their thinking.

"Remember, the sun, the moon, and the stars have remained the same all through the ages since the dawn of human history. Our growing knowledge of them hasn't changed the heavenly bodies themselves in the least. And so, the great fundamental facts of our religion are unchangeable always, but our understanding and interpretation of them must change or we shall stagnate."

Church Faces Crisis, Says Dr. Haight

"The church of Jesus Christ is today facing a crisis," said Rev. Drury V. Haight, at the First Presbyterian church, yesterday morning, speaking on the theme "The Goodness and Severity of God." Continuing he said in part:

"Those who profess to be Christians are rapidly dividing into two camps because of a radical and irreconciliable difference in a matter which is of fundamental importance to Christianity. A large portion of the church would like to prevent this division, but where principles are involved they will ultimately have their way. Luther challenged the world with an inescapable issue. He did not want it to divide the church, but the issue was greater than he was, and was so fundamental that it divided the church in spite of him.

"The issue today which is gradually dividing the professing church into parties often called "modernists" and "conservatives," is not as it is sometimes represented, a question of science versus superstition, or progress versus stagnation. Not all the intelligent, educated, rational and modern minds are on the same side of the question. Yet it is modern science which it is usually said makes it necessary for us to abandon our old beliefs concerning God, particularly in so far as they involve a belief in the supernatural.

"The goodness and severity of God must both be recognized. His laws, whether moral or physical, bring about only man's doom, for he cannot keep them. The laws of God all conspire to bring the drunkard, the harlot, the man who overeats, overworks, or undersleeps, as well as the liar, the thief, the traitor, and the anarchist, and those who neglect God, to their graves. Law does not work life to these, but death.

"The hope of men is not in God's law, but in His grace extended to us in Christ Jesus. There is a whole activity of God's ordered and organized and continuously carried on in the midst of, in harmony with, but entirely free from any glorying over His systems of law, moral and natural, and which is for the purpose of rescuing men from from the consequences of violating His laws.

"Let no philosophy cheat us out of benefiting by this God's supreme activity. We must hold fast to both the goodness and severity of God: if we deny or lose sight of His severity, we shall drift supinely to destruction; if we miss His goodness, we must embrace despair."

Nation Must Keep deals, Says Pastor

"Egypt forgot and her heroes are mummies; Rome forgot and her empire vanished; Spain forgot and she owns not a foot of the New World she discovered; Germany forgot and she is trodden under foot. Will America forget?" asked Frederick Vining Fisher in his Memorial Day sermon yesterday morning at the First Congregational church on "The Nation That Forgot." Among the things he said:

"There are some things we ought to forget: 'Under the sod and the dew, waiting the Judgment Day. Under the one the Blue, under the other the Gray.' Beneath the flowers of this May we must bury [illegible] fought autocracy, not Englishmen; in the sixties the slave oligarchy, not brothers, and in 1918, Kaiserism, not the German empire.

"But there are more things we must remember. The long trail over which we have come from the days we were refugees at Plymouth and plain pioneers of the plains till now, when we hold the gold of the world in our hands and the destiny of the world in our keeping. The great souls who have led us—Washington, Franklin, Jefferson, Lincoln, Roosevelt, Wilson, and, above all, that innumerable company of the endless thousands of the silent army of the Republic—the unknown dead, we must not forget. No flowers too beautiful, no eulogies too great, no memories too sacred for them.

"But all our flowers wither, all our homage is hypocrisy, all our eulogies sounding brass, if America does not remember the tremendous things for which our heroes lived and died from Burial Hill to St. Mihiel and the Argonne. These are the things we are forgetting, and if forgotten spell the doom of America.

"By the memories of three centuries, by the blood of untold heroes, by ideals which, though crushed, can never die, Old Glory challenges us this Memorial Day to halt and come back once more to liberty, life and the pursuit of happiness, to free speech and free manhood, to covenant and combine together in a united America going out as the Pilgrims crossed the sea and the pioneers the plains to restore the great heart, the mighty sense of brotherhood, the dreams of democracy, the crusade for a warless world that less than five years ago set the soul of this nation on fire.

"League of Nations, World Court, we care not what we call it, only once more let us forget ourselves and help save the world, for the nation that seeks to save itself will lose its own soul. Lest we forget."

LEGAL NOTICES.

Notice of Sale of Highway Bonds.

Whereas, State Highway Bonds authorized to be issued under Section 3 of Article 16 of the Constitution of the State of California are ready to be sold, and the State Highway Finance Board of said State of California has by a resolution duly adopted and passed by a majority vote of said board on the 3rd day of April, 1923, directed me as Treasurer of the State of California, to prepare five thousand of said bonds numbered as hereinafter stated; and

Whereas, said State Highway Finance Board has, by a resolution duly adopted and passed by a majority vote of said Board on the 3rd day of April, 1923, directed me as Treasurer of the State of California, to offer for sale as provided by said Section 3 of Article 16 of said Constitution, and to sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash said five thousand bonds in parcels of one or more, or as a whole;

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that the undersigned, Chas. G. Johnson, as Treasurer of the State of California, will on Thursday, the 31st day of May, 1923, at the hour of 2 o'clock p. m. of that day, at the office of the Treasurer of said state, in the state capitol at Sacramento, State of California, sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash in parcels of one or more, or as a whole five thousand of said bonds of the State of California, each thereof bearing date of May 3, 1923, said bonds being numbered and being made payable at the times and in the manner as hereinafter follows, to-wit:

29001 to 30000, both inclusive, maturing July 3, 1955;
30001 to 31000, both inclusive maturing July 3, 1956;
31001 to 32000, both inclusive, maturing July 3, 1957;
32001 to 33000, both inclusive maturing July 3, 1958;
33001 to 34000, both inclusive maturing July 3, 1959;

Each of said bonds will bear interest at the rate of four and one-quarter per cent per annum, payable on the 3rd day of July, 1923, and semi-annually thereafter on the 3rd day of January and the 3rd day of July of each year after the date of the same, both principal and interest being payable in gold coin of the United States of the present standard of value at the office of the Treasurer of said state, or at the option of the holder at the fiscal agency for the State of California in the City of New York, State of New York.

The undersigned is required by said section of the Constitution, to reject any and all bids for said bonds, or for any of them, which are less than the par value of the bonds, plus the interest which has accrued thereon between the date of said bonds and the date of said sale, and he may at the time and place fixed by him herein for said sale continue such sale as to the whole or any part of the bonds offered, to such time and place as he may at the time of such continuance designate.

Dated, Sacramento, California, this 9th day of April, 1923.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I take this method of expressing my sentiments of appreciation to Dr. Wong Him for the wonderful cures he has effected in cases where several members of my family, including myself, were afflicted with various maladies.

I also desire to be the means of guiding anyone who is in need of medical advice, as he will find Dr. Wong Him to be a thoroughly reliable health specialist and absolutely conscientious. Through an occurrence experienced by a member of my family I can, with the greatest regard for sincerity, state that after a consultation, should Dr. Wong Him is convinced that his herbs will effect a complete cure, he will under no circumstances accept the case.

Want Ad Section INDEX

Want Ad Classifications appear in numerical order, and all related classes are grouped together. For example: All advertising of Rooms-To Let is numbered 20 to 29. The numbers appear on the headings, so if you seek room and board look through the "20s"; "Board" is No. 25, and always follows "Housekeeping Rooms (24). Note—Every "For Sale" or "To Let" heading has a "Wanted" classification with the same number, but followed by the letter "A."

DEVIL DUST

A Story of the World-Wide Traffic in Narcotics

By GEORGE C. HENDERSON

Colonel Curtiss Dall, millionaire opium importer, and Ho Fat Sen, master dope smuggler, are disturbed in their plans by the voice of Eleanor May Cullen who has eavesdropped. Both plan to silence her.

Dall, shadowing Eleanor, learns that she is the "Black Angel," an anonymous philanthropist.

Eleanor awakens standing over the body of Gerald Patton, is suspected of murder, the police arrive and, through Dall's aid, she takes refuge on the yacht Typhoon.

She hides successfully from the police, suffering for want of Dr. Monroe's stimulant. Curt Dall provides her with the medicine.

Dall takes Eleanor away on the Typhoon, makes love to her and is repulsed, but is obliged to appeal to him for the "white pills," calling him to her in the night to relieve her suffering.

Ted Seaton, in San Francisco, discovers the conspiracy and flies to Mexico on a smuggling expedition to raise money to pursue Dall and rescue Eleanor. In Mexico he meets Stutterin' Sam, tool of Pete Towers, dope smuggler. On landing in the United States with a cargo of dope Ted is arrested, then is rescued and forced to return to Towers, as he is a fugitive from justice. He pretends to join Towers, discovers his dope traffic secrets and leaves for Hongkong with Sam on a mission for the smuggler.

Eleanor and Dall are married in Honolulu. He asks her to paint his portrait. A mysterious stowaway, Chub Bobbit, comes aboard. He is the same fat babe Eleanor saw on Dall's estate. In order to prevent her from revealing his identity Bobbit shows Eleanor that Dall has made her a drug slave.

At Hongkong the fat man proposes that Eleanor flee, but she declines. A "mysterious" person calls at the yacht, seeking her. She thinks it is a detective.

Dall reveals to Eleanor that he is out to "corner opium." She is startled when Ted Seaton comes aboard and faints from relief when he leaves without finding her. Bush Wetherwaite makes love to her as she pumps him for information concerning the Chinese opium traffic.

Eleanor faints from relief when Ted leaves the Typhoon without trying to reach her after he discovers she is aboard. When Dall kicks her up an Italian stiletto falls from her bodice on the floor.

Wetherwaite reveals secrets of Chinese opium traffic.

His tale of trip through China's poppy fields is interrupted when "pirate" ley to board the Typhoon but are beaten off. Eleanor suspects the "pirate" is Ted Seaton. Dall falls in love with his wife.

Ho Fat and Dall discuss opium monopoly war scheme. They plan secret visit to Macao factory.

Eleanor visits an opium factory. Ted Seaton blocks the return to the Typhoon but does not see her. Chub Bobbit undertakes to discover of Ted.

Ted continues to seek Eleanor. Stutterin' Sam, in a hop den, drunk on opium, reveals that Towers framed a arrest at San Jacinto.

Sam tells of seeing a girl, whom Ted immediately suspects is Eleanor. The port authorities verify this and he takes up his post near the Typhoon anchorage to await her coming. A fat man tells him Eleanor wishes to see him and leaves him aware. They fight, both are arrested; the fat man bribes himself free. Ted goes toward Macao jail.

Stutterin' Sam bribes Ted's captors. Ted finds the Typhoon has sailed. Sam reveals that Ho Fat Sen has been holding captive. Ted reasons that Ho Fat is with Dall and that both are bound for Calcutta. He pursues.

CHAPTER 44.

Dr. Carl Haupt.

Eleanor, holding tightly to Chub Bobbit for safety-first reasons, permitted the bulky man to force a passage through the great crowds for her. She had developed a sort of affection for this jovial, blue-eyed, ungainly person whose devotion to her was doglike in its sincerity and unselfishness. He seemed very dependable just now.

Smoke from funeral pyres along the Ganges hung over the sacred city of Benares, obscuring the sun. The narrow streets were literally packed with masses of humanity. Impudent, imploring beggars halted Bobbit at every step.

Before the temples pilgrims, priests, tourists and a motley horde of mendicants milled about. Inside, where none but Hindus could set foot, the fat bulls and cows mooed and bellowed, while the priests anointed pilgrims with holy water from the healing river.

Eleanor regarded the scene with a lively curiosity, not unmingled with apprehension. She found herself scrutinizing the face of every European who came near them. She was looking for Ted Senton. He might have pursued them. Apparently the fast yacht had left him behind. Surely he could not find her now, she reasoned. And yet something told her that the youth would follow to the ends of the earth. One moment she wished that he would come and take her away, but the next she steeled herself with a look of determination in her eyes. She must not give way to sentiment now.

"Dr. Haupt's office is in the native quarter," Chub volunteered, brushing aside a very skinny Hindoo, who tried to enforce his demands for money by blocking the way. "We will be there in a minute."

They were passing one of the temples. In the courtyard devotees from all parts of India on pilgrimage to the most divine of cities were drinking water from a purin pool, served by priests from the same ladle alike to the leprous and the clean. This was the well of healing whose waters were holy even as those of the sacrosanct Ganges. For Benares is the mecca of the Hindu, who brings his degrading forms of worship to the feet of gilded idols and pays tribute to his many gods.

Along the streets were tiny shops, many of them displaying works of art in beaten bronze, carved armor, shawls of the most exquisite designs, native paintings, fine rugs and tapestries. Bobbit stopped at a door which opened into a building much larger than the others. Upon the panel was a silver plaque bearing the single line

The fat man pushed the door open and stood aside to allow Eleanor to enter. She took one step forward and then turned back. The room was filled with a middle of men and women, some of them moaning and bewailing, others sitting stolidly awaiting the pleasure of the doctor.

The fat man walked brusquely to an inner door and knocked loudly with his knuckles. As there was no reply he turned the knob and entered. Eleanor followed close behind him. She was afraid to be left alone with all those dark-skinned sufferers.

Dr. Haupt looked up quickly. He had just been speaking to a half nude native beggar in the Hindu dialect and evidently had concluded the interview because the man escaped with much bowing and many salutations.

"What is this? What is this?" demanded the grizzled physician, angrily, speaking in quick, nervous tones. "Have you an appointment?"

The fat man beamed and spread his hands apologetically.

"This is very important, doctor," he declared. "You will pardon the intrusion, but——"

"It is the young lady," interrupted Dr. Haupt, shortly, scrutinizing Eleanor over his spectacles. "American—wealthy—hem, hem! My fee will be $1000."

"That will be satisfactory," said the girl quietly. "Only please do something for me."

"This is my clinic period," continued the physician. "I treat as many of these poor native devils as possible and then I charge you people for the work. If you will return later——"

"We cannot return later, doctor," protested the girl, stepping close to his desk and looking into the cold gray eyes of the scientist earnestly. Dr. Haupt was a bearded, stern looking man. His frown did not relax as he stared at the pretty American girl, who, obviously, was of high estate. "We may leave Benares any time," continued Eleanor. "I will make the fee $5000."

"How come you by the addiction?" asked the physician.

"A physician gave me morphine for helplessness."

Dr. Haupt emitted a guttural Teutonic oath.

"Per mouth or hypodermic?"

"I took the tablets——"

"Hah, that's good," interrupted the medico. "Your case will be easier to handle than that of a hype. From your appearance I should long standing and that you have taken good care of yourself.

ease, not a habit. I always treat drug addiction as a disease. It is not a morbid appetite nor is it a vice that can be abandoned easily. The toxic poisons generated inhibit all secretions of the body except perspiration. A prolonged use of the drug induces chronic loss of appetite, constipation alternating with diarrhoea, weak heart, tremor and shaking of the extremities, general sore, lessened perception of pain and a more or less constant feeling of coldness. It is accompanied by nettles of the skin, as you have probably discovered, and just after taking the opiate you have a desire to rub the nose frequently.

"I feel very much you have considered when deprived of morphine should convince you that this so-called habit is really a disease. Doubtless you have been racked by muscular cramps and convulsions when unable to secure the stimulant. You have often been filled with terror and misgivings? Yes. Well this is one of the very well established symptoms."

"But can you cure me, doctor?" demanded Eleanor, eagerly, facing him with both hands on his desk.

The physician shook his gray head at her reprovingly. "If I do, will you go right back to using the stuff again, or will you exert all your will power to avoid it?" he asked.

"I did not take morphine knowingly," cried the girl. "I swear that I was not aware of the character of the medicine I was using."

Dr. Haupt pursed his lips and regarded her shrewdly.

"Your's is a very unusual case," he said. "By far the greatest number of narcotic victims are sporting people, gamblers, entertainers, professional criminals and the like. It instance where the addict innocently contracted the disease. Nor is it often that a physician can be blamed."

The grizzled doctor got up and took Eleanor by her shoulders, looking squarely into her blue eyes.

"I can cure you," he said, deliberately. "But you must help. You will have to use all your will power. And above all things after you are cured, you must avoid opiates in every form."

Eleanor May sank into a chair with a tremendous sigh.

"You must have a nurse, however," continued the doctor. "Someone must administer the medicine I will give you."

"Can't Mr. Bobbit do that?" asked Eleanor.

"Sure I can," declared the fat man. "Give me the orders, doc. I'll follow them out."

Dr. Haupt stroked his beard and glared at Chub Bobbit.

"Take charge of all the morphine she possesses," he commanded, as he drew the corpulent fellow aside. Here is a non-habit forming stimulant which is the basis of my cures. Follow the printed directions implicitly. Remember, I cannot guarantee a cure when the subject is not under my personal supervision."

The doctor showed no surprise when Eleanor peeled ten $100 bills from a roll which she carried in her purse and handed it to him.

"And when my cure is complete, I will make good my promise to send you $4000 more so that you can carry on your great work, Dr. Haupt," said Eleanor gratefully.

She traversed the distance be- hotel buoyantly, hearing nothing that Bobbit said. She realized vaguely that Chub was expounding to her upon India, but the sense of his words escaped her entirely.

She was to be freed. Morphine had tightened its hold on her so strongly that she had despaired of ever being cured. Time and again she had tried to break the habit. At last she had been confronted by the prospect of forever being a slave to this drug.

Now emancipation was promised. No wonder that she trended on air. No wonder that she was oblivious to all else about her!

It was as she entered to the hotel that she saw Ted Seaton. He was standing behind a palm in the lobby watching Curtiss Dall. The look on his face boded no good for the millionaire.

The Events Leading Up to the Tragedy ---By Webster

My Marriage Problems

WHAT ALLEN DRAKE INSISTED ON DOING FOR MADGE

With my eyes and mouth filled with dust, with aching bones and sore muscles, I lay for a dazed second or two in the roadway to which I had tumbled. Then as I tried to scramble to my feet I was conscious of a strong arm helping me, and Allen Drake's voice mingled with the sound of a starting motor in my ears.

"Good stunt Chester! Smith was in that car, eh? Good God! Madge—Mrs. Graham—what does this mean?"

The racing car which I had thought was not at the rendezvous had crept out from the side of the road where it had been hidden, and its suddenly-turned-on lights evidently had betrayed my identity to Mr. Drake.

I tried to brush the dust from my eyes and mouth, then I felt Mr. Drake's supporting arm around my shoulders, and a big linen handkerchief performing that service for me. With a sudden realization of the need for haste, I drew myself away and spoke quickly, imperatively.

"Never mind me! Smith and two others are in that car on the way to New York. Tom Chester collapsed, and I jumped on the back of the car and came through. I must hurry back, and please speed after them."

[illegible] road came the putt putt of a motorcycle starting. Mr. Drake spoke to some one invisible to me.

"Tell him to trail the limousine until we catch up to him. If they take any other than the regular road he is to put the sign we agreed upon in the middle of the road. You stay here until I come back."

With a compelling hand upon my arm he drew me to his car, put me into the seat, jumped into the driver's seat and turned the car into the wood road.

ALLEN DRAKE EXPLAINS.

"Oh!" I gasped. "You must not—you may lose him!"

"And we'll certainly lose you if I don't take you back," he said [illegible]. "You plucky little [illegible], suppose you had been killed? Are you sure you're not hurt?"

He was sending the slender racer [illegible] at a pace far exceeding that which the big limousine had taken, and I realized that while he had interrupted his task to escort me back to safety, he was losing no time about it.

"Not a bit," I said stoutly, although it seemed as though every bone and muscle I possessed cried the lie to my assertion. "And I would have walked back safely. If you lose Smith because of bringing me back—"

"Don't worry about that," he interrupted. "I promise you [illegible] Smith shan't be lost. I shall not be gone ten minutes at the outside, and that driver and this motor can make up ten minutes on any heavy car ever made. And don't forget the motorcycle. Besides, when they near the city we have a dozen schemes for delaying them which are already in readiness, waiting only a long-distance 'phone call. Satisfied, Simon Legree?"

His voice was as insouciant as if he were driving me home from a dance, and I tried to meet his mood. After all, I said to myself, the whole affair from now on was strictly his business, not mine. The only service I could do him was to keep from hindering him.

"Where did you leave young Chester?"

"A few yards beyond the end of this road. Here we are. Turn to the right. Now just beyond that next turn."

We rounded the curve, and he drew up the car at the little glade, jumped out and helped me to alight. I tried hard to conceal the [illegible] but if it hand I think I should have ignominiously fallen.

"I'm afraid you're in for a bad time," he said solicitously. "Where is Chester?"

"Right in here." I hurried him through the little glade to the spot where the injured youth lay. He was moaning and moving his head restlessly, and I saw that he was unconscious.

"Here's a pretty pickle," Mr. Drake said worriedly. "I ought not——"

I put the police whistle Lillian had given me to my lips, interrupted his sentence with three piercing blasts upon it.

"My father and Dr. Pettit are waiting for this signal only a little way down the road," I said decidedly, "so please don't delay an instant longer. Hurry."

Blessings of Poverty

TODAY'S SHORT STORY, BY Ad Schuster

"Listen," the husband said, "you are small. Did that ever strike you? I am large and strong. We don't get by any too good, though I wouldn't say it to anyone else, with this patter-and-song stuff. Maybe it is because my biceps are more powerful than my thorax or because the house thinks right away I am big enough to do real work. What I am getting at is this: We must change our act. We gotta make the most of what is at hand."

The actor gave his wife careful attention. Then he shoved the table into a corner, tied a knot in the light cord to elevate the bulb, and seized her by the waist. What followed brought protests at first, and then, as Dolly realized the possibilities, something like enthusiasm. The practice continued, and Dolly and Lon on the cheap time knew they were developing a big act. There was no other man, even in the big time, who could toss his wife about as he could. It was astonishing the manner with he caught and whirled her, balanced her by one hand or a foot.

"With the right kind of costumes and music, and maybe a little line of clever hokum, this will go over good," Lon declared, and Dolly agreed.

That is how Lon and Dolly and the whirlwind act, "Supporting a Wife," got into the big time and became known to the vaudeville world. There was no more skimping of money, no more hall rooms and delicatessen meals. The successful pair had nothing but the best and were happy. Those who saw the act were certain that Dolly deserved more than the ordinary share of reward.

Fortune is as fickle with vaudevillians as with others. There came a time when the act went slow. The old snap and rush, which was so important, was gone. Lon worked harder than ever, Dolly added a shriller note to her frightened screams, but the verdict of pounding palms in front grew more discouraging.

"I guess," said Lon, "it is n to us to rehearse again on th song-and-patter. I wonder wha is the matter." He looked a Dolly for a suggestion.

"Maybe," the wife said, "you are not so strong as you used t be. It does not seem you toss m about so easily."

The big man hesitated at a difficult task. "That's just it. I am as strong as ever, but I can't life you so easily. Dolly, now don't angry, but you know w have been living well. Has i struck you, you have taken o weight?" He prepared for th storm.

"I'll have to admit it. It wa our prosperity, Lon, which ruine us. I'm going to miss the ol act, I am. I'm going to hate t sing after having been the sen sation of the circuit. It was fun. It was—" and Dolly wept.

Next day they started work o a new act, and next season saw them back in the small time. It never occurred to Lon to get a new partner, nor to Dolly to chid him for spending so much whe the money was easy. They ac cepted the change bravely, wen back to the single rooms and th cheap meals, and tried to start a bank account.

Came a time when things looked dark and each knew nothing but some surprising new turn would keep them before the public. To make matters worse Lon received a letter from a old acquaintance, asking about the old act and offering a book ing. The [illegible] read it aloud and shrugged his shoulders.

"Lon," said Dolly, with a faint hope, "does it strike you we have been living very close?"

"Sure we have. We had to, an you've never complained—"

"This time," said Dolly, afte the impromptu rehearsal wa completed, "we will not let pros perity affect our appetites. Yo will never know how hard i was, and I never would hav grown thin again if it hadn been for the light meals?"

The STORY of JACKIE COOGAN

As Told By His Mother

To ZOE BECKLEY

Jackie Becomes a Personage

Before the release of "The Kid" the public had practically never heard of Jackie Coogan. To us, his parents, the realization of his success came very slowly. We [illegible] unusual. But as for expecting the outburst of interest in Jackie from all over the country as soon as the picture came out, well, it struck with the overwhelming suddenness of an avalanche!

We were delighted. But we were frightened, too—I especially, for he was little more than a baby—only four.

Interviewers began to swarm. The papers sent staff writers and artists, news-gatherers, feature specialists, cartoonists and versifiers. I worried over what the publicity would do to my tiny boy. It cost me anxious hours by day and many a sleepless night for fear the little chap's chief charm, his unconsciousness of self, would be ruined.

"Don't you worry, Muddi-dear," Jackie would say when he saw my troubled face. "I don't mind 'em not one bit. I just talk to 'em like I do the fellers at the studios. Only the girl-ones take me in their laps and I don't mind that, either much; so don't you worry, Muddi-dear."

And to my amazement he did not seem to mind, but chatted to journalists from far and near as if he had known them all his life. He always seemed to think he must entertain them, paying host either by finding some candy or fruit for the "girl-ones" or getting out his favorite games to amuse the men. He treated them all about alike, but once in a while I would [illegible] into the room suddenly and find him making overtures to some individual (usually of the male persuasion) he particularly fancied. To one of these he insisted upon presenting a small and none too attractive pup, to the recipient's great embarrassment. Another time he offered to teach a girl reporter how to play wood-tag on the lawn. The poor young woman was quite stout and had no desire to play wood-tag, but seeing it her only chance to get the "interview," she puffed and panted about, getting in her questions as best she could, which Jackie answered with unfeeling [illegible].

He seemed to forget [illegible] but sometimes he would ask me to look up one or other of the stories and read it to him. I didn't like to do this because they were usually more flattering than I thought [illegible] an exaggeratedly flowery one and solemnly read it.

"Stop, Muddi-dear—you're making that up; she didn't truly write that about me, did she?"

I assured him I was reading it just as printed. Jackie frowned and scratched a troubled head: "Well—she don't know me the way you do, does she, Muddi-dear?" said he, making a wry face at me.

I was less worried after that, and began to agree with Jackie's dad that the child had a sense of humor that would help to keep him unspoiled. As his popularity increased, however, and interviewers and photographers popped out at him everywhere he went, Jackie was not always so amiable.

BILLY BECKWITH

A Red Man With a White Soul

A True Story of Early California

By Dorcas James Spencer

CHAPTER VII.

Fury of Ed River.

The Coast Range does not border itself with foot-hills along its base like the Sierras, but meets the level lands of the valley directly at its feet, with an abrupt descent, as if it had met the plains too soon. The rivulets and widening streams gathering fullness in their higher reaches, go hurrying down the declivities, discharging their current into the river below, often adding in a single night a volume of water that swells its shallow tide to a raging torrent, perhaps changing its bed, washing out the bank on one side, and spreading sand and soil for miles upon the other; while great logs, [illegible] come floating down, and are found high and dry, far from the river, when the [illegible] subsided.

Such a stream is Eel River, placidly resting between its changing banks, through the summer; gently flowing seaward, with only the long loop of the glistening ripple, showing the river bar, lying like a jeweled necklace on its quiet breast. With the storms of winter, the river assumes another aspect; no longer fordable, but [illegible] in its treacherous [illegible] or beast who dares to tempt its rage.

Every year the river claimed its victims, and some belated settler, returning from town, would find that in his absence, it had risen, was yet rising, and his horse, stronger than he, would [illegible] tale, by appearing with dripping saddle at the homesteader's door.

A storm like this, had just spent itself, and the sun shone bright and clear next day upon flooded fields and farms, as the farmers watched the land reappearing, above the receding water, still spread like a lake, far over the valley. On the higher lands of the northern side, men were anxiously scanning the landscape for signs of destruction, and eagerly catching at every item of news or gossip. There was apprehension of calamity, and men went about their work reluctantly, or made errands to their distant neighbors, to learn what had happened on the river.

As the good housewife of the farm where Billy was employed, was wondering why the men folks did not come to their noon day meal, her kitchen door opened to the first passer by, and the story began.

"Wal' Mis' Taber, the river was on the rampage last night, sure. It [illegible] There's always somebody drowned when it gets up like that. It's awful." The man threw himself [illegible] on the nearest seat as if overcome with personal sorrow.

"What's happened now? Who is it?" she asked, seeing by this time, the man's agitation.

"Oh, it's Beckwith's oldest boy, Harry. He tried to ford in the afternoon yesterday, on horseback an' he couldn't. Nobody could. He jest went down, an' they never seen him again. Oh, it was awful! They say the river was bollin' there was no show to save him."

"Why how did it all happen? Whatever was he doing to try to ford the river then?"

"Why, ye see, the boy was comin' home. He'd been out to the hills roundin' up his father's horses. Ye know Beckwith has a lot of horses out on the hills where they'd pastured all summer an' they had to be brought down before the winter set in. Harry if he was only a boy, was a master hand at gettin' in the stock. Mr. Beckwith sent him up there to get 'em. He sent two men to help him, but they had a heap o trouble in gettin' 'em out; it took longer'n they calculated, an' the wild colts was hard to keep to the roads. For that matter, there's no road. It's a terrible job to [illegible] runnin' wild. So the storm got ahead of 'em an' the river was gettin' bad when he got to it. The horses jest wouldn't go in; the wild things know better, but poor Harry, I reckon he wanted to get home so bad, he tried it anyhow."

"But what were the men doing to allow that boy to take a chance so terrible?"

"They couldn't stop him. You know he's as much that river so many that he thought he could do it any time. That was an awful smart horse o' his, he'd do anything that boy told him to do. My FAVORITE STORIES by IRVIN S. COBB

Mixed Lot of Misses and Children's Sizes

It seems to me that stories of children go best in batches or groups. So here's a batch:

Little Georgie's mother died. The husband mourned so hard that the mourning job was finished in two months. At the end of those two months the widower married again. Such seemingly unseasonable haste on his part stirred the neighborhood gossips who condemned the dad-le and pitied his six-year-old offspring. A lady way'aid Georgie and asked him how he was treated by his new stepmother and whether he liked her.

"Oh, gee," said Georgie, "she's great! I wish I had a stepfather, too!"

The teacher had been telling the young members of her class about the landing of the Pilgrims. She suggested that the youngsters each should draw a picture of the Plymouth Rock.

One little chap started, then hesitated and raised his hand.

"Please, teacher," he asked, "do you want it to be a hen or a rooster?"

In a high state of excitement little Evelyn runs in to the house. "Oh, mother!" she cries out. "Our pussy-cat has got some kittens and I didn't even know she was married!"

The ceremony of getting two small brothers to bed was under way. The younger had been undressed, had knelt at his mother's knee and then had been bundled off for the night. The older boy was in the middle of his devotions when his little brother from the adjoining room called out to him: The devotee remained silent.

"Say, Bill," called out the younger child, "what's the matter with you? Why don't you speak back to me?"

Aggravated beyond control, Bill raised his head.

"Go to hell!" he shouted. "I'm saying my prayers!"

"We've got a new baby brother up at our house," she said.

"You don't tell me?" said the grocer. "Is he going to stay with you?"

A precocious person of six had been left in charge of his adoring grandmother who, like most grandmothers, was most generously inclined toward this grandchild of hers.

"All right; what shall we play?"

Very well, what Bible story shall it be?" Horace considered for a moment.

"I tell you," he said; "see my baby sister's crib yonder? We'll pretend like it's a manger. I'll get in the manger and be the infant Savior and then you can be one of the Wise Men of the East and bring me a whole lot of gifts!"

Listen, World

I DO not like work. It was handed out to Adam as a curse, and I've never felt any desire to differ with the decision of the Heavenly Umpire. He guessed it the first time. Of course a certain amount of occupation at times is pleasant—if you can choose the time and amount. But this business of gluing yourself to a chair and turning out labor by the yard for six days per week is far from my conception of a prize package from Fate.

Moreover, it makes me doubt evolution. If man had all the brains he's reported to have, why didn't he quit evoluting while he was still a gibbering, jobless monkey instead of shedding his tail and otherwise preparing himself to punish a time clock?

I repeat, I do not like work. Moreover, I've noticed that those who laud it in neat wads of poetry and prose are generally folks who don't have to work any more, or else never did work. To the actual participants, the sweat of the human brow is just about the least popular fluid on earth.

My wishes, however, were not consulted, and I have to work whether I like it or not. So I have arrived at a crude philosophy on the subject, and in case you're a fellow toiler, you may be interested.

My first conclusion about work is this—don't. Not unless you have to. After a number of years spent as a Busy Bee I'm here to state that ambition in an unattached human isn't a virtue. It's a disease. If you're foot-free I can tell you of a trail and a trout stream and a warm nook under the pines that will make you turn your back willingly on the fattest job in Wall Street.

But, if you can't quit, contrive to work to support some one you love. There's a big kick in that! To feel that there in the background someone is safe and glad, someone is having his or her chance because you're welding steel, or plowing dirt or adding accounts or pounding a typewriter! How the glow in your heart warms and quickens your touch! It's pretty fine, isn't it, Pal? Somehow it's almost like being one with the gods, creating peace and power, wisdom and health an joy, feeding bodies and minds and souls by the work of your two stupid hands. After all, I'm not so sure that I envy the folks who don't have to work for someone they love. Even if they do find my trout stream and my mountain trail.

I've been grinning all over my face ever since I read this letter. Isn't it Real Boy! If the proof reader changes even one of those misspelled words he'll be murder done in this office. I love every comma of it. "Chas. S." and "Sixteen" are carrying on a little argument concerning working-after-school. I was unwise enough to interfere, and have been told where I can "head in." But I'm strong for this young tyrant, so hands off! Incidentally this letter opens up an interesting question. HOW EASY IS IT FOR A BOY TO GET A JOB AFTER SCHOOL AND ON SATURDAY IN THE BAY REGION? I happen to know a great many boys. Nearly all those boys are eager to find work, and nearly all of them tell me it is impossible to find it. Many positions, for instance, are not open to boys under eighteen. A boy must lie about his age to enter them, and if he lies he can claim no compensation if injured—to say nothing of the ethical point involved. Outside of such positions, how many jobs are open?

Dear Jerry:

Its me back again and I am arguing against two persons yourself and "sixteen."

In your first statement Jerry in answering my letter you said you know of many boys who have honestly tried to get work after school or on Saturdays and couldn't. Well Jerry they have succeeded in pulling the wool over "somebodys" eyes—there are plenty of jobs open for those willing to look real hard.

Your second statement of the boys who are weak physically or mentally or have poor health I absolutely agree that they should not have to work.

Now Jerry as I said before I work on Saturdays, helping the family as much as I can and always have something to do at home after school lets out, tending the garden work of three good size lots. And I haven't as yet degenerated into a spiritless boy. I have in me plenty of humor lots of imagination still more curiosity, and wreckless courage? Well not to say real wreckless stuff but theres enough there any way. My bank book is not any too full of entries either, I wished it was.

Dont get offended Jerry when I tell you I think you are inclined to argue a lot. But you see you can't out argue me.

Now for a little argument with Sixteen. Glad to know you Sixteen. Sure let's be friends even if we do differ a little in opinions. I just passed sixteen myself.

You are a girl "sixteen" so therefore you don't under stand boys ways or thoughts. There are plenty of places to work besides Oakland. There's Alameda, Berkeley and Frisco. A fellow has to have a little patience in looking for a job. You can't get discouraged because the first person you ask turns you down saying he hasn't a job open. Do a little husselling fellows and I'll bet dough you'll lands a job in pretty short order.

But of course if your lazy or a loafer like a women called me the other day because I had a few spare minutes to play ball you'll not be wanting a job very bad.

CHAS. S. TECH. SHOP.

P. S. Jerry if you don't like this chuck er in the waste basket.

I do like her, Pal, and I hope you're going to come again soon and often. It's a relief to find youngsters who have some interest other than hand holding.

Some folks just yearn for punishment. Such a one os "Hell's Bells" or he would never have written his opinion of the Flapper. And here's where he gets what he wanted.

Dear Jerry:

Stuff cotton into your ears, and let me loose. This is for the benefit of "Hells Bells." A lovely name surely.

If anything in hell sounds like you do, I don't ever intend to go there. You are "too darned old fashioned in your tastes, and yet you like to take them out." Consistent, aren't you. I'll wager that when you do step out you are as ready with your dirty stories, hidden meaning, and nasty insinuations, as the girl you go with. But at the same time, you claim to be a dear little old-fashioned thing. You are running your mind on one cylinder, and you better cut it out. You like to go out do you? Don't you suppose a girl does to? And I know from experience that it is the fellow that always starts the dirty work. And if the girl wont stand for it, 9 chances out of 10, the lemon doesn't come around any more. And that's that.

Your statement "it sure would be great if you could find a girl who would play with you, and then would not go around and talk about her latest "conquest." What about your gossiping, scandal loving snakes, who spill the contents of their last mushy letter from "my sweetie," to another such idiot, in a public train. I have heard just such conversations.

As for having "every little immature, small alecky, parlor kitty after you." You begoted, egoistical, vain, conceited, four-flusher!!!!! If you only knew what some of us girls really think about you, you'd crawl into a hole, and pull it in after you. The trouble with you young Valentinos, is that you are so darn sophisticated, and fond of yourselves, that you really want a worshipper and not a human girl. And that's why you think something is wrong with the modern young lady. She is becoming more and more independent, and quite able to exist without draping her frail self around a man's neck.

I just dare you to answer me back. I am aching for a fight, and would enjoy knocking you out, immensely.

"FIREY."

P. S. You might find your old fashioned girl alright, but be careful of the toe of dad's boot. It might not feel so good.

After those few remarks anything I might add would sound like the chirps of a dying grasshopper. I pass, Firey. You win.

Over the Fence

The woman—
With the soiled breakfast cap—
Said—"Good morning"—
The woman with the snarly hair—
Said—"How are you?"
And through a knot-hole in the fence—
The woman in the upper flat heard this—
Gracious—I haven't washed the morning dishes"—
"Jim always washes mine after work"—
"Wish I had a man like that"—
"It's all in the way you train 'em"—
"Like to see any woman train Jim"—
"Treat 'em rough"—
"People would talk—too much noise"—
Both yawn expensively—
"Goodness I've got a rotten headache"—
"Up late?"—
"Yes—sat up waitin' for Tom"—
"Lodge?"—
"That was his line of bunk"—
"Women?"—
"You said something"—
"What makes you think so?"—
"Too loving when he gets home—brings candy"—
"Men are such beasts"—
"That little runt of mine better watch his step"—
"Well you know Tom is so big and handsome"—
"Oh Clara—you can't kid me"—
"That's the truth—I don't like big men"—
"You can boss them as easy as little men"—
"Easier—I'll say—little men are spunky"—
"But I feel safer with a big man"—
"I don't like them—they grunt so when they sit down"
"Jim is getting awful cranky"—
"You feed him too much meat"—
"He's sore because I don't save any money"—
"Little do men know what we've got to contend with"—
"Everything is do darned high"—
"High—I should say so—getting higher all the time"—
"I paid fifteen dollars for a pair of shoes"—
"Mine cost eighteen—shoddy at that"—
"I'm just dying to buy a dress I saw"—
"Why don't you buy it?"—
"It's ninety dollars—Jim would croak"—
"You used to dress well before you married him"—
"Hope chest stuff can't last forever"—
"What do these men expect of a woman anyway?"—
"Search me Clara—I've lost the combination"—
"Look—Madge—there goes Mrs. Dudley down town"—
"All slicked up too—how can she do it?"—
"I surely can't get my work done like that"—
"It keeps me busy all day long cleaning house"—
"Going out tonight?"—
"I'd like to—can't coax the old man out"—
"Sh— I'll call for you—say we're going to a lecture"—
"All right—teehee-hee—dance?"—
"Yes—jazz party"—
"What are you going to get Jim for lunch?
"I'm not going to bother to get anything"—
"Will see you in church."

DEVILED CHILI MEAT IN SANDWICHES

With
Chopped olives
Chopped celery
Cream cheese
Neufchatel cheese
Pimento cheese
Baked beans
Mexican style beans

Used by itself or in combination with any of the other ingredients [illegible] gives an almost unending variety of sandwich fillings that can be as delicate or substantial as desired. The housewife who likes to experiment will find that deviled Chili meat blends very effectively with many of her favorite foods, giving to hot and cold dishes, salads and sandwiches an entirely different flavor than is otherwise obtained.

Picnics and parties are an American household habit. Every housewife has faced the problem of something different for sandwich filling. Deviled Chili meat gives the much sought after solution to the problem.

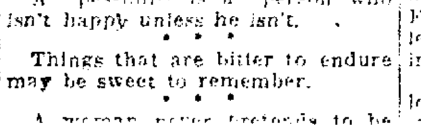

DEVILED POTATOES ENSURPRISE.

3 cups mashed seasoned potatoes
2 eggs
2 tablespoons finely minced parsley
2 cans deviled chili meat.

Have the mashed potatoes seasoned with butter, milk and salt. Stir in the beaten eggs and beat until well mixed and light. Add the parsley. Take tablespoons of this potato mixture, roll in ball shape, then make hollow in center and put in teaspoon deviled chili meat. Mould in ball-shape again and place in a well-greased baking pan. Pour over each ball a teaspoon of either melted butter or bacon fat, and bake in hot oven until brown. These are so pleasing in appearance and so delightfully surprising when cut into and tasted—they are truly well named.

For your next luncheon or party, two of these on each plate will call forth exclamations of joy and surprise.

DEVILED CHILI MEAT IN POTATO CAKES.

1 beaten egg
1 can deviled Chili meat
1 teaspoon finely minced onion

Use the well-seasoned left-over mashed potatoes. Thoroughly mix the potatoes, egg, salt and deviled Chili meat (adding the onion as a matter of taste). Take spoonfuls, roll in ball shape, then pat flat, making about ½-inch thick. Make these cakes of even thickness—the edges with the center. The cooking is more attractive. Sprinkle each side with flour. Cook slowly in hot fat, turning to brown evenly.

Deviled Chili meat has dozens of uses when it comes to using left-over foods. The mildly-hot delicious flavor "brings out" the weakened flavor of warmed-over food.

Flatfoot being the cop, and Sid Hunt sed, Aw, wy should we, we're ony playing with a rubber ball, Flatfoot cant say enything to us, leeve him come if he wunts, we're in the rite, aint we?

Sure, wat the heck, the other fellows sed. And jest then who started to wawk down the street [illegible] Leeve him come, wat do we care, a rubber ball aint agenst the law, come on, play up.

And we kepp on playing and Flatfoot kepp on wawking down slow, and pritty soon Leroy Shooster sed, Well, I got to go, if my suppa is not reddy it soon will be. And he quick started to wawk away and Sam Cross sed, Hay, wate a minnit, Ill go with you, I think I herd somebody wisseling for me about 5 minnits ago.

And he hurry up ran after Leroy Shooster, and Skinny Martin sed, Well, if they're going to bust up the game theres no use me hanging erround.

Me neither, Sid Hunt sed. And him and Skinny Martin started to wawk away slow but faster than Flatfoot, and me and Puds Simkins sat down on my frunt steps, me saying, I aint going to go in, he cant say enything to us, and Puds saying, Sure, if he says enything we'll jest show him the rubber ball, the heck with him.

Wich Flatfoot kepp on getting neerer and neerer, and Pudses mother called out her parlor window, Charles, dinnir will be reddy in 10 minnits, so dont go away.

All rite, heer I come, Puds sed. Wich he started to do, saying, Well I'd keep rite on setting heer if my mother dident wunt me rite away, but I aint going to catch the dickins jest for Flatfoot.

Leeving me there all alone and Flatfoot 2 pavements away and coming neerer, me thinking, O well. And I quick went in the house.

Proving its a fine thing to know you are rite but not as comfortable as knowing you are safe.

The Adventures of Raggedy Ann and Raggedy Andy

I AM NOT EVEN A TEENY WEENY SPECK OF A MAGICIAN

RAGGEDY ANN and Raggedy Andy and the Snoopwiggy [illegible] and Grinny Bear all sat around old Mister Hokus the magician's table eating the goodies which Raggedy Ann had wished there. And, because old Mister Hokus had invited them all in to share the good things, it had changed him from a selfish, unkind person into a kindly generous one.

It was just because he opened up his heart and showed kindness to another which made the magician feel so good he decided to unlock the magic lock which he had put in the Snoopwiggy's pocket and locked so the Snoopwiggy could never, never escape again.

And when he had done this, old Mister Hokus said, "Now I will tell you a secret! I am not even a teeny weeny speck of a magician I was just pretending it all the time."

[illegible] the Magician replied. "But it wasn't a magic lock! Cause why? Cause it [illegible] ten cent store and anyone can buy a [illegible] they want just like it for ten cents!"

"How can we make it a magic lock without just pretending when it is only a ten cent store lock?" Mister Hokus asked.

"Well!" Raggedy Ann replied, "We can either pretend it is a magic lock, or I can wish it to be a real for sure magic lock. And of course if I wish it to be a real for sure one, then of course it will be. Because, I have a magic Wishing Pebble sewed up inside my cotton stuffed body and every time I make a good wish it comes true!"

"Then do you mean for me to put the lock in the Snoopwiggy's pocket and lock it so that he can not escape? You do not mean that do you Raggedy Ann? Cause I do not wish to make the Snoopwiggy be my hired girl and cook my meals when he doesn't know how to cook!"

"Oh, no!" Raggedy Ann laughed, "I meant, that I would wish it to be a real for sure magic lock and we could all take turns putting the lock in our pockets then when you lock the lock, the magic would make it lock up our friendship forever and ever!"

"Raggedy Ann!" Grinny Bear cried, "That is a lovely thing to do and we will all love you for doing it!"

"All right!" Raggedy Ann laughed happily. "Then I make the wish that the lock will be a real for sure magical lock and that whenever Mister Hokus wishes to make a friend all he will have to do will be to ask the person to put the lock in his pocket, then the magician can lock the lock and he and the person will be good friends forever!"

"Then if I have a real for sure magical lock, I will really be a magician, won't I?" the magician asked.

"Indeed, you will!" Raggedy Ann replied, "And if you will put the lock in our pockets, you will be a magician right away!" So Mister Hokus put the new magical lock in all their pockets and from that time on, he and the rest were the best of friends. And, when you have many friends, all wishing you kindly thoughts, it makes your life ever so much happier, for each thought the friend wishes, of course you wish him a kindly thought in return.

"Nobody Can Understand a Woman," Male Slogan

(Copyright, 1923.)

There's Really No Mystery at All About the Women Men Marry

I AM never so filled with awe and admiration of the wonderful masculine intellect as when I meditate upon the foxiness of the men who first promulgated the idea that woman was a strange, mysterious, complex being that no man could understand, so that it was useless for him to waste any time trying to solve this human conundrum.

COMPARED to the theory that woman is incomprehensible, the discovery of the germ theory is mere piffle, and the theory of relativity a simple mental feat, for the hypothesis that there is something occult about the feminine sex has furnished every husband from Adam down with a blanket-excuse that he has thrown over all his mistakes in dealing with his wife.

"NOBODY can understand a woman." "You never can tell which way a cat or a woman will jump." "Not even a prophet can foretell what a woman will do." These are the slogans that are handed down from father to son, and because it is easier to repeat a catch word than it is to think out the truth for yourself, men accept them as gospel, and make no effort to get really acquainted with the women to whom they are married.

IF a woman has any brains whatever, the first thing she does after she has combed the rice out of her hair, and packed away her bridal veil, is to take to pieces the little tin god she has acquired, and see what makes the wheels go round. She studies his moods and his tenses. She fathoms his vanities and his weaknesses. She makes careful not of his strength and his virtues. She records his tastes and his preferences. She gets wise to his reaction to every variety of situation.

WHEN she gets through, she knows exactly how to work him, and she can play upon him as upon a harp with a thousand strings. She has the secret combination that will unlock his pocketbook, and she knows the simple twist of the wrist that will make him purr under her hand. When a woman doesn't get along in reasonable peace with her husband it is because the man is abnormal, or because she is either too lazy to manage him, or because she loves a fight, as many women do, or else because she is a fool.

WHEN a man gets married he makes no such effort to get at the psychology of the woman with whom he is proposing to spend the remainder of his life. He doesn't study her moods, and try to find out the secret springs that move her. He just takes it for granted that women are queer, and lets it go at that.

HE doesn't make the slightest effort to find out why she cries when she is glad; why little foolish things make her happy or sad; why she sets such store by anniversaries or why she is tickled to death when he remembers to bring her home a twenty-five-cent bunch of violets, and scarcely says "thank you" when he puts the [illegible] says that women are queer and unaccountable, and you never can understand them.

STILL less does he take the trouble to find out how to manage her, though no other investment that he could possibly make would pay as big dividends in money, and peace, and comfort, as would the few minutes of time and study required to find out the key to his wife's character and disposition. But he doesn't do it. If there is any understanding in the family to be done, he leaves the job to his wife. If there is any adjusting of the two personalities, he let her adjust herself to him. If there's anybody to walk on eggs in the household, she's got to turn the trick. He takes refuge in the old superstition that a man can't understand a woman, anyhow, or tell what is going to please her, so what's the use of trying. All of which is utter nonsense, and a camouflage for men's stupidity and unwillingness to make any real effort to make their wives happy.

AS a matter of fact, there is nothing mysterious about women. There is nothing strange or occult. Nothing that a boy baby couldn't understand, if he would give his mind to it. On the contrary, women are simple and childlike and any man who cannot wrap his wife around his finger, and make her dance to his tune, certainly is lacking in what our colored friends call "probusness."

CONSIDERING that a man's well-being depends upon his getting along in peace and harmony with his wife, it is passing strange that men have never thought it worth while to study women, and more especially that they do not realize how advantageous it would be to them to know just how to work the ladies to whom they are united for life, and in whose hands lies their prosperity, and their daily peace and comfort.

This branch of original research, however, appears to appeal to but few men. The majority of husbands go blundering along through thirty or forty years of wedlock without ever finding out that they could have jollied their Marys into doing anything, but [illegible] that their Jennies would rather have had more of their companionship and less money, or that their Janes died broken-hearted for lack of a little love and tenderness. Women are always complaining that their husbands do not understand them. It is true. Most husbands don't understand their wives, and they don't make the slightest effort to understand them, which is one reason why there are so many unhappy marriages.

Today In California History

By Thomas S. Miller

MAY 28.

The Breaking of the Missions.

A DAY of great import in the story of the missions, this May 28, 1845. Down in Mexico they are crying "God and Liberty"; all state documents are so signed. Pico, Mexican governor of California, takes advantage of the sentiment to deal the final stroke to the power of the missions. He issues his momentuous decree—"The Missions of Carmelo, San Juan Bautista, San Juan Capistrano and San Francisco Solano shall be considered as pueblos, and the government, after allowing for curate's house, churches and belongings, and courthouse, will sell the remaining premises, in order to pay the debts of the missions, and the surplus, if there be any, shall remain for the preservation of Divine Worship."

Armed with the order, the government agents arrive at the missions to take an inventory. Their appearance creates consternation. The padres see the beginning of the end. Indignantly they take pen and ink, and foreseeing that it was not originally intended that the missions would last more than ten years—"Till the Indians were sufficiently advanced in Christainity and the arts and crafts to carry on by themselves"—they send courriers with hot protests to Pico. To no avail. The cattle, lands, treasures, buildings of the missions are listed. The Indian neophites are freed; are given parcels of mission lands, if they want to till them, the rest is sold to the highest bidder, and here and there a political favourite gets a few thousand acres for nothing at all.

It is the final act in the secularization of the missions. Their power and glory depart. In less than three years it is written of San Juan Bautista Mission, which in 1820 owned 43,870 head of cattle, 1360 tame horses, 4780 mares, 69,530 sheep, 381 yoke of oxen— in less than three years nothing remains but remains; in 1847 a writer describes San Juan Bautista thus:—"Its cattle were slaughtered for their hides and tallow, its sheep left to the wolves, its horses taken by dandies, its Indians left to hunt acorns, whilst the wind sighs over the grave of its last padre."

As with San Juan Bautista, so with the others. A romantic chapter in the history of California is closed.

Uncle Wiggily Stories

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE THORNBUSH.

Held fast by his coat tails.

"I am going with you this morning, Uncle Wiggily," called Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy, the muskrat lady housekeeper, to the bunny rabbit gentleman.

"Going with me—going where?" asked Mr. Longears.

"Oh, where ever you go adventuring, I suppose," replied Nurse Jane. "I suppose you are going adventuring; aren't you?" she asked.

"To be sure I am," said the bunny, twinkling his pink nose. "Never a day without its adventures—that is my motto. So come along, Nurse Jane."

Out of the hollow stump bungalow hopped Uncle Wiggily and after him followed Nurse Jane. They skipped over the fields and through the woods. It was a pleasant day, the sun was shining, the birds were singing in the trees and Nurse Jane had put the clothes soaking in the washtubs, so she could hang them out on the line when she came back.

"No, they are rather scarce, it appears," answered the bunny uncle. "But still we may find one just beyond this bush. I'll jump around and look."

Uncle Wiggily jumped around the corner of a bush growing near the path, while Nurse Jane waited to see what would happen. All of a sudden the muskrat lady heard the bunny gentleman shout:

"Oh, dear! I'm caught! Oh, Fuzzy Wuzzy, this is an adventure, all right. Some bad animal was hiding behind the bush and I'm caught. Run! Save yourself!"

But Nurse Jane was brave. She wasn't going to run away and leave poor Uncle Wiggily all alone. So very bravely she jumped around the corner of the bush and there she saw Mr. Longears held fast by his coat tails. It seemed that he was tightly caught by something in the bush, but Nurse Jane could [illegible]

"Oh, Nurse Jane, I'm sure the Skillery Scallery - Alligator has me!" cried Uncle Wiggily.

"Nonsense!" laughed Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy as she looked a second time. "Nothing has caught you. You simply jumped over a thorn bush and some of the long thorns are caught on your coat tail. It's like the time your coat was caught on a nail when you jumped the [illegible] Wiggily, breathing easier.

"That's all," laughed Nurse Jane. Then she carefully pulled the thorns from the bunnys coat-tail, and set him free. But, no sooner had she done this than the muskrat lady exclaimed:

"Oh, my goodness!"

"What is it now?" asked Uncle Wiggily. "Is the Bob Cat coming?"

"No, but the thorn bush has torn a big hole in your coat," said Nurse Jane. "There's a big rip in it. But don't worry. I'll fasten the hole up with some thorns from the bush. They will be just like pins."

Soon the muskrat lady had fastened the rip in Uncle Wiggily's coat with long, sharp thorns from the bush, and then Mr. Longears and Miss Fuzzy Wuzzy hopped along to find an adventure.

"For getting caught on a thorn bush isn't exactly an adventure," said Uncle Wiggily.

"No, indeed!" said Nurse Jane. "That wasn't any adventure at all."

"No, but I'm an adventure!" called a savage voice suddenly from behind a big stump, and out popped the Woozie Wolf. "I'm an adventure," growled the Wolf, " and I'm going to nibble your ears!"

"Not so fast! Not so fast!" spoke Nurse Jane in a gentle voice: "Wait a moment Mr. Wolf." With that Nurse Jane took one of the long, sharp thorns that she had used to pin up Uncle Wiggily's coat, and with the thorn the muskrat lady jabbed and stuck the Wolf in his soft and tender ribs.

"Oh, I'm just sort of having fun with you—playing a new game!" laughed Nurse Jane, and she jabbed the Wolf once more with the thorn.

"Wouchie! Ouchie! I don't like that game!" howled the Wolf, "I don't like it at all!" and then, before Nurse Jane could jab him once more, away he ran.

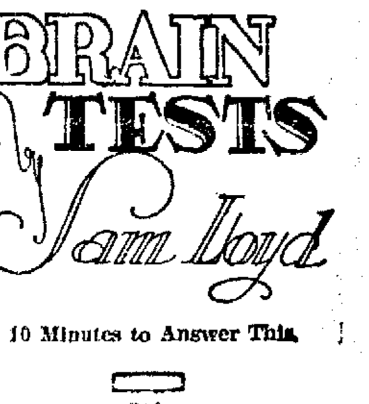

"Well, that was a fine adventure, and I didn't have my ears nibbled after all!" laughed the bunny gentleman as he and Nurse Jane hopped to the hollow stump bungalow.

Brain Tests by Sam Loyd

10 Minutes to Answer This.

Here is a knotty problem in railroading. The black and white cars can pass through switch B, which is not long enough to accomodate the engine. By what method can the engine, in the fewest number or reversals, change the positions of the two cars, placing the black on track C and the white on track A?

No trick or flying switches are to be employed, but you will find it a sensible problem in practical railroading, which an experienced enginneer should solve without hesitation.

Gash, Ship, Scent, Shoe Mink.

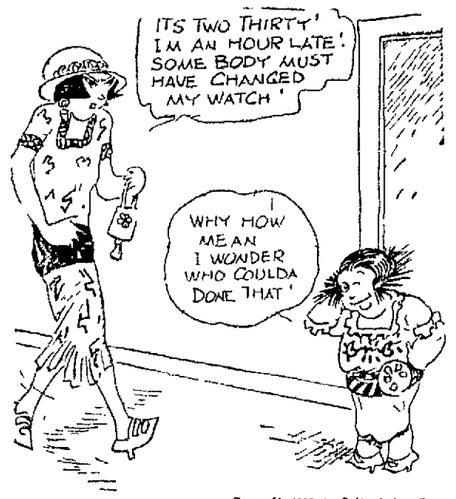

A novel gauge has been patented for testing milk at home. By use of the glass tube, it is possible to determine whether milk has been skimmed or diluted with water. The lower the tester sinks into the milk, the greater the dilution. A graduated scale records the result.

HELP FOR THE MAN WHO WANTS TO BUILD

GOOD GUTTERS NECESSARY IN HOUSE ROOFING

This is the last of three articles to appear in this column by the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States on "Why and Where Roofs Leak and Methods of Prevention."

It is customary for the roofer to supply a guaranty that his work will be satisfactory. This guaranty is entirely distinct from the one which the manufacturer gives to accompany his material. The contractor agrees to repair the roof if it should happen to spring a leak within a given period, which is usually two years. This agreement should provide that the contractor not only should repair the roof, but should make good any damage that is done to the house through leakage. You can get such a guaranty from every reputable roofer.

Inexpensive and Efficient Type of Gutter

The manufacturer also will give you a guaranty that his material will remain in sound condition for a long time. Do not hesitate to ask for assurances of this kind.

In considering roofing, something should be said about the gutters. There are a great many different kinds of gutters. Some are boxed in with the roof; some hang at the edge of the eaves. The simplest kind almost always is the best. It is almost invariably true that the open type of gutter called the "hanging gutter" is the most efficient and the least expensive. It can be repaired with less expense than any other type. If it should happen to leak, the water falls away from the building. It costs less to put it up, and less to keep it in repair than any other type.

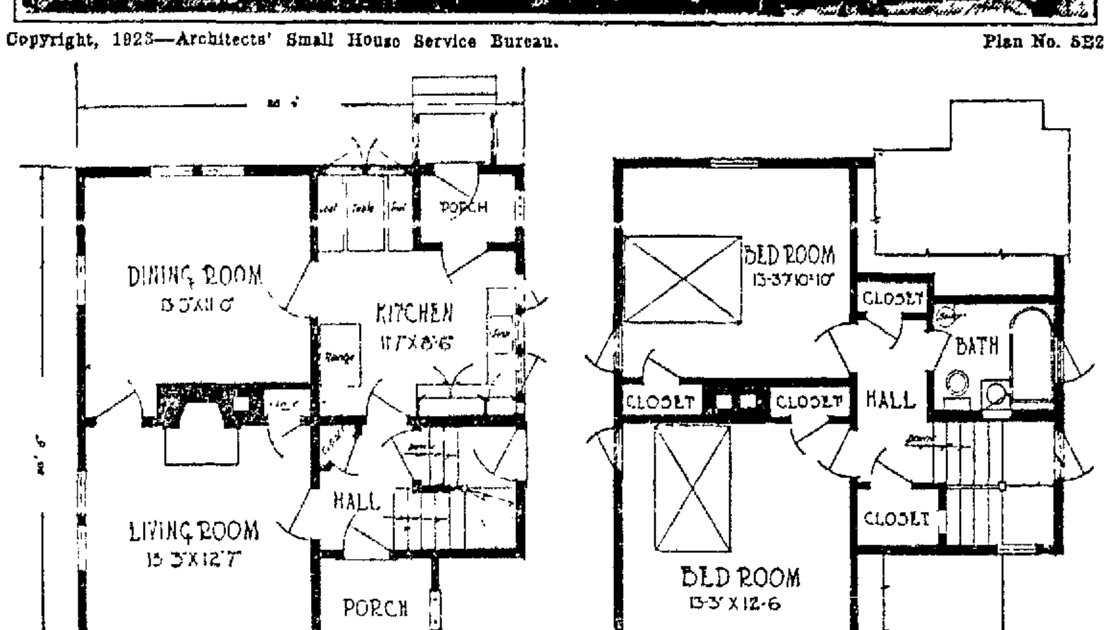

Home builders often are disappointed because troughs rust away. The life of these troughs always can be increased by keeping them clean. At least once a year they should be brushed out and painted, especially on the inside.

When the tinner puts up the gutters make certain that he sets them so they will drain. They should be well supported at frequent intervals. There is nothing more expensive about a house than a cheap roof, and roofing is very much like the rest of the work to be done in building a house—the workmanship should be of equal value to the materials that are used.

SHINGLED WALLS GIVE ATTRACTIVE EFFECT

FIRST FLOOR PLAN — SECOND FLOOR PLAN

HERE is a small home, exterior finished in shingles, or, if desired, stucco, siding or brick can be used. The house is of frame structure. The outside dimensions are 26 feet wide by 26 feet 6 inches deep. It will require a 35 foot frontage.

This house has been built from a reverse plan. But this in no way alters the interior arrangement, except reversing it.

Besides a dining room, this plan provides a dining alcove. The hall giving access quickly to all parts of the house is a desirable feature. The living room is provided with a fireplace, and clothes closet to one side.

Two good bedrooms, with cross ventilation and light from two sides, two large closets and bathroom complete the second floor arrangement.

Here is a small home which provides compactness of plan, economy in construction and every modern convenience and equipment demanded by average home builders. It is a type of house which will look well in any neighborhood, and is adaptable to almost every locality.

Built complete, ready to live in, including heating, lighting, plumbing, but not wall decorations, this house should be erected at a cost ranging between $5,500 and $6,500. In certain localities where costs are high, the highest figure quoted would be too low. In other localities, the lowest figure quoted would be more than sufficient. The range of $1,000 is given to cover differences in quality of materials and degree of equipment.

The plans for small homes are furnished by the Regional Bureaus of the Architects' Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects, indorsed by the department of commerce, United States government. The estimated costs of construction are based on general average for the entire country. The United States bureau maintains an information department to answer home builders' questions. For information regarding the blue prints and specifications, which are supplied at moderate costs, address the home building editor of this paper. Inclose selfaddressed, stamped envelope

WHAT YOU MAY WANT TO KNOW ABOUT BUILDING

Questions addressed to the paper will be answered by the Architect's Small House Service Bureau of the United States, Inc., controlled by the American Institute of Architects and indorsed by the department of commerce, United States government. Inclose self addressed, stamped envelope for reply.

Q—Where should the top of a house be insulated—between ceiling joists or between the rafters?

A—If the attic space is not intended for living quarters the insulation should be placed between the ceiling joists of the second story. If the insulation is placed between the rafters, there will be heat loss through the second story ceiling to warm the attic space. If the rafters break through the second story ceiling, as they do in many Dutch Colonial houses, the spaces between the rafters should be insulated.

Q—Does a plan have to be made specially so as to include a closet bed?

A—Most forms of beds that are folded up to be stored in a closet require a space which is especially designed for them. The requirements of this closet are very easily accommodated to the plan. It is simply a question of having the dimensions right. It is desirable to plan for a closet bed in advance.

Q—I am informed that I can decrease the cost of my home by using 2x8 joists instead of the 2x10s, called for on the plans. The joist span is 12 feet. Is it safe to do this?

A—No. Do not reduce the strength of your house as a means of lowering costs. If you use the 2x8s in place of the 2x10s, you will pay the difference many times over in depreciation. Cut down costs by eliminating extravagances and nonessentials. Leave off the porch.

Q—I notice that some drawers slide easily and are never out of order while others sometimes stick and sometimes slide too easily. Why is this?

A—If the drawer is made carefully of well seasoned lumber, it will work properly. Badly fitted drawers get out of alignment and slide not at all or irregularly. There is as much difference between grades of millwork as there is between machine work on automobiles.

Q—How much can I save by not having a general contractor and letting the subcontracts for the house myself?

A—This is a gamble. You probably will save nothing, and you certainly will let yourself in for a lot of trouble. Get a good contractor and give him a square deal. He will save you money.

OAKLAND WILL BE NINE-DAY HOST TO MEN FROM FLEET

Open House Program for Uncle Sam's Sailors to Open June 9.

Oakland will welcome 5000 sailors from the Pacific fleet June 9, the opening day of the "Eastbay Fleet Celebration," according to plans of the committee in charge, headed by Al Moffat of the Moose lodge. Downtown streets will be decorated with flags and merchants and business men will be asked to add to the effect by decorating their places of business.

The navy men will be taken on an automobile jaunt over the Skyline boulevard and then to Idora park, where an old-fashioned barbecue will be prepared for them. In the evening a great ball will be held at the park. During the nine-day celebration a series of boxing and wrestling matches in which men of the fleet only will compete will be held. Other entertainment features will include a number of dances, a minstrel show and picnics.

Eight fraternal organizations directly representing 20,000 Eastbay residents are sponsoring the celebration. The Sciots will have charge of the program on the opening day, which will be known as "California Day."

Each of the organizations will conduct the program during one day of the celebration, as follows: June 9, Sciots; 10, Foresters of America, 11, American Legion; 12, Knights of Pythias; 13, Native Sons; 14, Woodmen of the World; 15, Moose; 16, United Commercial Travelers; 17, combined organizations.

List of Shacks To Be Given for Condemnation

A small experimental list of shacks and shanties will be taken to the city board of condemnation late this afternoon by Battalion Chief F. J. Sandy as the first items in the campaign of city officials to eliminate unsightly old buildings throughout downtown Oakland.

The list, according to Commissioner Frank Colbourn, will be examined, and the board of condemnation will pick out two buildings. The owners of these buildings will be asked to confer with the board, and will be asked to improve the property.

The meeting today will be attended by Fire Chief Sam Short, Building Inspector Tom Ryan, officials of the health department and representatives of the city attorney's office.

DANCING GIRLS WILL BE FEATURE OF 'OH, OAKLAND!'

Twenty or more of the Eastbay's most talented dancing girls will be seen in the spectacular, colorful drama-spectacle, "Oh Oakland!" which will be presented in the Oakland Municipal Auditorium theater the night of Thursday, June 7.

The spectacle, which has taken the form of a dramatic production, interspersed with keen comedy and lively terpsichorean novelties, promises to be the talk of the town.

Surprise piled upon surprise, action piled upon action, comedy and drama and color, have been woven together into the story of "Oh Oakland!" as written by George Cummings.

Sponsored by the Oakland Advertising Club, the event has taken on city-wide proportions, as other organizations have volunteered to help put across the spectacle.

Members of the Oakland Press club will appear at two scenes, presenting reporters at work on the "big story" which is the motif behind "Oh, Oakland!" Among members of the Press Club having parts in the show are Tarold H. Sweetser, Jack Cook, Harold Fitzgerald, L. P. McDowell, Vincent Flinn, Bob Raymond, E. O. Jones and Harvey Golding.

And the Realtors' Glee Club, a quartet of singers, members of the Oakland Real Estate Board, are also participating and will be heard in several of the snappy songs in "Oh Oakland!"

These singers include John R. Rowdish, John C. Williams, Zora Bells, James Apodaca, Earl B. Leonard, Bert R. Schindler, Edward Jones, Ralph Boscacci.

Watch Her Step

OLD DAYS OF '49 ARE LIVED AGAIN ON REDWOOD PEAK

"The Days of '49" lived again at The Heights on the historic slope of Redwood Peak yesterday afternoon in the shade of the eucalyptus and cypress trees set out by the Poet of the Sierras more than a generation ago. Five hundred people watched the famous drama written by Joaquin Miller as the scenes of the romantic gold rush days were re-enacted in the wood-encircled amphithatr.

Principal parts in the pageant were taken by Miss Juanita Miller; her mother, Mrs. Joaquin Miller, and George Wharton James. A striking feature of the pageant were the costumes, all of them exact reproductions of the colorful styles of the early days.

Spanish songs and dances and quaint songs of the mining camps of the days of the Argonauts carried the spectators back to an epoch preserved to the present generation principally through the trenchant characterizations of Joaquin Miller and Bret Harte.

Money Needed for Work In Contra Costa Hills

Renewed activity of the Contra Costa Hills fire protection committee to prevent destruction of trees on the hills back of Oakland and Berkeley, was announced today by Paul L. Daniels, chairman of the committee.

E. F. Barnes, state fire ranger in charge of this district last year, has been reappointed and has started work on the construction of fire trails. Twelve deputy rangers, including the sanitary patrolmen of the East Bay Water Company, have been named and assigned to various sections of the hills.

The fire protection committee was formed last year after a disastrous fire had swept over 1500 acres in the hills in 1921 and destroyed property, trees and grain valued at $30,000. A report of the work of the committee last year shows that fires were confined to 125 acres and that property loss was reduced to $800 for the summer and fall dry season.

Now the committee needs $2000 to carry on the work this year, according to Daniels. More fire trails must be built and other improvements taken care of. None of this money is to be used for salaries and contributions are asked for. All contributions should be sent to Charles Keeler, secretary of the fire protection committee, at the Berkeley Chamber of Commerce.

A finance committee has been named to assist in securing funds. Members of the committee are Professor Woodbridge Metcalfe, of the University of California; Frank Naylor, of Berkeley, and J. F. Carlton, Dr. George C. Pardee, Charles Warner and Harold French of Oakland.

When fires are discovered Ranger Barnes requests that any of the following fire wardens be notified: Tim Tierney, Chabot Lake; William M. Nola, Kaiser Creek; A. C. Webb, Pinehurst and Madrone Parks; E. G. Webster, Sacramento Short line; James McCosker, Upper San Leandro canyon; A. Reuter, Inter-County Tunnel (Canary Cottage); B. V. Senter, Curran ranch, Wild Cat Creek; T. C. Kendall, Upper San Pablo lake; W. H. Jordan, Orinda Park district; Ira Ogden, San Pablo dam; H. H. Boyer, Lafayette, or John B. Dospital, Sequoyah Country Club.

WOMAN SMOKER DOZES; FIRE IN PIPE; SHE DIES

SAN FRANCISCO, May 28.—Mrs. Belle Grosscup, a widow and an inmate of the Relief Home, was the only female resident of the city's big establishment, with the habit of smoking a pipe. It proved her undoing and caused her death at an early hour today.

Mrs. Grosscup, who was 56 years old, was puffing at her pipe last night, while seated on a bench in Ward 6. Becoming sleepy she placed it in her pocket and dozed off.

There were some sparks in the bowl, her clothing became ignited and before she roused herself and attracted the attention of attendants she had been burned from head to foot. She died at 5 o'clock this morning.

Research Club Holds Semi-Annual Reunion

ALAMEDA, May 28.—The [illegible] members of the Research Club of this city was held today at the country home of Mrs. Frank Phillips in Fairfax, Marin county.

A luncheon was served under the trees of the Phillips home and during the afternoon a short program of music and entertainment was given under the auspices of the social committee.

TROUBLE CAUSES BOOKKEEPER TO END HIS LIFE

Despondent over family troubles, which had resulted in the separation from his wife and child, Albertson Gibson, a bookkeeper, committed suicide today by taking poison in his room at the Hotel Sutter.

Gibson was found by the hotel housekeeper, Miss Mabel Gallegly, who was attracted to his room by his screams. He died on the way to the Emergency hospital in the police ambulance.

Two sealed letters were found in Gibson's room, one addressed to his wife, Mrs. A. L. Gibson, 1901 Brookdale avenue, and the other to Mrs. W. E. Coffarey, 155 Stockton street, San Francisco. With them was the following note:

"As a last wish, please post these letters without opening, as they contain only strictly goodbye letters. Albertson."

Gibson came here from Australia two years ago, and since that time, until recently, had worked for a furniture store at 515 Fourteenth street. He had been living at the Hotel Sutter about three weeks.

SHRINERS' TRAIN GOES TOMORROW

Thirteen cars, drawn by two locomotives, and carrying 250 members of Aahmes Temple, and 75 women members of their families, will leave Oakland tomorrow evening for Washington, where this year's Imperial Council of the Mystic Shrine is to be held, June 5, 6 and 7.

The delegation will leave Sixteenth street at 9 p. m., and will return here Friday, June 15. The trip to Washington and return will be made in a special Shrine train.

On the train will be the Aahmes drum corps, the patrol, the band, the alchemists and the "dancing girls."

Those who will act as representatives of the local temple at the Imperial Council will be William J. McCracken, potentate of Aahmes; George S. Meredith, Superior Judge Lincoln S. Church and B. O. Johnson. Other officials of Aahmes Temple who will be members of the party are Frank R. Haley, chief rabban, and George H. Smith, recorder. H. W. Whitworth will be in charge of the party.

The Aahmes special train will travel east by way of Ogden, Chicago and Pittsburgh, reaching Washington Sunday morning, June 3. They will leave Washington early Friday morning, June 8, for New York, where they will stop over for a day and a half before returning home. Coming back, the route of the special will take in Niagara Falls, Detroit, Chicago, Kansas City and Salt Lake City.

Officers Installed At Alta Mira Club

SAN LEANDRO, May 28.—Members of the Alta Mira Women's Club held their annual luncheon at noon today. It was followed by the installation of officers, recently elected. Rev. Dr. J. B. Orr spoke upon the Yosemite National Park.

Grand Parlor Names Baby Barbara May

Deputy City Clerk Frank Merritt of Oakland, grand historiographer of the Native Sons of the Golden West, did not go to the recent grand parlor at Santa Barbara because he expected the arrival of a baby in his home; but the Grand Parlor, learning it was a girl, decided to aid in the christening.

Merritt yesterday received notice from the grand secretary that the Grand Parlor has officially decided upon the name of Barbara May. Barbara is for Santa Barbara, the convention city; May is for the birth month of the child. The Barbara May edict was officially written in the minutes of the Grand Parlor.

Merritt says he will obey the mandate of the Grand Parlor. The name of Barbara May Merritt will "stick" for life to the daughter of the deputy city clerk.

Churches Protest Autoist's Release

RICHMOND, May 28.—The Fellowship of Churches of this city filed formal protest at the action of the county authorities in ordering the release of Alfredo Poalini, driver of an auto which recently ran down and killed Mrs. Grace M. Williams, Richmond woman. A charge of manslaughter was placed against Poalini, but it was held that the evidence would not warrant a trial in the superior court and he was discharged. He lives in Berkeley.

Driver, Companions Intoxicated, Charge

RICHMOND, May 28.—Walter Strut, of Oakland, was lodged in jail and charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated. Charges of drunkenness were placed against Strut's companions, Tom Murray, Hazel Harris and Mabel Peel, all of Oakland.

WILLIAM KRAEMER BURIED.

PICHEL TO PLAY 'THE HENCHMAN'

BERKELEY, May 28.—It was announced today that Margaret Anglin has invited Irving Pichel of The Playhouse, Berkeley, to join the production of the Hippolytus, which is to be given in the Greek Theater next Saturday.

Pichel is to play "The Henchman," in which part Miss Anglin confessed she was planning to play herself. She intended to portray this role without having her name appear on the program, and to disguise her voice so that no one would suspect she was playing this part as well as that of Phaedra, the queen.

Having heard of Irving Pichel's work, Miss Anglin decided to have him take part of the production and so resigned her secret role in his favor.

Pichel returns to Berkeley for a few days prior to his departure for the summer session at the University of Wisconsin, and so was able to accept Miss Anglin's invitation to join her production.
